Prisoners Sit in Corner

Santa Cruz, Cal.—(U.P.)—Unruly guests at the police station, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, refuse to "go sit in the corner" when told to do so, will receive special accommodations. A "pew" has been built with an iron railing to which they can be handcuffed until their turn comes.

Thief Repents, Returns Loot

Pasadena, Cal.—(U.P.)—Converted to Christianity, a man confessed to police that during the past year he had returned to the owners more than a truckload of merchandise which he had stolen. The last theft which he asked the police to help him restore was a revolver which he said he had stolen in Glendale five years previously.
