DOCTOR FIGHTS LICENSE LOSS

Indianapolis Drugless Physician Battles State Revocation

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Testimony of two persons that the wooden box used by Heil Eugene Crum, Indianapolis drugless physician, would cure diseases, was on the record of Marion circuit court today as the hearing of Crum's appeal of the revocation of his license continued.

Crum testified in his own behalf yesterday, expressing his belief that his wooden box, which contains an electric light, holes covered with colored paper, and a container of chemicals, would eventually "become the accepted method of diagnosis and treatment of all disease."

He had advertised that his methods would cure virtually everything from baldness to cancer and tuberculosis. He said in court that his machine failed in only "6 of 7,000 cases." Regarding the statement of one woman, who charged that he failed to cure her of cancer, he said:

"I could have cured her if she had cooperated with my treatment."

Crum said also that he would bring into court a man whom his machine had cured of baldness.

Dr. Emma Martin of Otterbein, Ind., one of his students, testified that she had used the machine but that now she has "an easier and shorter method of treatment of disease." She said she had cured tuberculosis with the machine but that she didn't know much about the mechanics of the invention.

Dr. E. M. Perdue of Kansas City, Mo., testified that the "law of affinity" governed the machine. He said that a specimen of blood would send out vibrations which would register in the machine and tell the operator what the disease was. Adjustment of the machine, he said, would then heal the patient.

Crum's license was revoked by the state board of medical registration and examination. He appealed to Marion circuit court for a hearing.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL
 King Features Syndicate Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Seems hard to believe, but Sylvia Sidney says it has been three years since she made a picture in Hollywood. The star is back here to do "Carnival" for Warner.

Without a doubt she is the town's loudest booster for farm life. She and Luther Adler live on a 135-acre place in New Jersey. The property is near the old Lindbergh home. Incidentally, Sylvia says this has been turned into an orphan asylum.

First thing the star wanted to do was to visit the Pomona fair. She arranged for future purchase of nine blue cochin chicks, which, believe it or not, sell for $35 apiece, even when they are babies.

The Adlers have a practical farm, raising oats, alfalfa, soy beans and feed corn.

Sylvia's little boy is now 11 months old. She brought out stacks of pictures of him to show to Hollywood friends.

The change of schedule in Lucille Ball's personal appearance tour with "Dance, Girls, Dance," threw the Desi Arnaz courtship out of kilter. Five boxes of chocolate and 36 letters missed Lucille en route and had to be forwarded. She also paid $2.86 postage due.

Boris Morros, for whom Fred Astaire just worked in "Second Chorus," is keen to make another picture with Fred. His idea is to reunite the star and his sister, Adele, as a dancing team. If she would accept, Adele, now Lady Cavendish, could turn over a sizeable sum to the British war relief.

Problem of finding a screen dancing partner for Astaire has been a serious one. Under Morros' plan, the dancing would be left to the star and his sister, and a Hollywood leading woman would be signed to be Fred's romantic vis-a-vis.

Universal caught Esther Ralston at the airport and persuaded her to stay and do another picture role.

It never fails. A star says she is happy and doesn't care whether she works any more or not and, right away, the studios want to hire her.

A palmist told Cesar Romero he would have a serious illness in his middle thirties (he did, typhoid catur will be a guest of the Kunkel's tomorrow for the day.

Fined $50 And Costs For Drunken Driving

Antonis Vidales, 38, Mexican, is serving 60 days in the Adams county jail, "laying out" a fine amounting to that much. Vidales was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Forrest Elzey in city court when he entered a guilty plea to a charge of drunken driving.

The court pointed out that Vidales' punishment was unusually heavy because he admitted driving without an operator's license. He was arrested Saturday night by Sheriff Ed Miller on First street in this city.

Wabash School Girl Is Suicide Victim

Wabash, Ind., Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—When 17-year-old Janet Rudick, Wabash high school senior, felt the urge for brighter lights last night, she borrowed her father's automobile and drove off.

Alvah Rudick, her father, was rever), and that, soon afterwards, he would meet the real girl.

That's why Romero is giving a second look at every beauty he meets these days.

Death of Audrey Van Deusen, secretary to M-G-M Casting Director Fred Datig, will be mourned sincerely by dozens of stars. She had been in the office for 10 years and knew many of the biggest people on the lot when they were extras and bit players. She was unfailingly kind and considerate. Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Myrna Loy, Bob Taylor, etc., all loved her.

The end came swiftly. Audrey returned from Honolulu and the next day was rushed to the hospital for an operation. Doctors were unable to save her life.

The minute that "The Mark of Zorro" is okayed, Tyrone Power and Annabella leave for a vacation and they swear that not even their servants will know how to reach them.

Ty turned down personal appearance guarantees of $5,000 a week in order to have an uninterrupted holiday.

Don't know how it worked out but Rosalind Russell had a beautiful rib framed to pull over the week-end on Director Al Hall. Roz got three days off from "This Thing Called Love" but Hall warned her not to go far away. She arranged for the Columbia exchanges across the country to send Al a series of telegrams signed with her name. One from Salt Lake, another from Omaha and a third from Chicago. The last was to read, "Having wonderful time. Glad you are not here. Will be back in time to vote."

What's this about Artie Shaw buying a $1,100 diamond bracelet as an intended gift for Frances Neal? . . . Alice Faye's brother, Charles, has been so sick . . . an attack of rheumatism that has laid him up for six months. . . Hymie Fink, the news photog, could buy and sell a lot of the starlets he snaps pictures of. Fink inherited and still owns "The Star of Persia," one of the world's fine diamonds. It's worth $150,000. . . Ruth Terry and Cy Feuer were a new combination at Emerald Lodge. . . The Gary Coopers will hunt big game in the Snake river country. Mrs. C. has had little hunting experience but is an expert at skeet shooting. . . Scout from Del Monte says that Buzz Meredith was giving Olivia de Havilland a terrific rush up there. . . Fritz Lang reports overhearing it at a late spot. First stag: "Good dance music, isn't it?" Second stag: "Yeah, best I ever drank to."
