MONROEVILLE HIGH

By Jane Wyss

Tom Bolyard, 33 points, enabled the South Side Archers to smother the Monroeville Cubs 63-33 last Wednesday night, at the coliseum. The Cubs held the Archers to seven points in the first quarter, but the Archers quickly retaliated to capture their victory. The Cubs played good ball and deserve to be commended.

ADAMS CENTRAL HIGH

By Shirley Osterman

Good luck to the Yellow Jackets when they travel to the Fort Wayne coliseum to meet the South Side Archers Saturday! Sliding through the Adams Central sectional, the Decatur quintet earned the right to represent Adams county at the regional by defeating their foes—Adams Central, Decatur Catholic, and Hartford—by wide margins.

—A.C.H.S.—
An 80-minute national math test was given today during the fourth and fifth period classes to 18 Centralites. Those listed to participate were Steve Brandenburg, Max Egley, Larry Foreman, Alan Habegger, Loren Habegger, Tom Heyerly, Bill Hoffman, and Albert Hollinger. Also scheduled were David Isch, Ron Maines, Olin Moeschberger, Tony Sharp, Joe Sprunger, Palmer Urick, Jack Wullman, and Evan Yoder.

—A.C.H.S.—
Last Friday ended Adams Central's fourth grading period for the 1935-36 school year. Six-week tests came up on the students, before they realized it, during the sectional. Will this show on report cards? Well, if it does, there are 11 weeks to make up the difference.

—A.C.H.S.—
Is it the sectional, the weather, or the flu bug that's got Central in its grasp? Well, whatever it is, it's causing a good number of pupils to miss school. Attendance reports so far this week have shown that there were 50 out of the upper six grades on Monday and around 65 on Tuesday. Most of these absentees report sore throats and fatigue. Now's a good time to take some precautionary measures, as far as health goes!

—A.C.H.S.—
Intramural basketball will be making way for the free throw shooting contest as soon as all are interested sign up. The standings of the girls' intramural basketball teams, with captains' names listed, are as follows: Rosemary Schlackman, Marcia Zimmerman, Sandy Stricker, Dixie Smith, Linda Hirschy, and Brenda Sommer. Teams for volleyball tournaments have also been formed.

—A.C.H.S.—
Central's cafeteria will be the scene of the athletic department's annual banquet, which will be Friday, March 13. The banquet for all letterman will begin at 6:30 and will cost $1.25 a plate. Tickets have been on sale during this week and everyone is urged to purchase them quickly so that the number can be determined for the cooks.

DECATUR CATHOLIC HIGH

By Theresa Laurent

In their vindicating triumph over the Monroeville Cubs in the sectional, the Commodore Com modore "quints" avenged a regular season defeat, only to be stung by the Decatur Yellow Jackets.

—D.C.H.S.—
On Saturday afternoon, while the Commodores went no further than the semi-finals, D.C.H.S. was glad to see them play such fine ball, and Decatur Catholic is proud of their team.

—D.C.H.S.—
Congratulations, Jackets! Receive the crown of victory. As Adams county sectional champs, meet the South Side Archers, bearing in mind that Decatur Catholic is rooting for you.

—D.C.H.S.—
With the close of the sectional comes the termination of the high school basketball season of 1935-36. But before D.C.H.S. discards this "hoosier" mania for the school year, the boys of the four upper classes will engage in intramural contests. Opposition will lie between the seniors and the freshmen and the juniors and the sophomores with games scheduled for 7 and 8 p.m. Monday. A play-off between winners of Monday's contests is set for the following Wednesday. Go to the intramurals! Cheer for your favorite team!

—D.C.H.S.—
Three senior-class varsity members have experienced their last ball game in competitive high school basketball. Leaving the Commodore squad are Paul Gross, Tony Lengerich, and Glen Wilder. D.C.H.S. is sorry to see these boys go; they've contributed much to the sport.

—D.C.H.S.—
Indeed, this week was a week for tests. Besides the atrocious weeks exams two national tests were offered to certain groups at D.C.H.S. Thursday, 15 juniors and seniors of the mathematical groups participated in the 10th annual mathematical contest, which is jointly sponsored by the mathematical association of America and the society of actuaries. Accordingly, four seniors of the civics class engaged in a test based on the United Nations. Good luck, kids! May you get propitious results.

