Northwestern Is Favorite For Rose Bowl

BULLETIN

Chicago, Nov. 22 — (UP)— Northwestern's football team has been named as the big nine's representative in the Rose Bowl, Commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson announced today.

Wilson said that the Wildcat eleven, which won five out of six big nine games, was the unanimous choice for the bowl berth.

Los Angeles, Nov. 22.—(UP)— The Pacific coast conference today picked the University of California to meet Northwestern in the 1949 Rose bowl football game at Pasadena. The vote was not announced.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(UP)— Commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson of the western conference will announce today the Big Nine's official choice of its Rose bowl representative, and the chances are nobody will be surprised with the selection.

On the final standings there was only one choice for the nine faculty representatives of the league who presumably have voted by now. That team was Northwestern, second place club in the conference and losers during the season only to Michigan 28 to 0, and Notre Dame, 12 to 7.

Although the faculty representatives were not obliged to vote for any one specific team, there was little doubt but what the Wildcats would come out with the votes necessary to get the bid.

Northwestern finished with five victories in six league games, good for the undisputed runner-up spot to Michigan's undefeated magicians. Minnesota, the undisputed third place team, lost to two teams, Northwestern and Michigan.

Thus there was little chance that the faculty representatives would care to vote for the Gophers not only over a team that ranked ahead of them in the league standings but also over a team which defeated them in regular season play.

It was a pretty good bet that the final ranking of the Rose bowl clubs, so far as the Big Nine is concerned, would be Northwestern, Minnesota and Ohio State in that order.

Michigan, the league champion, was barred from the bowl by the provisions of the Big Nine-Pacific coast bowl agreement which prevents any western conference team from participation more than once in three years. The Wolverines won the bowl game Jan. 1, 1948.

The Big Nine closed its grid season Saturday on an even plane without a single upset. Michigan rebounded from a three point deficit to down Ohio State, 13 to 3; Northwestern easily whipped Illinois, 20 to 7; Minnesota set back Wisconsin, 16 to 0; and Purdue furnished the only surprise of the day, running up 39 points while holding Indiana scoreless. Purdue had been favored, but not by such a large margin. Iowa closed against a non-conference enemy and won, 34 to 14, over Boston university.

There were no surprises either in the way the conference standings closed. Michigan had been given an excellent chance to retain its league crown, and it did so. Northwestern had rated as a dark horse and finished a pure white. Minnesota was a questionable team, rated close to the top, and Ohio State had been picked as a probable challenger.

One oddity in the final standings, though, was that only three teams finished with more games won than lost. These were Michigan, Northwestern, and Minnesota. The Buckeyes had an even break over six league contests and the other five members of the league, Indiana, Iowa, Purdue, Illinois and Wisconsin all lost more than they won.

St. Joe Leader In Junior High League

The St. Joe eighth grade team, with two victories in as many starts, is the leader in the southern division of the Adams county junior high basketball league.

St. Joe has defeated both Jefferson and Hartford. Hartford is in second place with one victory and one loss, while Jefferson has lost both starts. Berne has not played any league games.

No games have been played to date in the northern division, which is comprised of Decatur Junior high, Monmouth, Kirkland and Debolt.

At the conclusion of the regular schedule, the two leading teams in each division will meet in a tournament for the league championship. This tourney will be held early in February.

Washington Scores Ninth BAA Victory

By United Press

The rest of the basketball association of America became duly alarmed today after the Washington Capitals, leader in the eastern division, defeated the Rochester Royals, hitherto the class of the western division.

Washington bumped Rochester, 80 to 77 for its ninth victory without a loss this season and the defeat forced Rochester to settle for a tie for first place with Chicago in the western division.

Playing on the Royals' court made little difference to the smooth-working Capitals, although they had to stage a second half drive to win. Rochester led at half-time, 40 to 38. Tom Feerick with 19 points and Kleggie Hermesen with 16 paced the winners while Bob Davies and Arnie Risen topped Rochester with 17 apiece. It was a rough game with five players being ejected via the foul route.

Chicago scored seven points in the last minute to beat the Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons, 70 to 69. Ken Rollins was the hero when he sank a free throw with 10 seconds to go and followed up with a long push shot from the side.

Lofty George Mikan again paved the way with 33 points as the Minneapolis Lakers overpowered the Baltimore Bullets, 94 to 81. Jim Pallard of Minneapolis and Connie Simmons and Fred Lewis of Baltimore each tallied 17 points.

Purdue Hangs 39-0 Loss On I. U. Saturday

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 22 — (UP)— The 39 to 0 shellacking which Purdue hung on Indiana in last Saturday's intra-state college football finale had gained a small measure of revenge today for old black and gold.

The victory got the Boilermakers out of the big nine cellar with a record of two wins against four defeats — identical with that of Indiana in the conference's final standings.

But for the Hoosiers, the loss was their seventh in a row. They also had to leave the old oaken bucket at Purdue, the prize which they had guarded on the I. U. campus the past four years.

Purdue's coach Stu Holcomb said his boys came through in great style after they had been handicapped by injuries most of the season.

"They were keyed up for this one," Holcomb said, "and, in the worst way, wanted to win." He added that it was the first game in the campaign in which Purdue got a few breaks and took advantage of them.

"Especially that one early in the first period when Nick Sebek fumbled away to us," Holcomb remarked. That "break" led to Purdue's second touchdown when speed merchant Harry Szulborski raced 30 yards off tackle for the score. Two minutes earlier Szulborski had chalked up the initial Purdue score, set up by Norb Adams' 37-yard run.

The other four touchdowns were anti-climactic. Purdue's superiority was such that Indiana never penetrated the Riveters' 30-yard line. And line-play, was stopped cold. Taliaferro and several other Indiana key players were injured in the bruising fracas.

The sectional champion Hartford Gorillas continue to roll merrily along. The Gorillas last week chalked up their fourth victory of the young campaign, all by lopsided margins, and are on top of the county standing.

Only other undefeated team in the county is Decatur, whose Yellow Jackets eked out an overtime triumph over the Geneva Cardinals in the Jackets' first start of the net campaign.

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, this week's heavy firing on the basketball front is moved to Tuesday night, with six games on the schedule. One game is slated Wednesday and one Friday.

Decatur's Jackets will make their first Northeastern Indiana conference appearance Tuesday night, when they travel to Garrett to meet the Railroaders. It will be the Jackets' only game of the week. The Decatur Commodores are idle this week, making their next start Tuesday, Nov. 30, at Huntington Catholic.

Two undefeated teams will tangle Tuesday night at Hartford, when the Gorillas entertain the Petroleum Panthers of Wells county. Other games on tap Tuesday are: Portland at Berne, Montpelier at Geneva, Monroe at Pleasant Mills, and Jefferson vs Bryant at the Berne auditorium.

Wednesday's lone tilt will send the Kirkland Kangaroos against the Eagles at Monmouth, and Friday's only engagement will send the Geneva Cardinals to Roll.

Milt Habegger, veteran Monroe center, is the county's leading scorer with 59 points in four games. Milt also has the top average with 14.75 points per tilt. Habegger's 23 points last week also mark the high individual scoring for one game.
