Adams Central Area Farmers Meet Monday

A meeting has been called for Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Adams Central high school study hall for all farmers residing in Monroe township and the vicinity.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the possibility of providing fire protection for the area. At the meeting, if a sufficient number of the farmers are interested, an association will be formed and a round table discussion will be held regarding the purchase of a fire truck.

Martin Steiner, of Monroe, will preside at the meeting until an association has been formed. All farmers living in that area are invited to be present and to express their opinions on the subject.

Cooler Weekend Is Forecast In State

By UNITED PRESS

A cooler weekend lies ahead, but meanwhile Indiana is due to bask in more of the mild weather which has featured most of October.

The long-range forecast for Hoosierland, contained in the three-weekly five-day outlook, said temperatures will average 3 to 6 degrees above normal highs of 59 to 67 and normal lows of 39 to 42.

Sewing Classes Are Organized At Center

The adult beginning sewing classes held an organizational meeting Monday evening at the Youth and Community Center, to determine the time and day that each of the classes would convene. The evening class will meet each Monday and Thursday evening, from 7:30 until 9:30 o'clock, and the morning session is scheduled to meet each Tuesday and Thursday morning from 9 until 11 o'clock.

Monday evening and Tuesday morning of next week, will be the first meetings of the classes, which will meet twice a week for the next five weeks. Anyone still interested in the classes is asked to call the instructor, Mrs. Jane Reed, at 3-9180 to get further details.

Dr. Krider Named To Central Soya Post

Dr. J. L. Krider, former Decatur resident, has been appointed to the newly created post of vice president and director of public relations for Central Soya Co. and McMillen Feed Mills, according to an announcement by H. W. McMillen, chairman of the board.

Dr. Krider joined Central Soya in 1950 as director of feed research and education, located at the Decatur plant, and was named vice president and director of feed sales in 1951.

Michigan And Minnesota To Meet Saturday

By UNITED PRESS

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said Tuesday he expected a "plenty rough game" Saturday when Michigan and Minnesota meet in their traditional "Little Brown Jug" game.

The Wolverine coach commented as Big Ten teams buckled down to hard drills for the next games on their schedules.

Michigan concentrated on a new passing series, working for 90 minutes with halfbacks Jim Pace and Bob Placek and quarterbacks Jim Van Pelt and Jim Maddock handling the aerial chores.

Minnesota's Gophers underwent a lengthy defensive drill as Coach Murray Warmath sent his freshmen running Michigan plays against the varsity.

The Spartans of Michigan State practiced until dark Tuesday. They ran signal drills and pass defense plays in preparation for their game with Illinois.

Illinois was bolstered by the return of two injured players—Harry Jefferson at right halfback and Capt. Jim Minor at center.

Wisconsin went through a tough session with the first string operating defensively against reserves. End Jim Reinke—sidelined with a hand injury—worked out with the squad and may be ready to play against Ohio State Saturday.

The Iowa Hawkeyes held a long and were reported working on scrimmage behind closed doors, defenses for Purdue's varied offense. Tackle George Kress was about the only serious injury on the squad with an ailing knee.

Purdue sharpened its running game as the first string backfield worked together for the first time in 10 days. Jim Shea, who was impressive against Wisconsin, was considered a likely starter against Iowa Saturday.

Defense was stressed at Indiana in preparation for Northwestern. Indications were that guard Don Howell and center Joe Amstutz—both sidelined with injuries—would be ready for the homecoming game with the Wildcats.

Coach Ara Parseghian ran Northwestern through blocking and tackling assignments in preparing the squad for the Indiana game.

McNulty, of Fort Wayne, Miss Indiana for 1956.

The evening judges will consist of Miss McNulty, Jack Gray, WKIQ-TV telecaster, Pat Mesing, head model for Wolf and Dessauer, and Charles Gantt of the Fort Wayne Junior Chamber of Commerce. Each of the judges will score the five girls on the basis of beauty, appearance, poise and talent.

A special committee of industrial leaders will act as a tabulating committee to add the scores of the judges and name the winners. Chairman of the committee will be Robert Brandtiller of the Decatur Novelty, Tom Allwein of Central Soya and Dan Tyndall of Krick and Tyndall.

Clarence Zliner is general chairman of the fish fry.

Friday's program will consist of a special bargain day and night by the Decatur merchants with a free cartoon show at the Adams theater at 1 o'clock to youngsters turning in a one pound bag of soybeans.

Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock the 1956 soybean queen and her court will be conducted through the business district in a parade to the Decatur Youth and Community Center, where the queen will lead the grand march at the soybean ball scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock. Carl Geels and his combo will furnish the music. Admission will be 50 cents and one pound of beans per person.

The merchants will continue their bargains on Saturday and at 10 a.m. a second free cartoon movie for the children will be given at the Adams theater to youngsters presenting a bag of beans.

Saturday night a truck load of beans will be given to one of the visitors by Decatur retail merchants. The load has been guaranteed to contain at least 100 bushels of beans if weighed and sold at Burk's elevator. The soybean queen will draw the winning number and the winner need not be present to win.
