

Test Your Knowledge

Can you answer seven of these ten questions? Turn to page Four for the answers.

1. In geometry, what is a parabola?
2. In which state was the President of the Confederate States of America, Jefferson Davis, born?
3. Where is Fort Niagara?
4. What does the Italian word "Fra" mean?
5. What is a fumarole?
6. Who was called the "Iron Chancellor"?
7. What is a pedometer?
8. From whom did James J. Braddock win the world's heavyweight boxing championship?
9. When is dawn?
10. Is "Treasure Island," by Robert Louis Stevenson, fiction?

1. What is isinglass?
2. Of what nationality and religion was Louis Pasteur?
3. In which state was the Battle of Eutaw Springs in the American Revolution?
4. Where are the Farallones Islands?
5. Who was David Roberts?
6. Are bats classed as birds?
7. Which state is called the Mother of Presidents?
8. For what do the initials B. P.

N. A. BIXLER

OPTOMETRIST

Eyes Examined - Glasses Fitted

Saturdays, 8:00 p. m.

Telephone 135.

HOURS

8:30 to 11:30 12:30 to 5:00

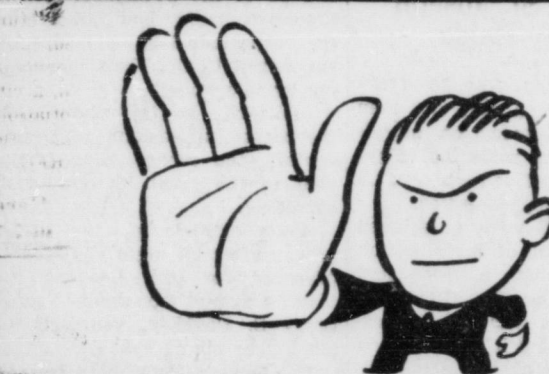

Get a FAIR Return!

Why not have your surplus funds bring you a fair return without taking undue risks?

For your convenience we place our financial library at your disposal. Use it either directly or through our representative who, without obligation, will gladly serve you upon request.

CENTRAL SECURITIES CORPORATION

13th Floor Lincoln Bank Tower
Fort Wayne, Indiana

Stop us if this isn't LOGICAL

Automobile lubrication can be good, better or best. So we set out to make OUR lubrication service the BEST . . . nothing less.

We installed $1000 worth of genuine Alemite equipment . . . made our shop one of the best-equipped in the United States. We manned it with lubrication experts—not plain grease-monkeys. Drive in some night . . . we'll deliver your car perfectly lubricated in the morning.

ALD SCHMITT
203 S. FIRST MOTOR SALES PHONE 144
SERVICE Open All Night

O. E. stand?
9. Name the capital of Tahiti.
10. By what sobriquet was Edmond Charles Genet known?

COURT HOUSE

Demurrer Overruled
A demurrer to the third paragraph of the answer was overruled and exceptions granted to the plaintiff, in the suit to collect an account and for penalties, brought by the state of Indiana against the Crescent Creamery, Inc., and venue here from Allen county.

Estate Case
An application for letters testamentary was filed in the estate of Katharine D. Flickinger by Kitty M. Fought. Bond in the sum of $100 was approved. Letters were ordered, reported and confirmed.

Demurrer Overruled
A demurrer to the second paragraph of the answer was overruled and exceptions granted to the plaintiff, in the suit to collect an account and for penalties brought by the state of Indiana against Robert King and others, in a case venued here from Allen county.

Divorce Asked
Asuit for divorce has been filed by Kenneth McKissick against Clara McKissick. Summons were ordered to the sheriff of Adams county, returnable, December 3. Cruel and inhuman treatment is charged by the plaintiff, who charges his wife has "repeatedly cursed, quarreled and demanded that the plaintiff get a divorce, failed to take care of her home and goes away and stayed away from her home for several days". The plaintiff also charges she has been guilty of associating with other men, Nathan C. Nelson appeared as attorney for the plaintiff.

Real Estate Transfers
Ed Brock et ux to Clement F. Green, part of lot 119 in Geneva for $1500.

Clement Gottschalk et ux to Victor H. Elcher, lots 725 to 729 in Berne for $1.