Thursday night found the Jackets anticipating the sectional crown they defeated Adams Central 61-41. The first half was close, but the Jackets proved to be too much for the Greyhounds.

—D.C.H.S.—
The Commodores fell victim

next to the mighty Jackets. Saturday afternoon, the second game placed the two Decatur teams together. This game proved to be exciting enough, but the Jackets once again came out on top.

—D.H.S.—
Saturday night was the night that D.H.S. will not soon forget. In a battle that was a battle, the Yellow Jackets defeated the Hartford Gorillas, 50-34. The nets came down as the Jacket fans crowded the gym floor and Mr. Andrews announced no school Monday.

—D.H.S.—
At 10 o'clock Monday morning the D.H.S. gymnasium was the scene of a pep session in honor of the victorious Jackets. Mr. Andrews gave a short speech followed by Mr. Bevelhimer. Coach Bevelhimer congratulated the boys for their fine job and commented briefly on each of the boys.

—D.H.S.—
Following the pep session a 45-car caravan proceeded to the other seven county schools and really celebrated. A sock hop was held in the gym about 2 o'clock and a wonderful day was enjoyed by everyone.

—D.H.S.—
Saturday afternoon the Jackets will face the South Side Archers in the second game of the regional. The Jackets have the hustle and fight to win and South Side is in for a big surprise. Good Luck Jackets! Sting Those Archers.

—D.H.S.—
Thanks to the Commodores for the letter in which they wished the Jackets good luck in the regional.

—D.H.S.—
What's that horrible smell? The seniors have been doing lab experiments this week with sulphur. The hydrogen sulfide, better known as rotten egg gas, is the worst of all. It's a good thing the seniors only work with sulphur for one or two weeks of the year, isn't it!

night, bringing the total downpour there to seven inches for the day. Roads in southern Georgia were washed out by rains.

The snow Thursday battered Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Illinois. Winds ranging from 57 to 71 miles an hour whipped across central and southern Illinois and into Indiana. Half-inch hailstones hit Springfield and Jacksonville, Ill.

A passenger bus overturned on snow-slicked U.S. 77 north of Edmond, Okla., during the height of the storm, but the passengers and driver escaped unhurt through a rear door.

At Enid, Okla., a man died after shoveling snow. Scores of travelers were trapped in heavy snows in the Enid area and took shelter with farmers. Air and bus traffic was halted out of Enid for most of Thursday. Schools were closed throughout northern Oklahoma.

Traffic was snarled in northern Illinois and Wisconsin where up to 14 inches of snow fell. Heavy rains following the snow in some areas turned roads to slush contributing to at least one Wisconsin traffic death.

Wausau, Wis., got 10 inches of new snow to bring its accumulation to 20 inches. Madison, Wis., was buried under a foot of snow. Dubuque, Iowa, had 11 inches and Freeport, Ill., 7 inches.

The snow forced postponement of last night's NAA basketball playoff at Milton, Wis., between Milton and Platteville, Wis. Big Ten track teams were prevented from travelling to Madison, Wis., for this weekend's track meet. Milwaukee declared a snow emergency.

Harry Uphoff, 68, a retired farmer, died of exposure in the storm when he wandered from his farmhouse at Kingston, Ill. An Illinois motorist was killed on an icy highway.

Two deaths were blamed on the storm in Iowa where high winds plugged the roads with snow as soon as it was cleared away.

Three out of town officers were present for the recent installation of the royal officers of the Decatur Lady Bugs, the Buggy Nineteen. The visitors were royal lady gold bug, Mrs. Margaret Watkins of Hammond; royal sharp claws, Mrs. Mary Elsing and royal inspector, Mrs. Ruby Thompson of Goshen. Seek To Push Probe Of Toll Commission

By EUGENE J. CADOU
United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Democratic lawmakers today attempted to rescue from imminent death a House-passed resolution to investigate the controversial Indiana Toll Road Commission.

The resolution was authored by Reps. Jean R. LaGrange, LaPorte, and Joseph E. Klen, Hammond, both Democrats. It has gathered dust in the Senate Roads Committee for several weeks.

