JOINT MEETING OF SOCIETIES
The Junior and Senior Walthers Leagues met at the Zion Lutheran school in a joint meeting Wednesday evening. The meeting opened with an educational program led by Robert Stapleton, Junior chairman of Christian Knowledge.
The groups are studying the Chateaufort Review by the discussion method. After the discussion the two groups convened to make further plans for the Inter-River zone rally to be held in Decatur Sunday, October 17.
Leagues from 14 societies in Indiana and Ohio are expected to attend. The committees report that a very inspirational and interesting program is being arranged.
The Senior league held its regular business meeting at which plans were complete for a social meeting to be held the latter part of the month. The method of handling the Wheat Ridge Christmas seals was discussed. The Seniors also decided to produce their annual play about the first of February.

Lindbergh Through as Aviator?

Col. Lindbergh
Dr. Alexis Carrel

Possibility that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, intrepid globe-girdling aviator, will retire from the skies and devote all his attention to medical research is seen in the rumor that he will soon take up residence near the laboratory of his scientific colleague, Dr. Alexis Carrel, on a Breton island. Famed for his air exploits, Lindbergh has attracted attention of the medical fraternity for the mechanical heart which he and Dr. Carrel perfected. A self-imposed exile from the United States, Lindbergh may soon live on a small island off the coast of France.

RULES PRISON LAW INVALID

Wardens Ordered To Disregard Law To Adjust Sentences

Indianapolis, Oct. 7 — (UP) — State penal institution officials today received orders from Gov. M. Clifford Townsend to disregard a 1937 state law empowering wardens to adjust faulty sentences being served by prisoners.
The governor's action followed receipt of an opinion from the attorney-general's office, setting out that the 1937 law which authorized wardens of state penal institutions to correct any errors made in penalties by trial judges, is unconstitutional.
"The legislature had no authority to delegate judicial powers to a warden," Townsend was advised in the opinion.
The order will affect approximately 300 prisoners in the state prison at Michigan City and the state reformatory at Pendleton.
Approximately 65 adjustments have been made, Townsend said. In some cases sentences were reduced, while in others they were lengthened.
"I have instructed the wardens of the state prison and reformatory not to act on any more petitions seeking to adjust sentences which seem to be in conflict with the law," the governor said.
"I have been advised that the law giving wardens power to adjust sentences is unconstitutional because the legislature had no authority to delegate judicial powers to a warden."
"However, this is a question which the courts ultimately will have to decide."
The mixup in the sentencing of determinate and indeterminate occurred through misinterpretation sentences by trial judges. In many cases where determinate sentences should have been given, the judges have given indeterminate sentences and vice versa.

Did this ever happen to you?

You might be standing right next to the most attractive person you ever met, but you don't know it until you are introduced... until you get acquainted.

And you don't know how much pleasure a cigarette can give until somebody offers you a Chesterfield.

Certainly this is true: Chesterfields are refreshingly milder... they've got a taste that smokers like.
