Adams Central high school will be Adams county's lone representative at the northeastern Indiana regional science fair at Purdue University's Fort Wayne Center April 10, 11, and 12. Sixty-one schools from 11 surrounding counties will be competing for the top awards in seven categories in three divisions elementary, junior and senior high.

Five winners from each category will be selected in the three divisions by a panel of 29 judges. Two of the senior winners will com-

Final Arguments Are Set For April 17

Final arguments in the case of Dale Death vs. the City of Decatur, have been tentatively set for April 17 by Special Judge John Macy, but one of the city's attorneys, James W. Grimes, has requested that the closing arguments in the case be heard sometime after May 8.

Judge Macy, notified the attorneys, the plaintiff and the defendant, of the date of April 17 for the closing arguments. He also asked them to notify him immediately if the date interfered with any of the attorney's calendar. Attorney Grimes responded the following day to Judge Macy's request. It has not been learned as yet whether April 17 will be the date for argument, or if it will be changed to sometime in May. Thursday, April 2, the defense and the plaintiff rested their cases in the jury circuit court.

Circuit Judge Dies Suddenly Wednesday

DANVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Hendricks Circuit Judge George W. Hadley, 53, died unexpectedly Wednesday at his North Salem home. He had not been ill and presided in his court the day before his death. Hadley was Hendricks County prosecutor from 1938 to 1942, and a deputy attorney general of Indiana from 1946 to 1949. His six-year judicial term had nearly two more years remaining.

Two Young Geniuses Held For Burglaries

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (UPI) — Two "teen-aged geniuses" were held at the Macomb County Youth Home today pending a hearing on charges of committing 23 burglaries to get equipment for their scientific experiments.

The boys readily admitted stealing supplies from their school and a dentist's office so they could build telescopes, take pictures of the moon and stars with a home-made camera and shoot off home-made rockets.

The boys, 14 and 15, were too young for the regular science classes in St. Clair Shores High School where they attended the ninth grade.

The boys' fathers, a postal worker and a factory worker, encouraged their scientific interests with as many gifts as they could afford.

"They were just going too fast for their parents to keep up with," authorities said. "The parents never suspected what the boys were up to."

The boys broke into the St. Clair Shores School 27 times since last October, taking at least $3,000 worth of projectors, test tubes, and from fire extinguishers and chemicals.

A week ago, they broke into a dentist's office and took pressure gauges, bottles and X-ray equipment. In the process they took $785 in cash, the first cash they had ever taken, in order to buy more scientific equipment.

Accident Victims Reported Improved

The two Adams county ladies, Mrs. Marvin Zurcher, 18, route one, Monroe, and Mrs. Willis Fox, 34, Berne, hospitalized late Tuesday night from injuries suffered in the two-car head-on crash that occurred near Berne, are "doing fine" according to authorities at the Adams county memorial hospital. A call to the hospital this noon found that both women rested comfortably during the night and show improvement today.

Mrs. Zurcher suffered from a fractured right arm and lacerations, while Mrs. Fox is being treated for lacerations to the right knee and both legs, and bruises. Three others received treatment at the county hospital the night of the mishap and were released.

Soil Bank Contracts Effective April 15

Chairman James Garboden of the Adams county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee today reminded farmers who have signed or expect to sign 1959 contracts in the conservation reserve of the soil bank that those contracts take effect April 15 in most cases.

Where a conservation practice is started on the designated land before April 15, Garboden said, the contract takes effect when the conservation use begins. After a contract goes into effect, the farmer is obligated not to use his soil bank tract for grazing livestock and not to harvest a crop from it.

A special consecration service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Monroe Methodist church. At that time the new addition to the church which houses the educational unit will be consecrated. The new educational facilities of the church have been completed and are furnished at this time. Also a new heating system has been placed in the church, which will heat the whole church plant. To date $65,000 has been spent on this building program. Another $10,000 will be spent this summer and fall. Landscaping will be done and the gravel base for a new parking lot will be laid. Also a new kitchen will be placed in the basement of the new addition. Acoustic ceiling and floor tiling will also be laid in the new church basement this summer. In the near future the goal is to enlarge the present church sanctuary into the present fellowship hall. The remaining portion of the fellowship area will be used for additional classrooms. When this final goal is achieved, the church will have completed a $100,000 building program. Dr. Byron Stroh, superintendent of the Fort Wayne District of the Methodist church, will speak in this special service. He will also speak at the 9:30 a.m. morning worship service. Members of the building committee who have given guidance in this building program are Glen Workinger, chairman; Mrs. Paul Bahner, John Christner, Jr., and the Rev. Willis Gierhart.

Two Brothers Found Dead In Refrigerator

GARY, Ind. (UPI) — Two little brothers seeking adventure found death instead when they climbed into an abandoned refrigerator and the door slammed shut.

The victims, Gale Holbrook, 5, and Jake, 3, were found by their father, Herbert, crouched in the refrigerator which was stored on the back porch of their suburban home Wednesday night.

Holbrook began searching for his sons when they failed to run and greet him as they usually did when he came home from work. His wife, Rose Ella, said they disappeared when she had her back turned.

After looking about the neighborhood, Holbrook opened the refrigerator on a hunch and discovered his sons.
