

Striking Printers Reject Final Offer

Offer By Chicago Papers Rejected

Chicago, Apr. 4—(UP)—Union rejection of a "final" offer today wiped out hopes for any immediate settlement of the 17-month-old strike by AFL typesetters against Chicago newspapers.

The union announced yesterday that its members had rejected by a vote of 1,266 to 93 the $10 wage increase and other contract proposals offered by the publishers.

John F. O'Keefe, secretary of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association which represents the four big dailies affected by the walkout, said he had not been informed of the rejection officially and declined to comment.

The rejection left in doubt the question of whether negotiations would be resumed. The publishers had described their offer as "final." The papers have been publishing during the strike by substitute methods.

The publishers offered a flat $10 weekly pay raise for all three shifts, which would have brought the pay scale for journeymen typesetters to $85.50 for the dayshift and $101 weekly for night work.

The union's "minimum" wage proposal called for a $14.50 weekly raise for the dayshift and a $15 raise for night work. However, the union settled its strike against the Hammond Times in nearby Hammond, Ind., last January for a $12.50 raise.

John Pilch, president of the Chicago Typographical Union, charged that the Chicago publishers were trying to "hook" the striking printers with a "yellow dog" contract.

Pilch said the vote of the members was "rousing evidence of their loyalty" to the union.

"The contract offered us by the Chicago newspapers would have given our Chicago members a wage scale considerably below what is being paid our men in Hammond," Pilch said.

He said it was "galling" that the "immensely prosperous" Chicago papers should "seek such an advantage."

The union has been on strike against Chicago papers since Nov. 24, 1947. The publishers' "final" offer, made last month, was submitted by the local union to its international executive board, which reportedly found "serious defects" in the proposed contract.

The local's negotiating committee subsequently recommended rejection, and the vote announced yesterday was on whether to abide by the recommendation. The members also authorized the union to continue negotiations.

Bennett Taken To State Penal Farm

Sheriff Herman Bowman and Ralph Bennett left early this morning for the state penal farm at Putnamville where Bennett will begin serving a 60-day sentence for indecent exposure. Bennett was found guilty in Adams circuit court Friday.

Jury Seeking To Impeach Sheriff

Gambling Conspiracy Charged To Sheriff

Greencastle, Ind., April 4—(UP)—Grand jury indictments were announced today against Paul Reising, a liquor store operator with whom sheriff John T. Sutherlin was accused of gambling conspiracy.

While Sutherlin, a Democrat, prepared his defense against the jury's impeachment proceedings, Reising was arrested on two indictments charging him with exhibiting a gaming device and advertising a lottery.

Sutherlin was accused in an unusual open court report by the grand jurors Saturday. At the same time, the jury returned seven indictments but none was made public pending arrest of the defendants.

When the warrants were served on Reising, the first two indictments became known. Reising was accused of showing a jar of gambling tickets at a filling station and placing a jar of tickets in a restaurant on Jan. 25.

Sutherlin, 65, who took office last Jan. 1 for his third term, was ordered to answer the charge April 13 in circuit court.

The jury returned no indictment against Sutherlin. Instead, it made an open court report which prosecutor Frank Durham said was, in effect, an impeachment move.

Accused Sutherlin of conspiring to violate state gambling laws by promising to protect certain places of business if they installed slot machines handled by a liquor store proprietor.

Judge John H. Allee said that if Sutherlin denied the accusations when he appears in court, a petit jury would hear the case and decide whether Sutherlin would be impeached.

The report was based on a seldom-used 75-year-old Indiana law.

Petition Change In Recreation Program

Several hundred Adams county residents have signed a petition calling for the replacement of the trustees of each township as administrators of the county recreation program. The petitioners want the program controlled by a county board of parks and recreation.

A group of taxpayers will appear before the county commissioners today to argue for the change. The county commissioners will also consider a petition asking that the Farlow ditch, located in Jefferson township, be cleaned and repaired.

See Good Financial Year For Farmers

Farm Income Likely Less Than In 1948

Washington, April 4—(UP)—Farmers can look ahead to another good financial year—perhaps several good years—but "the peak of prosperity for farmers seems definitely to have passed," according to agriculture secretary Charles F. Brannan.

Brannan and chief agriculture economist O. V. Wells also told the house appropriations committee that while farm income this year probably will be somewhat less than in 1948 "we look for no disastrous breaks" (or) another long, drawn-out depression any time soon.

In testimony made public today, they credited the price support program with preventing a serious nose-dive in farm prices last year.

Testing on the department's fiscal 1950 spending bill, Brannan said many persons thought a depression had hit when farm prices broke sharply from their unprecedented peaks early in 1948.

"But the price support system proved its worth as a stabilizer of the American economy," he said.

Wells said the February, 1948, price break would have been much greater but for the price support program.

Brannan, who will unveil his new price support recommendations to congress this week, said the problem is what percentage of parity the support price should be. In the case of potatoes, he agreed that the 90 percent parity figure forced the consumer last year to pay a price that was out of line. He said the mark-up started at the parity level. Next year, he said, the price may have to start at the 60 percent level.

His recommendations are expected to represent a compromise between demands for 100 percent price supports and flexible supports based on the supply situation.

Census To Gather Valuable Figures

Up-to-date national figures on family characteristics, consumer income, and migration will be collected in the U. S. census bureau's current population survey in April, it was announced today by Louis B. Brannan, head of the bureau's Fort Wayne office. The current population survey is conducted monthly with a representative cross section of 25,000 throughout the country, including many located in the Decatur area.

The results of this survey show how many families there are, how many of them are in each income bracket. Thus builders, groups, and businessmen in production sales.

More than half of all the families in the Seattle metropolitan area earn $3,000 or more annually, survey showed.
