The boys who sing in Father Flanagan's All-American Boys Town choir, which appears here on Wednesday, November 17, at the junior-senior high school auditorium under the auspices of Psi Iota Xi sorority, are typical American lads, with the same wholesome interests as young citizens in any American community.

Singing is only one of their accomplishments. Most of them have other extracurricular interests, and take part in the community life of Boys Town along with the other citizens. The same boys who are outstanding in the choir are also outstanding in the other activities of Boys Town, whether it be football, basketball, baseball, band, Scouting, or hobby and craft activities.

Like America, itself, Boys Town is a melting pot of races, colors and creeds. There are several Negro boys in the choir, several are of Spanish and Mexican extraction and one is Chinese. These boys live together, play together and go to school together. They attended classes during the summer months in order to make the 1948 nine-week eight-state tour.

Tickets for the program are being offered by members of the sorority to the families of Decatur, beginning today. There will be no reserved seats.
