Concordia Of Fort Wayne To Join NEIC Loop

Officials of Concordia high school in Fort Wayne announced Wednesday that the school will become a member of the Northeastern Indiana conference, with formal acceptance to be made at a dinner meeting of the NEIC in Fort Wayne next Monday evening.

The announcement was confirmed by John Flora, Garrett high school principal and conference secretary-treasurer, and Lester Baack, Concordia's athletic director.

Concordia's addition will bring the conference membership to seven. Other schools in the loop are Decatur, Bluffton, New Haven, Garrett, Columbia City and Kendallville. Auburn and Warsaw, members for a number of years, withdrew from the conference last year.

The Cadets have all the conference teams on their football and basketball schedules with the exception of Bluffton. Definite decision on whether Concordia will qualify for standing in the conference this season will be made at Monday's meeting.

In joining the NEIC, Concordia will withdraw from competition in the football city series in Fort Wayne, but will continue to compete in basketball city series.

Junior High Football Teams Play Tonight

Decatur's Junior high football league teams will do battle again tonight, tangling at Worthman field at 8:45 o'clock.

The Lions won the opening game two weeks ago by defeating the Bears, and also outscored the Bears in a brief exhibition between halves of the Yellow Jackets game last week. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Hockey Season Will Open This Evening

(By International News Service) The National Hockey League opens its 38th season tonight with the Detroit Red Wings favored to win their seventh successive league title.

The Red Wings, winners of the Stanley Cup last season, launch the campaign under a new coach, Jim Skinner, when they take on the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight at Detroit.

The other NHL opener takes place in Montreal. The Canadiens, who were Stanley Cup finalists against the Wings, engage the Chicago Black Hawks.

Charley Powell Is Beaten Last Night

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A battered and dejected Charley Powell looked about today for less experienced opponents than Charley Norkus to launch his new attempt to climb to the top of heavyweight fighting ranks.

Norkus stopped Powell's sensational win streak Wednesday night in the former professional football star's first nationally-televised performance. The experienced New Yorker knocked Powell down twice in the seventh round to win on a technical knockout.

State College Teams Face Tests Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS (INS)—The Indiana Collegiate Conference hummed with an old familiar song again while the Hoosier College Conference worked their football around a cheaper by the dozen theme.

Valparaiso roster atop the ICC with a 2-0 record for the league and a lone loss to Wabash marking the year. It has a big big game with Evansville coming up, at the Pocket City's Homecoming attraction.

The Purple Aces were Patsies the last two years for everyone but Valpo. And the Aces ended both 24-game winning streak in 1952 and an 18-game home winning streak last year.

The two meet at Evansville Saturday with Evansville showing a 2-1 league and the season record to date and promise of causing more than just Valparaiso sleepless nights this time out.

Ball State's power-ladened Cardinals play a homecoming date with Butler's defending champions Saturday. Both are 1-0 in the league for the season. Butler had lost to Wabash while Ball State is undefeated in three.

Indiana State, winless in the ICC so far, goes against a vastly improved St. Joseph's team that has split a pair of conference affairs.

DePauw, have lost three ICC games in a row is long gone to Oberlin, O., in search of a first 1954 win.

Over in the HCC, Indiana Central with a 3-0 mark for the year goes for its 12th straight victory against a winless 0-3 Anderson eleven.

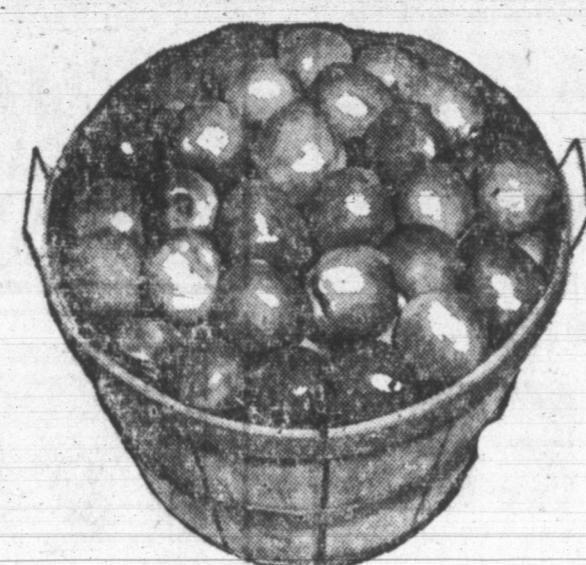

Reverse records also are at stake in the Hanover 2-1 game with Earlham 1-2. Taylor takes a 2-1 mark to Manchester 0-2. Rose Poly 0-1 seeks a first win from Franklin 0-2.

Meanwhile, the team that may lay claim to the strongest little college team in Indiana, Wabash, 3-0, visits Bradley, Ill.

New York Yanks New Roadblock To A's Shift

by Eastern League President Tommy Richardson has matched Johnson's offer. Richardson, a member of the A's board of directors, told the club owners at a meeting prior to the World Series that he would keep the A's in Philadelphia for a year's test period. Then, if the club still weren't sound financially he wanted permission to move the franchise to "one of seven cities."

Another man to be heard from next Tuesday will be Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Athletics. Roy wants to maintain control of the franchise and keep it in Philadelphia. He asked for two weeks to see if he could raise $750,000 to buy control of the team.

The Yankees, through co-owner Dan Topping, made it known that they want to be paid for being deprived of their minor league territory if the A's are sold and the new owners want to open shop in Kansas City.

American League club owners will meet in Chicago next Tuesday to resume consideration of the possible sale and transfer of the dollar-short club. Washington's Clark Griffith and Detroit's Spike Briggs are on record against the shift to Kansas City.

It takes six votes to swing a franchise shift and Topping indicated he would vote against a change unless Chicago realtor Arnold Johnson and his associates paid the price. Topping said:

"A year ago we agreed to give up our rights to the territory. We acted like gentlemen and willingly stepped aside so that the people of Kansas City could have major league baseball."

"At the time, we said we'd give them a year to iron out the problems. Well, the year is up and now we've changed our minds. Our territory is being invaded and we want to be paid for it. We're through being gentlemen about it."

There are a couple of strange sidelights to the situation. The amount of money involved is only $50,000—the indemnification figure for a Triple A franchise—and Johnson is the fellow who purchased the Yankee Stadium and their Kansas City park last year. He is Topping's landlord.

Johnson also is a partner with Topping and co-owner Del Webb in other interests. "This is another matter," Topping insists. "Johnson has no interest in the Yankees."

Johnson, who has made a $3,375,000 offer for the purchase of the Athletics, said Wednesday that Kansas City is "racing against time" trying to prepare for major league baseball next season. He said he expected to have preliminary plans ready by Tuesday.
