

A widow with six children, who had reared twelve other children whom she had adopted from year to year, was supposed to be the happiest woman in town. When asked how she could be so happy with little money or position, she answered, "Well, when I got married, I made a bargain with God that if He would take over all my worries, I would serve Him always. He has done all my worrying and brought me completely through every trial."

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Creamed comments on the Sunday school lesson, Christian Citizenship and Cooperation, Romans 12:1-10; 1st Corinthians 2:4-9 for Sunday September 12. A good citizen of God's kingdom makes him a good citizen of an earthly kingdom. God's love is expressed in obedience to law and he can protest only when Christian principles are violated.

V.1. "Let every soul be subject to higher powers. For there is now power but of God: the powers that be ordained of God." As order is God's first law, it is ordained that righteousness and justice be set in the framework of government; hence it is man's duty to obey. There are mutual obligations between the governed and those in authority. It is the function of good government to point out the right way, and the function of men, to go in God's direction.

V.2. "Whoever, therefore, resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God; and they that resist shall receive to themselves." Riot leads to anarchy and anarchy is anti-God. Good government calls for Christian brotherhood; to be outside this brotherhood means moral defeat.

V.3. "For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? Do that which is good and thou shalt have praise of same." Paul here refers to ideal governments. Good government provides protection and guarantees freedom of choice which is man's own great reward. Living and dying for freedom is significant.

V.4. "For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid: for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is a minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. Even if a pagan but administers justice, due respect belongs to him. It is ill form for a citizen to refuse loyalty to one in authority if he belongs to the opposite party. Christian loyalty calls for the prayers of all for those holding government positions.

V.5. "Therefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath but for conscience sake." Duty is ever regarded as a man's part in maintaining government.

V.6.7. "For this cause pay ye tribute also: for they are God's ministers attending continually upon this very thing. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom honor." The office must be honored even though the one holding that office, if an evil man, is not honored. The ballot box makes each voter responsible for the kind of men in office. Because of franchise power in the hands of citizens, necessary changes for the better may be voted. It is a sin to be a law dodger; for the government is the people in which self-respect is expressed.

V.8. "Owe no man anything but to love one another; for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law." Love of parents can never be repaid; the heritage of our government is too priceless to permit payment. Above all the love of God is so abounding to each one that it is impossible to respond in material ways; the best one can do is to love back to all from whom love comes.

V.9.10. "For this thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill; Thou shalt not steal; Thou shalt not bear false witness. Thou shalt not covet and if there be any other commandment, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Loveth worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." Right relation to men is found in these commandments, all of which are included in the law of love. In love there is the only true cooperation among men. As a nation we cannot attain the perfect where the law of love reigns supremely, but we can approach it.

V.4. "For while one thus saith, I am of Paul and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not carnal?" Marks of great teachers are seen in their followers. The mark of Christians is in being Christ-centered; to be otherwise-centered is carnal.

Vs. 5.6. "Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos? but ministers by whom ye have believed, even as the Lord gave to every man? I have planted and Apollos has watered. 'Here is the lesson of Christian cooperation. It is written that the church is the body of Christ, having different members.

The Dignity of Work
The stability and strength of our civilization largely depend on the willingness of men to work together. When this willingness goes, everything goes. In thus working together two facts must be kept in mind. On the part of industry, employers have a right to expect a certain volume of production from the workmen. The workers have a right to insist that its members receive more than superficial competence for their work. A balance of these objectives must be worked out together with the spirit of brotherhood in service. Due consideration for each other needs to prevail for in the sight of God, all men are called to serve him and his fellow man. The true conception is in the fact that we are laborers together with God and that the highest dignity is that of being a partner with our Creator and all are helping to make this a better world.

All labor is noble and holy.

1. Why does one grow better mentally or spiritually when associated with others?
2. How explain that government is ordained of God?
3. Why is a true Christian a good citizen?
4. Why should the church and the state be separated?
5. How does the law of love make for good government?

Our Preacher Says:

The purpose of one's working determines his character. In business relations a laborer works for the owner of the business. As an individual with financial responsibility he works for himself in the sense of his wages furnishing the needed money. As a member of society he works to produce something useful to others. As a member of God's family on earth, he works to render the needed Christian service to make a better world.

"Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls." All that labour and are heavy laden hear the Master's call and find His rest this Labor Day Sunday in Church.

The rest provided by the Sabbath day is conducive to renewed strength to do the work of the following six days. Rest is prescribed for many incapacitated persons whose energy is lagging, whose heart is not normal, who are suffering from different enervating ills. The mind affects the body, and a weary mind makes a weary body. A change of thoughts, considering different subjects, furnishes the needed mental rest. In the worship of God, peace of mind is produced; faith, courage, hope, and strength are increased. Jesus said, "Come unto me and I will give you rest." Why not accept the invitation and Come To Church—Next Sunday?

"Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls." All that labour and are heavy laden hear the Master's call and find His rest this Labor Day Sunday in Church.

The rest provided by the Sabbath day is conducive to renewed strength to do the work of the following six days. Rest is prescribed for many incapacitated persons whose energy is lagging, whose heart is not normal, who are suffering from different enervating ills. The mind affects the