Marriage Licenses
Raymond Bollenbacher, 12, Dayton, Ohio factory employee to Alma Lake, 20, Decatur factory employee.
Clemens E. Wullman, 25, Berne farmer to Selma Barry, 22, Berne stenographer.
Ralph McAlhany, 22, Decatur factory employee to Wava Holloway, 22, Novelty employee.

4-H Club Achievement Program Wednesday

The public is invited to attend the 4-H club achievement program which will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30, at the Decatur high school auditorium. Special music will be furnished by the Union township Boy's chorus and by the Misses Margaret Allsaw and Carolyn, 4-H club members of Berne.

The 4-H leaders will be presented with special leadership pins and all 4-H club members who finished their projects will be awarded with 4-H club pins. Leo Niesbaum, 1937 president of the Teens and Twenties club, will give a brief account of the activities of this organization for the past year.

Truck, Auto Collide At Street Crossing

A car driven by F. D. Fosdick, of Oak Park, Illinois and a truck driven by Merle Burkhead of this city collided this morning about 9 o'clock at the intersection of Fifth and Monroe streets.

The car was badly damaged, but neither driver was hurt. Officer Ed Miller investigated.

District Republican Rally This Evening

Republicans of eight counties, including Adams, will meet tonight in Fort Wayne in a district rally at the Valencia Gardens. Ralph Gates, district chairman, will be in charge of the session.

Appointment of Administrator With Will Annexed

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Caroline Drake late of Adams County, deceased. The estate is probably solvent.

Louie Drake, Administrator
Nov. 6, 1937 Nov. 8-15-22
Fruchte and Litterer, Attys.

"Beauty's A Charm" by HARRIET HINSDALE

CHAPTER XXVIII
Cleansing their way through the good-natured crowd in wedge formation, came a number of newspapermen who had been washed from their positions by the uncontrolled sea of humanity sweeping past guard lines onto the landing field. They clambered over and into the automobiles which by now were making slow and cautious progress through the cheering crowd toward the nearest highway. Questions were hurled at the returned heroes like bombs. Out of their fragmentary replies was woven the story of their remarkable adventure.

Lucy Lee heard it first as did countless other listeners in, almost as soon as it fell from the lips of the adventurers themselves. "Ladies and gentlemen, we are delighted to bring to you first authentic radio news of the astounding return to life and civilization of Bruce Loring, noted motion-picture star, and his companion Clyde Dixon."

"These two intrepid travelers of the air, as you know, took off from a Los Angeles airport some weeks ago in Mr. Loring's specially designed amphibian plane on its maiden voyage of any length. Their destination was the Mexican state of Durango, a hunter's paradise where big game of various species abounds, from grizzly bear to mountain sheep."

"But off the coast of Lower California Loring's plane ran into an unexpected storm which blew them far off their route and subjected the ship to a terrific atmospheric battering. Engine trouble developed and a forced landing was necessary. "Darkness obscured their view of the terrain below. Suddenly the ship burst into flames, no doubt from a leaky gasoline line. There was no escape from a fearful death by fire but to abandon the plane and trust their lives to parachutes. Bruce Loring and Clyde Dixon took the perilous leap into the unknown—and after drifting for a considerable time, they landed safely but at widely separated points."

"Loring found himself floating in the Pacific not far from a small island off the shores of Mexico. While Dixon, carried farther along, came down on the far side of the island."

"Loring, being a powerful swimmer, managed to reach the shore, although almost exhausted. It was not until several days later that the two men, each believing himself to be the sole survivor, found one another again—the only human beings upon that rocky and rarely visited island!"

"The story of their weeks of isolation and eventual rescue by Mexican fishermen, is a truly startling one. This station has already contracted for the appearance on its program of Clyde Dixon who, beginning tomorrow evening at eight o'clock, will tell the story of his adventures. Continuing each night at the same hour for two weeks, in a fifteen-minute talk giving all details of his life and that of Bruce Loring while marooned on the island and given up for dead by the world. Be sure to tune in on what will be the most startling true-to-life adventure story in the air, and on land and sea, ever released."

"This is Station KJH and your announcer is William Delaney."

As the cars bearing the returned adventurers proceeded from the landing field toward the Beverly Hills home of Bruce Loring, they were followed by hundreds of other automobiles in a parade blocks long and constantly growing longer.

Horns tooted deafeningly, passers-by cheered, more machines joined the procession and added the tooting of their horns to the din.

