Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD—In addition to other claims to fame, Shirley Temple is close to being No. 1 song plugger on the screen. When she sings a number in a picture, it nearly always pops into the hit class. Twentieth Century-Fox has been deluged with requests for the starlet to repeat some of her successes like "The Good Ship Lollipop", "Goodnight, My Love", etc. They've figured the way at last. Shirley will do a medley of all her hits in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm".

Besides this she'll sing two new Gordon and Revell numbers, "Dreamland Choo-Choo" and "Old Straw Hat" and a couple of others, "Crackly Korn Flakes" and "Toy Trumpet".

They call Hollywood a wild town, yet M. G. M. compels all girls working nights in "Rosalia" to go home in studio-owned cars. Some of the chorines objected that their boy friends would call for them, but were told it wouldn't be permitted. The company supplies a fleet of 25 busses to take the girls to the center of Hollywood. There, studio cars deliver them to their doors.

One can, of course, suspect a double purpose in the arrangement. The girls not only are protected, but the studio is assured they go right to bed and get enough rest to be fresh for the next night's work.

Looks as if Dorothy Lamour is keeping a level head despite her rapid progress in the films. The Paramount star has just signed a five-year lease on the modest two-room apartment where she has lived ever since coming to Hollywood.

Interesting story about the Wonder family, if it really happened as told to us. (We are assured it did). The young dancers, Tommy and Betty Wonder, have been living in Hollywood with their 62-year-old mother. Tommy is working at Paramount and Betty has a job in "The Drunkard". As a result, the old lady has spent many a lonely evening.

So the other day, she went to the studio and stood in line at the

Hollywood's Coming Pictures Outstanding, Says Will Hays

WILL H. HAYS

NEW YORK—Apparently Main Street and Park Avenue are sisters under the skin insofar as appreciation of truly great pictures is concerned. Distinguished films of a character heretofore considered "class" entertainment are helping to raise the standard of so-called "mass" entertainment.

This, according to Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, will be evident during the 1937-38 movie season, just starting, which, he predicts, "will be featured by an unprecedented number of really fine films."

"The impressive popular audiences which already have greeted some of the new pictures of the season," he said, "further establish the fact that artistic and social significance can go hand in hand with box-office success. The province of the entertainment screen is to entertain. But what entertains may also inform and instruct, move and uplift."

Artistic maturity, as well as universal entertainment appeal, are demonstrated, Mr. Hays said, in three months of 1937. Of this sum, $868,203.57 will be the federal government's share to approximately 40,500 old age recipients of aid; $349,708.94 will be the federal share to approximately 22,500 dependent children; and $78,141.27 will be the federal share to blind persons in need.
