Senators Have No Established Stars On Team

Orlando, Fla., March 31 — (UP) — To death and taxes you can add another sure thing so far as the 1949 major league baseball season is concerned.

And that is that the Washington Senators will finish in the second division of the American league.

Rarely, if ever, except for war years, has a team gone to the post with as few established major leaguers as are on the present roster of the Senators.

Outside of pitchers — and there is some doubt about that department, too — manager Joe Kuhel doesn't have a single player who honestly could be termed an established star.

The closest to it probably would be Buddy Lewis, but he is coming back after a year's retirement and there is grave doubt that he ever will attain his pre-war peak as a consistent .300 hitter.

Kuhel is hoping that he does, and that his long ball hitting will give the club a little something in the power department. He also is hoping that Ed Robinson, the big first baseman obtained from Cleveland will do the same.

Despite the gloomy outlook, Kuhel does not think the situation is hopeless.

"We might surprise a lot of people," he said. "We have a fine defensive club. If we can get some hitting and some pitching we might be able to battle for fourth place."

The team is pretty well set with Lewis, the disappointing Gil Coan and promising Ed Stewart in the outfield; Robinson, Al Kozar at second, Sam Dente at short and Ed Yost at third in the infield.

While there is some doubt that Dente is a major league shortstop, there is no question at all but what he is better than any man Kuhel had at the post last year.

Jake Early and Al Evans will handle the catching with Sid Hudson, Ray Scarborough, Walter Masterson, Forrest Thompson, Milt Haefner and Joe Haynes the starting pitchers.

For relief there will be Milo Canini and Ed Kileman, another ex-Indian chaff.

Veteran Mark Christman figures to be the No. 1 infield utility man with Clyde Vollmer, who couldn't make it with the Cincinnati Reds, and John Simmons, a draftee from Montreal, the leading candidates for relief outfielding jobs.

Announces Changes In Leave Policies

Veterans administration today announced two major changes in its leave policies affecting veterans training under the G. I. Bill in job training establishments and in schools below the college level.

The changes are:
1. Allowing these veterans to apply for 15 days' leave at the end of their period of enrollment, in addition to whatever leave they might have been authorized while in training.

2. Placing full responsibility for granting leaves of absence taken during training — within a limit of 30 days a year — upon schools below college level and job training establishments. This responsibility does not extend to the 15 days given at the end of an enrollment period.

A veteran may obtain leave at the competition of his period of enrollment only if he has enough remaining entitlement to education and training to cover it.

The FBI tapped wires in a limited category of cases, it is understood that the justice department holds no law was violated. There is dispute about it, of course, but some persons contend that the law would not be violated unless the results of wire tapping were presented as evidence in legal proceedings.

The Americans for Democratic Action office here circulated the letter requesting investigation of Hoover's wire tapping in national defense and certain other cases.

Joe Gordon Plagued With Arm Troubles

Tucson, Ariz., March 31.—(UP) — Second baseman Joe Gordon of the champion Cleveland Indians began a "short vacation" today in order to strengthen his throwing arm which X-rays revealed to be weak and strained.

The veteran second baseman will be out of action for some time. Gordon is believed to have developed the arm trouble during recent exhibition games.

Either Al (Flip) Rosen or Roberto Avila will be at second base for the Indians today when they meet the Chicago White Sox here.

The Indians notched their 11th victory in 18 games yesterday when they tamed the White Sox, 4 to 1.

Braves Edge Cards

Bradenton, Fla., March 31.—(UP) — The Boston Braves, who seem to have adjusted their batting slights after a long delay, will train them today on chief Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees in an exhibition game here.

The Braves, paced by Alvin Dark's two homers, defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 11, yesterday as they combed four Red-bird hurlers for 15 hits.

Casey Stengel's Yankees snapped a four-game losing streak with an 11-inning 7 to 6 triumph over Cincinnati yesterday. Joe DiMaggio played six innings and went hitless in three trips to the plate. He will not play against the Braves today.

Blank Tigers

Lakeland, Fla., March 31.—(UP) — Manager Joe McCarthy brings his Boston Red Sox here today for an exhibition game against the Detroit Tigers.

Standout pitching by Ellis Kinder and Mickey Harris, plus Vern Stephens' 12th inning home run, gave the Red Sox a 1 to 0 victory over the Tigers at Sarasota yesterday. Virgil Trucks and Fred Hutchinson hurled for the losers.

Break Pirates Streak

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31.—(UP) — The New York Giants were under contract today to train here for the next four years.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said he was well pleased with facilities here and signed a contract calling for his club to train in Phoenix through 1954. The Giants then broke Pittsburgh's 11-game winning streak with an 11 to 4 victory as Sid Gordon walked two homers and Johnny Mize clouted one.

Browns Beat Cubs

Alpine, Tex., March 31.—(UP) — The St. Louis Browns and Chicago Cubs, who will play nine more games in Texas, brought their traveling road show here today.

Hank Art's eight-inning double off Don Carlsen gave the Browns a 5 to 4 victory over the Cubs at El Paso yesterday. Roy Smalley and Hal Jeffcoat smacked homers for Chicago.

Nobel Prize Winner Dies In Argentina

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 31 — (UP) — Friedrich Bergius, 65, noted German scientist and Nobel prize winner, died here yesterday.

Bergius, an industrialist, was given the Nobel prize in chemistry in 1931 for his development of high pressure methods. He discovered the process for producing gasoline from coal and sugar from wood.

Bergius arrived here about a year ago to fulfill a government contract.