"What in the name of reducing diets did you two eat on that island of yours?" Ames asked. "You both look kinda thin."

"Clams and fish, mostly. Abalone stuff like that."

"Raw?"

"No, we cooked 'em. I had a watertight case of matches in my pocket and we kept a fire burning night and day. To cook on—hot stones, you know—and for a signal. That's what finally brought the Mexican fishermen who took us off. They hardly ever land on that island. But they saw the smoke."

Thus in broken snatches, Ames got his first account of the amazing story for which the world waited with breathless interest. A tale which he was destined to present in many forms—over the radio, in magazine articles and through newspaper syndicates. All of course signed and supposedly written by Clyde Dixon.

At last it was over. The escorting machines dropped away until there were comparatively few left to bring the parade to its close at the Loring home, a dignified Monterey-type house on one of the palm-lined avenues of Beverly Hills. Loring shook hands solemnly with his companion in adventure, winking playfully with his off eye. The one away from the grinding cameras of the newsreel photographers.

"See you tonight, Old Timer," he said.

They were to meet again that night at the huge official banquet of welcome at the Ambassador, being arranged by the studio executives in honor of their star's spectacular return.

"Where do we go from here?" Clyde asked as he and Don Ames got into their car again. "Look! There's still a bunch of machines following us."

"Let 'em follow, bless their little hearts. It's good for business. We're going to the hotel. Your headquarters."

"What d'you mean, my headquarters?"

"The place where you sign contracts," Ames grinned. "I've got your radio tie-up all arranged and some vaudeville people are waiting to offer you a thousand bucks a week for personal appearances and—"

"Thousand dollars a week!" exclaimed Clyde.

"Yeah, but we can boost it to fifteen hundred, easy. Then there are the syndicate articles—your endorsements of everything from clam juice to the kind of garters you like best. Oh, we oughta be able to promote from three to four grand a week out of it without much trouble."

"Say, are you crazy, or am I? Three or four thousand—my eye!"

"You've gotta learn to think in big figures, boy. This is only a starter. We'll probably get fifty to seventy-five grand out of the picture."

"What picture?"

"The one you and Bruce Loring are gonna make, of course. You don't suppose those Great Minds in the N. P. N. outfit would miss a chance to cash in on a break like this, do you? They've got about twenty of their crack scenario hounds at work on a story already."

(To be continued)

he asked for was a barber and about a thousand dollars worth of ham and eggs."

"What in the name of reducing diets did you two eat on that island of yours?" Ames asked. "You both look kinda thin."

"Clams and fish, mostly. Abalone stuff like that."

"Raw?"

"No, we cooked 'em. I had a watertight case of matches in my pocket and we kept a fire burning night and day. To cook on—hot stones, you know—and for a signal. That's what finally brought the Mexican fishermen who took us off. They hardly ever land on that island. But they saw the smoke."

Thus in broken snatches, Ames got his first account of the amazing story for which the world waited with breathless interest. A tale which he was destined to present in many forms—over the radio, in magazine articles and through newspaper syndicates. All of course signed and supposedly written by Clyde Dixon.

At last it was over. The escorting machines dropped away until there were comparatively few left to bring the parade to its close at the Loring home, a dignified Monterey-type house on one of the palm-lined avenues of Beverly Hills. Loring shook hands solemnly with his companion in adventure, winking playfully with his off eye. The one away from the grinding cameras of the newsreel photographers.

"See you tonight, Old Timer," he said.

They were to meet again that night at the huge official banquet of welcome at the Ambassador, being arranged by the studio executives in honor of their star's spectacular return.

"Where do we go from here?" Clyde asked as he and Don Ames got into their car again. "Look! There's still a bunch of machines following us."

"Let 'em follow, bless their little hearts. It's good for business. We're going to the hotel. Your headquarters."

"What d'you mean, my headquarters?"

"The place where you sign contracts," Ames grinned. "I've got your radio tie-up all arranged and some vaudeville people are waiting to offer you a thousand bucks a week for personal appearances and—"

"Thousand dollars a week!" exclaimed Clyde.

"Yeah, but we can boost it to fifteen hundred, easy. Then there are the syndicate articles—your endorsements of everything from clam juice to the kind of garters you like best. Oh, we oughta be able to promote from three to four grand a week out of it without much trouble."

"Say, are you crazy, or am I? Three or four thousand—my eye!"