The only explanation given by Sen. Charles M. Maddox (R-Otterbein), committee chairman, for sitting on the resolution was:

"I don't find anybody who wants the resolution passed."

But two Democratic legislators told a different story.

Bondholder Praises Probe
LaGrange said he had pressed Maddox for action several times and Sen. Marshall F. Kizer (D-Plymouth) said he had talked three times with Maddox about it.

The Republican bigwigs run the toll road commission. They likewise control the State Highway Commission, but, nevertheless, Maddox, a former Highway Commission member, has sponsored reform measures designed to avoid a repetition of the road scandals of the Gov. George P. Craig administration.

LaGrange said he had received a number of letters praising him for his probe resolution, including one from one of the buyers of 280 million dollars worth of bonds that financed the east-west pay road.

The commission's annual report for 1935 showed that its income was $1,455,288 short of meeting interest on the huge bond issue while in the same period the Ohio toll highway showed a profit of $1,800,000, according to LaGrange.

Rates Hike Helped
However, since the raising of toll rates early this year, the commission is in better financial condition, according to its reports.

Klen has protested this hike in rates on the ground that it discriminates against toll road users of the Calumet area which he represents.

LaGrange maintained that if the pay road fails, the state will have a moral obligation to "pick up the pieces." He said that during the Craig regime, $688,000 of State Highway Department funds was given to the toll road commission to finance a survey for the "abortive north-south toll road, a fond dream of Craig that never materialized."

This money has never been recovered by the state because toll road bondholders claim it was not used for the present east-west pay highway, according to LaGrange.

Radio Tower Blown Down By High Wind

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—An Indianapolis coal and oil company today began repairing its 100-foot radio tower which was blown over by wind Thursday. The tower, used to transmit messages to company vehicles, sliced through a 34,000 volt high tension line of the Indianapolis Power and Light Co. No one was injured, however.

Two Minor Wrecks Reported By Police

Two minor accidents were investigated by the city police department Thursday. One motorist involved in one mishap was arrested by the investigating officer for driving a vehicle without a driver's license. He was cited for a hearing in justice of the peace court Saturday evening.

The mishap occurred Thursday at 10:55 p.m. at Fifth street and Nuttman avenue. The police report shows that a truck driven by James A. Rutherford, 32, Decatur, while headed east on Nuttman avenue, struck a parked truck owned by Art Iron & Wire company of Fort Wayne. Rutherford was arrested for driving a vehicle without a valid driver's license and will appear in court Saturday night at 7 o'clock in answer to the charge.

Police estimated damage to the Rutherford vehicle at $15 and $25 to the parked truck owned by the Fort Wayne concern.

The second accident was reported earlier in the day at 4:28 p.m. at Fifth Points.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Grover G. Levy, 49, of Decatur, was attempting a left turn onto Adams street from Mercer avenue and was stuck by a car driven by Hugo H. Gerke, 73, Decatur, which was attempting to turn left from Adams street onto Second street.

The estimated damage to the Levy vehicle was set at $100 while only $30 damage was listed to the Gerke auto.

School Fire Takes 94th Victim Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—A struggle to live, which lasted more than three months and included an attempt to catch upon her studies, was over today for a 94th victim of the Our Lady of the Angels school fire.

Thursday in St. Anne's Hospital here to become the 91st child to die from the tragic Dec. 1 blaze that also took the lives of three nuns.

Burns over more than half her body had kept her condition continually "in a state of flux," a hospital spokesman said.

The poison state brought on by the burns sometimes "cleared up" and she appeared to be making a finer recovery," he said. At one point, Valeria underwent private tutoring.

At other times, however, "the poison would accumulate and she again would become critical," the spokesman said, adding that she had once been on the hospital's "terminal list" when physicians feared her death was imminent.

The flames, the spokesman said, had burned the little girl over 65 per cent of her body.

A patent has been awarded for a combination cigaret lighter and miniature camera.

Doan Is Appointed GOP City Chairman

Adams county Republican chairman, Harry Essex, announced today that John M. Doan, former mayor of Decatur, is the Republican city chairman for the city elections in 1936. Edna Hammond was named city vice chairman, while the secretary and treasurer will be announced at a later date.
