MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

If you want to buy feed on a scientific financial basis, you ought to get acquainted with "Belinda", the wonder cow. ("Belinda" is the pen name used by dairy experts at Michigan State College.)

In addition to being an accomplished letter-writer, "Belinda" now proves herself a mathematical whiz. She has developed a device that automatically tells the comparative price values of feeds for dairy cows when such feeds are used in a balanced ration. All you need is a ruler to tell whether the price of a feed is too high, "O.K.," or a bargain. To secure this device, write to Michigan State College, Dairy Extension, East Lansing, Michigan. Ask for the Dairy News Letter for October-November, 1943.

Nebraska estimates that cattle grubs are a $50,000,000 pest. If your cows are afflicted with them, you're paying part of this bill. This is a good time of the year to get rid of them and your Uncle Bob suggests that you write right away for Extension Circular 1527, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.

It would also be a good idea to write Mississippi State College, State College, Mississippi, for Circular 123 on this same subject. In this circular, Mississippi also points out that it is time to rid your cattle of internal parasites and gives suggestions for treatment.

I'm always a little amazed when I run into a dairy farmer who is trying to battle out his problems all by himself. So much wasted effort and money, too, could be saved, if he would write to our State College of Agriculture. Experiments have been conducted and literature is available on almost any subject you can think of. The combined talent and experience of many capable men is available for the asking, so why not ask?

If you haven't got storage space for all the silage you'd like to plan on having this summer, you'll be interested in a circular from the State College of Washington. This circular tells how you can expand your storage space with stack-trench silos. The circular has a set of diagrams and complete instructions for building stack-trench silos according to the amount of silage you will want to store. Ask for Extension Circular 58, State College of Washington, Pullman, Washington.

Texas also has a good bulletin on this subject. Write for Extension Bulletin B-84, Agriculture and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, Texas.

For fodder news, listen in. *NOTE: There is usually a 3c charge for pamphlets issued to non-residents of a state.
