Rain And Wind Break Intense Heat In City

State Benefits As Rain, Wind Arrive To Aid Sufferers

BULLETIN

The unofficial temperature on the Daily Democrat thermometer at 2 o'clock this afternoon was 80 degrees compared with 95 degrees at the same time Sunday.

Adams county's second intense heat wave of recent weeks has been broken, at least temporarily and almost an inch of rain fell in Decatur during the early morning hours today. A strong west wind, starting about 2:30 o'clock this morning heralded the temperature break after a high of 96 degrees was recorded Sunday afternoon.

At 6 o'clock this morning the temperature in Decatur had dropped to a comfortable 70 degrees and the rain continued until about 8:30 o'clock.

Weather forecasters predicted that the temperature would rise to perhaps the middle eighties today, but it was generally believed that the intense heat was side-tracked at least for the present.

Temperatures in the 90's were recorded in Decatur and Adams county every day last week. The only difference between the present hot weather and that of a few weeks ago, was that a slight drop was recorded at nights, during the past two weeks.

Cooler temperatures were predicted today for all of Indiana. Many Hoosier spots recorded near 100 degree readings Saturday and Sunday. Fair and cooler also was forecast for Tuesday in Indiana.

New Storm Seen

MIAMI (INS) — A new disturbance located about 450 miles east south-east of Miami was watched carefully today on the possibility that it would develop into a tropical storm.

The disturbance is believed to be an outgrowth of another easterly wave spotted in the Caribbean last week.

Gusts of winds up to 35-40 miles per hour were clocked in parts of Cuba as the wave moved westward at about 25 mph.

Tribe Violence May Cost Lives Of Over 1,000

French Troops To Aid Of Europeans In African Riots

CASABLANCA (INS) — French troops aided by tanks and fighter planes today attacked Berber tribesmen who had slaughtered Europeans during the weekend.

The African violence may have cost 1,000 lives.

The French attacked the tribesmen who were entrenched in the hills above the razed Moroccan town of Oued Zem, 80 miles south of Casablanca and the scene of Saturday's bloodbath.

First reports said that the French troops met determined resistance, but gave no estimate of casualties.

Two fresh battalions of French troops, made up of conscripts, were flown into Casablanca from France Sunday night to join French foreign legionnaires and elements of the fourth light infantry regiment and a Spahi armored cavalry regiment.

In neighboring Algeria, scene of the greatest number of week-end killings in the Arab Nationalist drive for freedom from France, officials announced the total destruction of nine Algerian hamlets.

Women and children were evacuated and the troops then destroyed the East Algerian hamlets because it was said the men not only harbored rebels but joined in mass attacks on some towns and were

Contract Rejection Reasons Are Given

Local U. E. Leader Says, "Why Rush?"

President Henry Stauffer of UE Local 924, which presently represents the workers at the General Electric plant in Decatur, today issued the following statement on the wage and contract proposals made by GE to both UE and IUE-CIO, and which has been accepted by IUE-CIO national leaders.

"The first question we in UE must ask of other union members who are considering this GE offer is — what is the rush? This is the first offer made so far by the company. As in all previous years we in the trade union movement know that to negotiate means to discuss, to give and to take. It does not mean grabbing the first offer by the company, which was obviously rigged.

"In addition to proposals on wages, insurance and pensions which the Company has adequately publicized, it is important that the people of our community also know that GE has made these proposals contingent upon our acceptance of provisions which would go far to wreck our present contract.

"GE further proposes a five year contract. Large sections of the labor movement, especially in the auto industry, have just rejected continuing the five year contract practice as doing injury to the workers. It represents, in fact, UAW-CIO Ann Chalmers workers have just turned down a four year
