Auction School Notes

Today is the opening of the second week of the three-weeks term of the Reppert school of auctioneering.

Two more students J. F. Cullen, McCannellsburg, Pa., and Mr. De-Troy of Defiance, O., enrolled as students the last of the week. A successful sale was conducted by the students Saturday afternoon and evening.

Several prizes were awarded to those attending the sales Saturday. We are holding auction sales every evening this week.

There will be blankets, rugs, pencil sets, brooms, etc. sold by the students during the sale term and the buyers are assured they will get plenty of bargains.
We want to thank the people of

Elephant Enjoys Party
Sydney — (UP)— Jessie, one of the oldest elephants in captivity, was the recent guest of honor at a birthday party at Taronga Park zoo here. Children were invited and Jessie was decorated with ribbons and a paper cap. She ate 12 bunches of carrots, 100 pounds of hay, 20 pounds of acorns and one bucket of rice and treacle.

NEVER FOR MONEY by JAMES ASWELL

SYNOPSIS

Belinda Terrell loved Johnny Parkes dearly, but he was wealthy and she no longer was rich so she felt that if he married her now it would be for his money. She returned Johnny's ring but he told her it didn't make a bit of difference what her decision was. She was his from the beginning and he was annoyed by her even raising a question about their marriage. "I'll show him," says Belinda. "And when you've shown him what? You'll marry him? Foggy, her companion and former governor, tells her. Belinda stuns Foggy by saying that she has a job as a dinner companion with the J. G. Fuhrman Service. "Why shouldn't I cash in on the only thing I know?"

CHAPTER II

She promised Foggy she wouldn't, finally.
