Life means renewal. Nothing abides in any fixed form.

The energy of life is ever creating new forms. The thought of today is not yesterday's thought.

The love of today can not be yesterday's love. Today's must be new for today. If it is not, then thought, faith, and love are dying; and when these die, the best in man dies. Thought, faith, and love must be constantly energized, a process that calls for a place of God within.

Paints with Germs

Dr. Alexander Fleming, the famous scientist who discovered penicillin, has the unique hobby of painting with germs. He takes various organisms which, when they incubate, produce different colored colonies of bacteria. He brushes these organisms onto a culture medium, sets them aside to incubate, and lets the germs do the rest. When the colors are set, he has his germ painting. Some of the "pictures" he has produced in this manner are the British flag, a street scene and the fleur-de-lis.

Hard Sense

It was not the wine that made your head ache, but the sense that I put into it.—Samuel Johnson.