"You've gotta learn to think in big figures, boy. This is only a starter. We'll probably get fifty to seventy-five grand out of the picture."

"What picture?"

"The one you and Bruce Loring are gonna make, of course. You don't suppose those Great Minds in the N. P. N. outfit would miss a chance to cash in on a break like this, do you? They've got about twenty of their crack scenario hounds at work on a story already."

(To be continued)

Copyright by Harriet Hinsdale.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Classified, Business Cards, Notices

RATES
One Time—Minimum charge of 25c for 20 words or less. Over 20 words, 1/4c per word.
Two Times—Minimum charge of 40c for 20 words or less. Over 20 words 2c per word for the two times.
Three Times—Minimum charge of 50c for 20 words or less. Over 20 words 2 1/2c per word for the three times.
Cards of Thanks . . . 35c
Obituaries and verses . . . $1.00
Open rate—display advertising 35c per column inch.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—3 day old Holstein heifer calf, Lawrence Heckman, Decatur R. 1, 6 miles north on 27. 275-31x

FOR SALE—60 Rugs: All sizes and all kinds, selling way below regular price. Liberal trade-in allowance for your old rug. See these rugs before you buy. Sprague Furniture Co., 152 S. 2nd St. phone 199. 274-3t

FOR SALE—Heifer, fresh, tuberculin and blood tested. C. J. Korte route 2, Decatur or Preble phone. 275-31x

FOR SALE—Mattresses and Springs—Mattresses of all kinds, inner-spring, felt, plater and cotton. Selling from $5.95 up. Double deck and single deck springs selling from $6.50 up. Liberal trade-in allowance for your old spring or mattress. Sprague Furniture Company, 152 S. 2nd St. Phone 199. 274-3t

SMALL BABY GRAND PIANO BARGAIN!

Customer could not complete payments on this beautiful Grand Piano and we are forced to transfer this account to some responsible party for $147.20 balance due! You can own this lovely instrument by taking over this Baby Grand and completing payments of only $7.50 per month. Use very little. New guarantee goes with this piano. Write quickly, Credit Dept., care this paper. Will notify where to see piano. 274-3t

FOR SALE—Coming 5-year-old sorrel Belgian mare, heavy with colt, good worker, sound, white tail and mane. Weight 1,650. Frank Smith, 605 South Thirteenth St. 276-3tx

FOR SALE—At bargain: Clark Jewel gas range, with Lorain oven and heat regulator. Phone Mrs. W. A. Lower at 378 or 221. 276-2t

FOR SALE—Fresh and cured meats; country sausage, 25c lb.; ham, 25c lb.; good hard, 15c lb.; Jonathan apples, 30c bu.; potatoes, U. S. No. 1, $1.50. We buy tame rabbits and do custom butchering. We deliver. Ralph Shively, 118 S. 11th St. Phone 1114. 275-3tx

FOR SALE—Used living room suites: We have three used living room suites, two of them like new. Will sell very cheap for cash. One 3-piece suite, $25. Sprague Furniture Co., 152 S. 2nd St. Phone 199. 276-3t

FOR SALE—About 10,000 Anderson hard brick (used). A bargain. I. A. Kalver. 276-3t

To Ward off Colds

Take one of ALF'S COMPOUND WINTERGREEN TABLETS at bed hour, followed with a large glass of water.
At all Drug Stores, or send $1.00 to Union Pharmaceutical Co., Bluffton, Indiana

Notice to Patrons

I will be out of my office from November 8th to November 26th, inclusive.

DR. EUGENE FIELDS

Fellows!

Here's the Ideal Christmas Gift!

Caswell-Runyan Cedar Chests

New in construction and so designed so as to give plenty of storage.

Several styles. Popular prices.

See our Window for Chests and other Gift Items.

ZWICK'S

Phone 61

MARKET REPORT

DAILY REPORT OF LOCAL AND FOREIGN MARKETS

Corrected November 21

No commission and no return. Veals received every day.

