

Notice

I have today assumed ownership and management of the

Bruce Grill

234 North Second St.

and will operate under the following hours:

Open 6 a. m.—Close 9 p. m.
Monday through Friday
Open 6 a. m.—Close 12 p. m.
Saturday

Chiesa, 75, died last week in the

I cordially invite everyone to visit me for fine foods and courteous service.

The Family Grill

Jeanette Plasterer

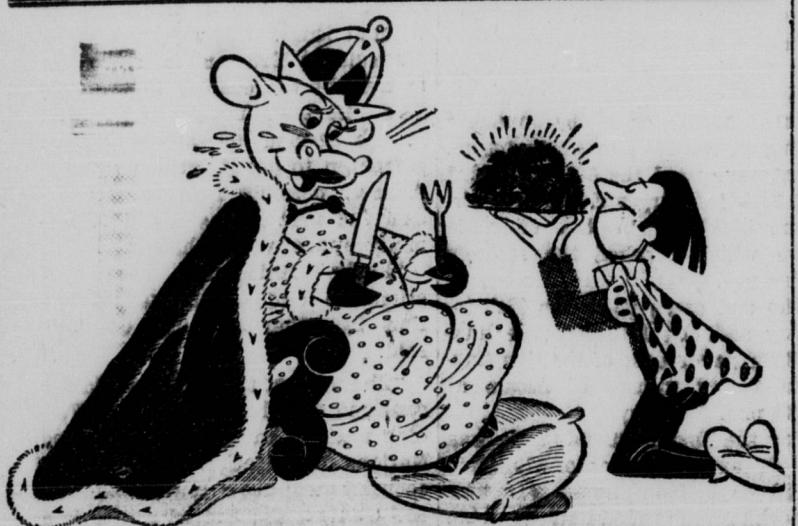

Don't Neglect Slipping FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you eat? Don't worry! Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such handicaps. FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly in place. Gives you firmer teeth of security and added comfort. No gummy, pasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

Sing a song of dairymen
With pastures full of rye.
Lots and lots of green feed Seeded in July.*

When the rye is pastured,
The milk begins—and how!
Now isn't that a paying fare
To set before a cow?

(*Poetic license. Seed it in August in most states—but August don't rhyme.)

An increasing number of dairy men each year include rye in their grazing program, for several very good reasons. Every spring, I get an urge to get out and get into the open. Cows get a hankering for green forage.

Rye is the answer, since it gives about the first possible good forage in early spring. Rye should be seeded in late summer, so I bring it up now to remind you to include rye as you make your late planting plans.

Rye works in perfectly in a rotation grazing program. It gives forage in the fall, when your native pasture rests. After the spring grazing, the plot can be seeded to Sudan grass, for mid-summer grazing. In Indiana, they figure this system is worth $100 per acre—which tempts me to add “and that ain’t hay.”

Check with your county agent on the best rye variety for your county. Balbo is the most popular kind in many sections, but some other may be preferred in your area. There are some fine new varieties available which are proving much better than the older strains.

The Mississippi Experiment Station has just reported on a test which showed conclusively that a pasture which is mowed will produce more food per acre than pastures in which weeds are permitted to grow without check. Weeds do their best to get the food out of the ground before grass can get it.

Mississippi mowed only part of a pasture and then checked the amount of forage grazed. The cattle took 80% of the forage from the mowed area, but only 50% from the unmowed part.

The test showed cows got 1,000 lbs. more forage per acre from the clipped area than from the unclipped. Naturally enough, the greater amount of food produced more milk.

The time to mow your pasture is about the same as the time to get a haircut—when it is needed. When weeds begin to get some height, and particularly before they start to go to seed, then is the time to get the mower into the pasture. You'll get dividends in more milk.

I've heard of a few farmers who have speeded up the number of pulsations of their milking machines, thinking they were supposed to do this, to get done

$250,000 Estate Left By RecluseFlophouse Habitue Is Revealed Rich

Chicago, June 28.—(UP)—Chester Chiesa, a 20 cent a night flophouse habitue, goes to his grave today—a neat blue serge replacing the tattered rags he wore until it was disclosed he had left a $250,000 estate.

Chiesa, 75, died last week in the Cook county hospital charity ward after a heart attack. It appeared the state old age pension division would have to pay his funeral expenses. But last night the fortune he had amassed was revealed.

Known to acquaintances as “Chester,” Chiesa lived on cheap food in a seven by four foot cubicle of a south State street flophouse. So penurious was he that he was known to walk miles to save carfare.

An undertaker who took charge of Chiesa's body found a key in the man's dirty torn trousers. Turned over to the state public administrator, the key was found to fit a Continental Illinois state bank

20 Persons Injured In Illinois TornadoRural Section Is Hard Hit By Storm

Princeton, Ill., June 28.—(UP)—Twenty persons, mostly farmers, were injured when a tornado cut through a rural section north of here shortly before midnight, the sheriff's office said today.

Deputy Sheriff Art Nelson said the damage was “terrible.”

“Almost everything in that section was wiped out and floods damaged what was left,” he said. Nelson said the stricken area extended from a point about five miles north of here to about nine miles north. The path cut by the tornado was not very wide, he said.

The damage was estimated “way up in the thousands,” the deputy said. Much livestock was killed and most of the remainder was so badly crippled that it will have to be shot.

Nelson said hardly any farm in the area escaped the fury of the winds.

First reports of the storm came from the Illinois highway patrol.

The patrol said several farm homes were levelled by the tornadic winds which swept northeast to strike Lamoille, Ill., disrupting communications and power lines, about 11 o'clock last night.

Accompanied by heavy rainfall, the tornado hurled moving cattle trucks from highways and scattered cattle over the adjacent fields, highway patrolmen said.

Paradoxically, the man who himself lived so poorly provided in his last testament that his secret wealth be used by the church to care for the poor.

The will directed, however, that if both these relatives were dead—and investigators said they were—the estate goes to the Catholic archbishop of Chicago.

Paradoxically, the man who himself lived so poorly provided in his last testament that his secret wealth be used by the church to care for the poor.

MAKES IMPASSIONED

(Continued From Page One)

gress in the event that peaceful measures fall.

Connally defended vigorously the “veto” provision and trusteeship arrangements over which United Nations delegates at San Francisco differed.

He said the voting arrangement within the council, by which any of the Big Five nations can veto council action, was more liberal than the provisions in the old League of Nations.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

After working in his office during the early forenoon today, Mr. Truman planned to visit the University of Kansas City where he studied law from 1923 to 1925 for the celebration of the law school's 50th anniversary. He announced the resignation of E. R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state in Independence yesterday, and also the appointment of Stettinius as the American representative to the United Nations organization when it is formed.

LIBERATION OF

(Continued From Page One)

and 19 days after American troops landed at Lingayen gulf on Jan. 9.

On the other active front in the southwest Pacific, on northwest Borneo, Australian troops continued to advance against very little opposition. Patrols fanning out from the captured oil center of Se-ria took Kuala Belait, a river port seven miles to the southwest.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its

residents.

Florida's private savings ac-

amount to more than four bil-

lions of dollars, or almost three times

the total 1942 income of its