Mr. Landon is getting up steam early but he will find it tough to keep going all through dog days and then on to election day.

There is as much interest in the election of a queen for the centennial as in most primaries and as time slips along, this interest will grow.

The Republicans now propose a New Deal to get rid of the New Deal, but so far haven't given any very good reason why such an experiment should be tried.

If any business house in Decatur failed to get its share of trade Saturday afternoon and evening it was your fault for the crowd was here and in a buying mood. Try advertising in the Daily Democrat.

What can be done to take care of traffic and the cars that will be here Centennial week? Every effort is being made to accommodate the visitors and it will be done, but any suggestions will be appreciated.

The offer of something new politically by the Republicans may be on the level but we are inclined to think its a case of a lot of fellows who have been out for four years wanting up to the public trough again.

The traffic problem and the question of finding parking room continues one that is difficult to solve. Any one who doubts it can certainly discover what a job it is by looking around here on a Saturday evening.

Home economic and 4-H clubs will cooperate with the committees in making the Centennial here a real success from every standpoint. They will have a prominent and important part in the events of the week. Watch for the official program.

The Democrats refer to the Hoover speech in the recent convention as a "hymn of hate" while the Republicans say it was magnificent and non-partisan. Hard to say which is the farthest off but no one expects them to agree.

the country if they did?

Defiance, Ohio, had a million dollar fire Saturday when flames raced through the buildings of the Defiance Pressed Steel Company's plant. Frequently we think our buildings are safe from this damage but when a fire gets a good start in a big building, the loss is heavy and the results serious.

As the weather warms you will be planning your summer vacation and there are thousands of delightful places to go. To those who have not visited all the wonderful parks and lakes in Indiana, comes the news from the state conservation department that they can enjoy themselves to the limit and find just the kind of accommodations they may desire.

A large delegation from Adams county is attending the Democratic state convention in Indianapolis where a ticket is to be selected tomorrow. The district meetings will be held tonight and there will be a number of interesting angles.
Just who will form the big four-delegation at large to the national convention will be settled at the session. It is agreed that they will include Senators VanNuys and Minton and Governor McNutt.

President Roosevelt was a guest of Indiana yesterday and Mrs.
Roosevelt who accompanied him is staying over for a few days with the Hoosiers. The President assisted in the celebration at Vincennes yesterday, speaking to a great throng. Mrs. Roosevelt will be in Indianapolis today and tomorrow and will speak at Purdue Wednesday morning. Of course this state extends to their distinguished visitors the hand of sincerest welcome. We are all proud to have them here, hope they like us and will return often.

The Transcontinental Airline highway, extending from New York City through Pittsburgh, Mansfield, Delphos and Van Wert to this city and then on to Huntington to connect with road 24 is now reported, adding to this city as a center of main highways. In the years to come these important roads will mean as much to the city as the railroads have in the past and we can afford to feel jubilant over the efforts now being made by President Glendinning and others of the Chamber of Commerce along that line. Good luck and more of it as you strive for a better community and a more important one each year.

STAR SIGNALS —BY— OCTAVINE

For persons who believe that human destiny is guided by the planet, the daily horoscope is outlined by a noted astrologer. In addition to information of general interest, it outlines information of special interest to persons born on the designated dates.

Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is a person considered nonchalant who fingers the things on the table, during a meal, his glass knife, fork, etc.?

A. No; the only things this indicates are nervousness and selfcon-sciousness. It is also very annoying to other guests. A person who is poised and perfectly at ease will not do so.

Q. How can a house guest be of assistance to a hostess who does her own work?

A. She can be of much assistance, and show the proper consideration, if she will keep her room clean and orderly.

Q. Should a woman remove her hat and wraps when making a formal call?

A. No.

Oak Stain

A good oak stain can be made by mixing one quart of boiled linseed oil, three gills of turpentine six tablespoons of raw umber, and six tablespoons of whiting.

Peeling Tomatoes

Prick holes in the bottom of a tomato with a large fork and hold it over a flame. This will cause the skin to crack and it can be peeled readily, without waiting for water to boil.

Grit In the Eye

A piece of grit in the eye can often be removed by applying a drop of pure castor oil.

Alberta Texas Bibles

Galgary, Alta. (UP) — Bibles cost 2 per cent more in Alberta today than they did a month ago. It is announced that Bibles and books of a religious nature, if purchased for individual use, are subject to Alberta's new 2 per cent sales tax.

State Architect

LEIGHTON BOWERS

State Inspecting Architect

Construction of public buildings in Indiana is no longer a matter of after-thought and haphazard development, for the general assembly of 1933 combined the duties of a number of offices in the position of state inspecting architect.
Leighton Bowers, of Fort Wayne, has held this position from the beginning, at the same time serving as secretary of the state board of registration for architects and as secretary of the advisory committee of the state administrative building council.

The state administrative building council serves in an inspecting, advising and consulting capacity for the state division of public health, fire marshal, state board of accounts, and as a coordinating agency for other state departments and institutions on building matters. It also inspects plans for all public buildings and schools that are to be erected in Indiana, giving particular attention to requirements of state health laws, fire and building safety regulations.
By its procedure, the state building council is able to "lock the barn before the horse is stolen." so to speak, in that plans for public buildings are corrected and passed upon before it becomes necessary for fire, industrial, health and safety inspection departments of the state to come along later with condemnation proceedings in the public interest. In many small communities the state council, through its inspecting architect, is able to save taxpayers money on the planning and cost of buildings.

Since th 1935 legislature, the administrative department of the state has had consolidated control over funds appropriated for buildings in state institutions. By calling upon the administrative building council and wisely planning ahead, the administrative department can save many thousands of dollars of taxpayers money going for state institutional buildings.
The arrangement is at once an example of economy practiced by the administration of Governor Paul V. McNutt and the use of good business sense and foresight in consolidating the work of departments and bureaus and of planning head for the future. How it has worked is shown in state budget department figures which show that at the present time the state is getting $2,397,000 of much needed new institutional structures for a tax money outlay of only $1,165, 000.

Mr. Bowers began his training in architecture 28 years ago and with the exception of little more than a year given to the service of his country in the world war practiced his profession in Wayne.

Death Ends Pact of Six Follies Beauties

Martha Mansfield

Lilyan Tashman

Olive Thomas

Katherine Lambert

Fulfilling a pact made 20 years ago by six Follies girls, Katherine Lambert, only surviving member of the group, is pictured as she dines alone in a New York cafe. When the six beauties started out on the road to stage fame, they agreed to meet in 20 years to discuss their adventures and success.
Of the five others, Olive Thomas ended her life by taking poison in Paris; Lilyan Tashman, who achieved screen success, died; Martha Mansfield, also a film star, was burned to death; Fifi Alson died destitute although she had once married a millionaire, and Bessie Poole died following a disturbance in a night club. Thus fate ended their 20-year pact.
