EGYPT RETAINS

the last. But Cairo hinted that Nasser would be more willing to receive a delegation from both sides with both the Dulles plan and the one put forward by India's V. K. Krishna Menon.

India Wins Support India had the full support of Egypt and the Soviet Union in its plan which would merely set up an "advisory" body for the canal. Line up with them was Indonesia. Ceylon and Spain were still sitting on the fence.

But the big break of the conference came when the Afro-Asian bloc forgot at Bandung split wide open on the issue. Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and Ethiopia sided with the West and Dulles suggested his plan be known as a five-nation proposal.

Also supporting the American stand were Britain, France, Japan, Holland, West Germany, Portugal, Australia, Denmark, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden and Italy.
