Thirst-Quenching Beverages

For Summer Days
It's that time of year when lemonade tastes better than usual and iced tea or coffee finds its way to many a table every day. Yes, it's summertime! Whether it's a fruit beverage, a cola drink, or a nutritious milk shake they're all good on the prevalent warm days that come with "the good old summertime."

Here are a number of suggestions. Don't forget the old favorites like lemonade and iced tea, but do try some of these thirst-quenching beverages.
For that party or reception you're planning this summer:

Festive Punch
3 quarts unsweetened pineapple juice.
Juice of 8 lemons.
Juice of 8 oranges.
Juice of 3 limes.
2 cups sugar.
1 cup mint leaves.
4 quarts pale dry ginger ale.
2 quarts carbonated water.
Combine fruit juices, sugar, and mint leaves; mix thoroughly; chill. Just before serving, add ginger ale and carbonated water. Float thin lemon and lime slices that have been studded with a whole clove for a party touch. Recipe makes 35 servings.

For a different kind of iced tea, try it spiced:

Spiced Iced Tea
8 cups boiling water.
1 teaspoon whole cloves.
1 tablespoon broken cinnamon bark.
2 tablespoons black tea.
1/2 cup lemon juice.
3/4 cup orange juice.
Sugar to taste.
Pour water over spices and tea. Let steep for five minutes. Strain, cool, and chill. All remaining ingredients and serve in glasses filled with chopped ice. Garnish with mint leaves and a lemon slice.

Make your own ice cream sodas:
Chocolate Ice Cream Soda
3 tablespoons chocolate syrup.
Carbonated water.
Ice cream.
Add a little carbonated water to syrup and stir. Add as much ice cream as desired and fill glass with carbonated water. To give your soda that "soda fountain" look, garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with chipped chocolate or top with a cherry. Use large glasses for sodas.

Other refreshing beverages that can be made with ice cream are made by mixing:

1. Root beer with ice cream.
2. Cola drinks with ice cream.
3. Any flavored soda pop with ice cream.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming to Fort Wayne Again
R. K. Shallenberger

Well-known expert of Indianapolis, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at Indiana Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Saturday July 10th from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. Shallenberger says the Shallenberger method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured. The Shallenberger Rupture Shield has no leg straps, water-proof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction. Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited. Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address: 712 North Meridian, Indianapolis, Ind. (Advertisement).

solely vital utilities and industries.

4. Limit electricity for members of the occupation forces in Berlin—there are nearly 30,000 Americans, British and French in the city—to two periods a day, from 6 a.m. to 8:30 a.m., and from six p.m. to 11 p.m. An extra hour would be allowed on Saturday nights.

The measures will become effective at midnight tomorrow, Howley said.

An obvious result of the drastic power cuts was the prospect of greatly increased unemployment, which will make more difficult the task of the occupying powers.

The U. S. and British air forces were studying plans to fly in more coal—about 160 tons was brought here in sacks by plane yesterday—by modifying bombers to permit them to drop coal while in flight on designated fields in western areas of Berlin.

Howley assured the German population, that the present food ration can be maintained, and explained that the cuts in transport and power were necessary to devote maximum effort to bringing food by air.

ply. They voted to hold over his head a resolution commending the governors who reportedly fought the lobby-breaking proposal. Dewey's purported comments on the teachers' lobby were quoted recently by a Washington columnist.

Minnesota—Sen. Joseph H. Ball, R., Minn., announced he will seek renomination in the September primaries. He reiterated his opposition to the European recovery program and replied to charges against his voting record by the Minnesota federation of labor. There have been reports that Harold E. Stassen, who lost out in his bid for the party's presidential nomination, may oppose Ball for the senate seat.

Wallace—Henry A. Wallace, third party presidential candidate, resigned as a contributing editor of the magazine New Republic. He did so, he said, to leave the editors "completely free to support, without any embarrassment whatsoever, the candidate and party which most appeal to them."

WHY WILL MILLIONS OF WOMEN PASS 80 FOOD STORES TO SHOP AT A&P?

There is perhaps no food that American people are fussier about than coffee.

For every A&P store in the thirty-seven states (and the District of Columbia) in which A&P operates, there are about eighty other retailers who sell coffee of one kind or another. Yet more people drink A&P coffees than any other brand. About one cup in every seven used in American homes is Eight O'Clock, Red Circle or Bokar! It would be so easy to turn in at another store for just a "pound of coffee" but A&P coffees are sold only at A&P and millions of women who want the best, just won't have anything else. So they pass up 80 stores to buy their coffee at A&P.

A&P Coffees are typical examples of the lengths to which A&P goes to insure the quality of the foods it sells. They are typical of the efficiency of A&P's streamlined methods which make it possible to bring you high quality at low cost.

Here is just a brief sketch of why there is no finer coffee than A&P coffees and why you get a greater value when you buy Red Circle, Eight O'Clock or Bokar.

A&P has more than thirty buying offices in the great coffee-producing areas of Brazil and Colombia in South America. A&P coffee experts go direct to the plantations to select only that portion of the crop that will measure up to the high standards of quality that A&P has set for itself.

They supervise its shipment direct to A&P's modern coffee roasting plants, strategically located to provide direct shipment by the fastest routes to A&P stores.

No one but A&P handles A&P Coffees between the plantation and the store. Middlemen's costs and profits are eliminated. There is no waste motion—no unnecessary expense.

Because A&P coffee flavor is sealed in the whole bean, never ground in advance of sale, it can be sold in an inexpensive paper bag instead of a costly metal or glass container. It stays fresher and finer in the bean than if it were factory ground in advance but there's a big cost saving which we share with you—so you actually pay less for the best.

Millions of women have learned to expect consistently high value in everything they find in A&P supermarkets because they trust A&P to buy the best, guard its quality, and see that it's fresh when it's sold.
