Nuclear Deadlock In Debate In UN

Hopes Are Pinned On East-West Conclave

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)

The United Nations Political Committee neared the end of a debate on disarmament today with little hope of breaking the nuclear deadlock.

Sixteen speakers still remain to be heard in the general debate before the 81-nation group reaches the voting stage, possibly late next week.

The three-week-old debate thus far has produced three major resolutions, but none appeared capable of getting a large enough majority to make it effective.

Haitian Foreign Minister Edmond Sylvain proposed a subcommittee be organized the work out a compromise resolution with the United States, Russia, Britain and France. Committee chairman Miguel Rafael Urquiza of El Salvador said he would put the proposal into a formal resolution next week.

But most U. N. observers pinned their hopes on the East-West nuclear talks scheduled to open in Geneva, Oct. 31. They said any resolution approved by the committee could be nothing more than an expression of the group's desire for agreement.

CAUSE NO. 100-1000

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE
The children, descendants and heirs, the unknown husband or wife of each of the above-named persons, who may be living, the widow or widower as the case may be of each of the above-named persons, the creditors, administrators of the estates, the executors, trustees and executors of the last will and testament of any of the above-named persons who is deceased; any of the women and designation above stated who may have changed their name and are now known by other names, the names of whom are unknown to these plaintiffs and successors in interest and assigns of each of the above-named persons who may be deceased and all persons and corporations who assert or might assert a claim of title or interest in the real estate described herein under, by or through the above-named persons, the names of whom are all unknown to these plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs herein having filed their complaint to quiet title together with an affidavit that the residence of defendant inquiry is unknown, the following named defendants, to-wit:

Leander B. Brokaw, Hannah A. Brokaw, Emanuel Neuenschwander, Celina Neuenschwander, Charles C. Kelley, Minerva Kelley, Daniel N. Erwin, Mantle Erwin, Henry S. Michaud, Lillie Michaud, Loren Lake, the children, descendants and heirs, the unknown husband or wife of each of the above-named persons who may be living, the widow or widower as the case may be of each of the above-named persons, the creditors, administrators of the estates, the executors, trustees and executors of the last will and testament of any of the above-named persons who is deceased; any of the women and designation above stated who may have changed their name and are now known by other names, the names of whom are unknown to these plaintiffs and successors in interest and assigns of each of the above-named persons who may be deceased and all persons and corporations who assert or might assert a claim of title or interest in the real estate described herein under, by or through the above-named persons, the names of whom are all unknown to these plaintiffs.

The soybean king, Bultemeier, received the loving cup from Junior Miss Indiana.

Selneright then announced that the king and queen would appear on the television program, "Farms and Farming" today at 1 o'clock. The judges then announced their selection of queen for 1958.

A highlight of the evening's festivities was the appearance of Judy Rhodes, runner-up to the 1957 queen. She thanked everyone that made it possible for her to compete for the Junior Miss Indiana title in Bluffton. Miss Rhodes placed fifth in the contest held during the last days of September at the Bluffton street fair.

A few personalities seen attending the annual event were: Wayne Rothgeb of WKJG; Ollie Strong, also of WKJG; and Ron Ross, of WOWO radio.

The close of the program was brought about by the crowning of the queen and the naming of the runner-up.

The two girls eliminated in the judging of the seven girls during the afternoon competition at the Decatur Youth and Community Center were: Annette Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, of route one, Monroe; and Miss Nancy Fuhrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Fuhrman, of route one, Decatur. Miss Thomas gave a fine dramatic reading, and Miss Fuhrman gave a comical dialogue.

Said action is instituted and prosecuted by said plaintiffs for the purpose of quieting title with the following described real estate situated in Adams County, Indiana, and described particularly in their complaint as follows:

Commencing at a point on the north line of Dayton Avenue where said line intersects the west line of Dierkes Street in the City of Decatur, Indiana, thence north and west on the north line of said
