Erie Train Escapes Derailment Sunday

Demolishes Auto Stalled On Track

An Erie passenger train escaped derailment early Sunday morning near Decatur in what railroad officials called "a miraculous thing." A car driven by Leo Bogner, 1104 West Monroe street, was struck by an east-bound Erie diesel passenger train at the angle road crossing west of Bobo, about 1:30 o'clock.

Bogner had driven the car about 30 feet down the track, the wheels of the car straddling one of the tracks. When a low place along the rail was reached, the Bogner car lost traction and stalled.

A passer-by, Anthony Spangler, attempted to help get the car off the track, but with little luck. When Spangler heard the diesel engine approach, he warned Bogner "to get out of the way."

Bogner took Spangler at his word. He went about a quarter of a mile away to the home of a friend, Barney Swank, of near Bobo, and went to bed.

It was not until 5 o'clock Sunday morning, hours after the train had struck the car and completely demolished it, that deputy sheriff Robert Shraluka was able to locate Bogner.

Shraluka and Erie railroad officials and detectives had combed the area near the crash throughout the night looking for a body.

Deputy Shraluka and Erie detectives and officials are continuing investigation of the wreck.

Two Arrests Made By Deputy Sheriff

Deputy sheriff Robert Shraluka made two arrests, one Saturday to apprehend a car owner for an accident of two weeks ago, and one today for a traffic violation. Deputy Shraluka arrested Sam Schwartz, an Amish youth living northwest of Berne, and ordered him to report before justice of the peace Floyd Hunter this afternoon. Schwartz was arrested for allowing an unlicensed youth to drive a truck which he owned, and which, on October 31, was involved in an accident on U. S. highway 224 east of Decatur with a milk truck.

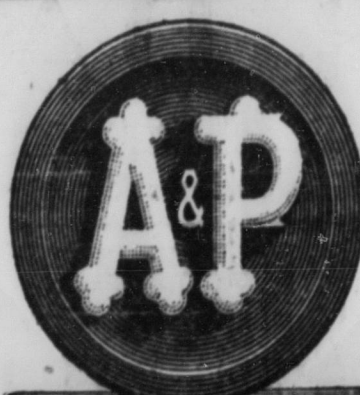

Othmer Moeller, Celina, O., driver of a milk truck, was arrested today for failure to stop at a stop sign at U. S. highway 27 three miles north of Berne. Moeller is to appear in justice of the peace court November 21. Deputy Shraluka was in Berne today investigating a theft of an undisclosed amount from a factory over the weekend. Officials of the company would not divulge the amount taken, and Shraluka is further investigating the loss.