100 to 120 lbs. 120 to 140 lbs. 140 to 160 lbs. 160 to 200 lbs. 200 to 225 lbs. 225 to 250 lbs. 250 to 275 lbs. 275 to 300 lbs. 300 to 350 lbs. 350 lbs. and up

FOR SALE—Male white hog, 1 yr. old, Leo Engle, 2 1/2 miles west Monroe. 276-3tx

FOR SALE—Mobligas and oils. Groceries. West End Service Station. Cor. 13th & Adams. Johnny Scheimann, proprietor. 276-6tx

FOR SALE—Farm lease blanks, three for 5c. Decatur Daily Democrat, 106 No. Second St. 276-4t

MISCELLANEOUS

NOTICE—Parlor Suite recovered. We recover and repair anything We buy and sell furniture. Decatur Upholsters, Phone 420. 145 S. Second St. 265-30t

WANTED

Wanted:—Nice clean rags suitable for cleaning machinery. Underwear, curtains, silks Will pay 4c per lb. Daily Democrat Co.

WANTED

Young man, local resident, with High School education to do time keeping and pay roll work. Apply by letter in own handwriting. State fully qualifications and experience in operating comptometer and typewriter. Give full employment record, address and phone number before Monday, Nov. 29. Address Box 500, Daily Democrat.

WANTED—Loans on farms. Eastern terms. See me for abstracts of title. French Quinn. 152-m-wt

WANTED—Girl to wait tables Saturday and Sunday nights. State Gardens, Middlebury. 1tx

Highest Cash Price Paid for:

All kinds of Scrap Iron, Copper, Brass, Aluminum, Rags, Newspapers, Magazines and Hides, Wool and Pelts.

Decatur Iron & Metal Co.

South Third St. at Haug Coal Yard and Decatur Produce Co. Phone 247

NOTICE—Rawleigh's household products for sale by A. J. Zelt, 103 No. Eighth Street. Phone 274. 264-ktf

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Strictly modern house on North Second St. Phone 183. 27275-3t

NOTICE—Party, who took overcoat by mistake at Legion Home Armistice day, please return and get his coat. 275 k3t

NOTICE

My residence and office is now located at 430 North Fifth Street. Dr. C. V. Connell.

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner we desire to thank our many friends and relatives for their words of sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our father and brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vogelewe and Family, 1tx Miss Elizabeth Vogelewe.

TODAY'S COMMON ERROR

Never pronounce herculean—her-ku-le-an; say, her-ku-lean.

NOTICE FOR BOOKS, BLANKS AND STATIONERY

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of Adams County, Indiana, will receive sealed bids at the County Auditor's office in Decatur, Indiana, on Tuesday, December 7, 1937 at 10 o'clock A. M. for records, books, blanks and stationery for the year 1937 in accordance with specifications on file in the County Auditor's office. Each bidder will be required to file with his bid a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars as a guarantee of good faith and for liquidated damages payable to the Board of Commissioners of Adams County, Indiana, subject to the approval of the board, and the non-fulfillment of the contract. An act concerning county business, approved March 3, 1899.

All bids must be filed with County Auditor in his office and the envelope or wrapper thereof addressed to the Board of Commissioners of Adams County, Indiana, and have endorsed thereon "Proposal to Furnish Books, Blanks and Stationery for the Year 1937" with the number of the class or classes bid upon. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners, Decatur, Indiana, November 1st, 1937.

John W. Tyndall, Auditor Adams County, Indiana, Nov. 22-29

LOCAL GRAIN MARKET

Corrected November 21. Prices to be paid tomorrow.

No. 1 Wheat, 60 lbs. or better 1.10 No. 2 Wheat, etc. New Corn, 20% New No. 2 Oats New No. 2 Soy Beans Rye

CENTRAL SOYA CO.

New No. 2 Soy Beans

Stocks: rally mildly after pause to new lows. Bonds: lower. U. S. government issues irregular. Curb stocks: lower and dull. Chicago stocks: easier. Foreign exchange: steady. Cotton: quiet and steady. Grains: wheat off 54 to 1 1/2 cents. Corn off 14 to 24 cents. Chicago livestock: hog sheep weak, cattle irregular. Rubber: fairly steady.

THIMBLE THEATER

NOW SHOWING—"WHO WANTS TO KNOW?"

By SEGAR

For the THANKSGIVING DINNER
Fresh Dairy Products - - All Kinds of Cheese -Home-Maid Ice Cream and Plenty of PASTEURIZED Milk and Cream.

BLUE CREEK DAIRY

PHONE 467

Phone 467 for Extra Milk and Cream.
We guarantee delivery on Thanksgiving, all orders in by Wednesday noon.