

J. B. Snider and mascot

One of the features of the inaugural parade at Washington when President Roosevelt takes the oath of office for his second term will be a new official party mascot. Featured in Mississippi Democratic activities for the past several years, the mascot will be delivered to James A. Farley in Washington in accordance with an election bet which J. B. Snider, lieutenant governor of Mississippi, lost to Lieut. Gov. J. E. Harley of South Carolina.

ner could move a log. While cutting wood, one of the men observed deer approaching. He threw a hand spike at the herd, "knocking out" one of the animals. In this condition it was easily dispatched.

Mr. Beery had four children, three of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Lola Booker of Fort Wayne; Frank of Texas and Charles at home. There are four grandchildren and one great grandchild. Among the many grandchildren of his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Miller Beery are: Dan Beery, Fort Wayne; Mrs. Noah Mangold, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Grant and Bill Weltz.

Mr. Crum came to Kirkland township about 70 years ago. His father was dead. The four boys in the family cleared the 80 acre farm on which they now live with the exception of 15 or 20 acres, already cleared at the time of the purchase. Mr. Crum lives on the same farm today.

Triplets Honored Guests at Birthday Party!

When good fellows get together!

"Some fun, eh, kids!" That might have been the comment of these frisky bright-eyed triplets had they been able to discuss the situation. But it is quite obvious that the Caire brothers—Ronald, Raymond and Richard, five-month-old triplets born to a 17-year-old mother—were having the time of their young lives when they attended a birthday party given by Maryanne Gaudet of Somerville, Mass., right, when she celebrated her first natal anniversary.

Rebels Sweep Into Madrid After Air Raids

Modern section of capital

Sweeping all resistance before them in an avalanche of steel, insurgent forces drove into the Spanish capital after a series of air raids which killed scores and took a terrific toll of damage in the modern business and residential section of Madrid, shown above.

London Welcomes Von Ribbentrop Appointment

Joachim von Ribbentrop

Prospects of a new era of friendly feeling between Germany and England are seen in the appointment of Joachim von Ribbentrop as ambassador to the Court of St. James. One of the most astute and capable diplomats in Europe, this former champagne salesman has established himself in British favor and should do much toward improving relations of the two nations. Von Ribbentrop served in the German army throughout the war, returned to private life as a champagne salesman after the armistice, and became associated with Hitler in 1928. He has accomplished several important missions for the Nazi regime and is looked on as the reichsfuehrer's most trusted emissary.

Something to Come Home to!

Nettie Faye Cooper

Students at Louisiana Tech at Ruston, La., apparently believe in giving the alumni some reason for returning as they chose stunning blonde Nettie Faye Cooper to reign as queen of their annual homecoming staged each football season.

Seek to Trace Dog That Played Role of Stork

Mrs. Crawford and foundling

Crawford home at Pearl River

While authorities continued their efforts to unravel the mystery, "Little Moses", waif of the woodlands, who was brought to the door of an isolated cabin near Pearl River, La., by a huge dog, was the center of attraction for visitors from miles around. The baby, wrapped in a piece of blanket, was left on the doorstep of Mrs. Louis Crawford by a large brindling dog which then disappeared. Nicknamed "Little Moses" because of his miraculous delivery, the baby was described as "perfectly normal".
