American Loop All-Stars Win Monday, 5 To 3

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The second All-Star game of 1959 was a "good production" to "hero" Yogi Berra, the managers, the players and 55,105 fans who saw the American League defeat the National League, 5-3.

The victory reversed the National League's 5-4 win at Pittsburgh last month. National League starting pitcher Don Drysdale, most valuable player of the first All-Star game, was the loser. Berra got his first extra-base hit—a two-run homer—in 11 All-Star games. It won him the second game's most valuable player award.

Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles, who uttered pregame disgruntled criticism of his rookie hurler, Jerry Walker, being pitched to on one day's notice could be proud of the 20-year-old.

Yields Only Two Hits

Walker, the youngest pitcher to start an All-Star game, got credit for the win as he gave up but two hits and one run in the three innings. American League manager Casey Stengel used three Baltimore hurlers despite Richards' criticism, sending in Hoyt Wilhelm for one inning and Billy O'Dell for one.

The second All-Star game proved a financial success with gross receipts of $283,120. The net receipts after taxes were $262,336.47.

In the first All-Star game at Pittsburgh, the crowd of 35,277 paid a gross $229,636 through the gates with a net of $194,303.46.

"It was a good game," a well-played game," Stengel commented in the clubhouse. "And there is nothing wrong with this park."

To ward off possible criticism of his using three Baltimore hurlers, Stengel explained he carefully asked each pitcher if he felt he was ready to throw and felt good.

But nobody felt any better than Berra who said he caught a chest-high fast ball for his homer in the third with Nellie Fox of the White Sox on base. "When I caught it I knew it was a good one and gone," the barrel-chested Yankee catcher explained.

Not Too Unhappy

Things were a little quieter in the National League dressing room but manager Fred Haney of the Braves and all the players did not appear too unhappy about having lost. Haney called the second All-Star game a "good production."

Johnny Temple's leadoff double for the National League led to the game's first run as he was sacrificed home Hank Aaron of the Braves. But the lead did not last long. Frank Malzone of the Red Sox tied it up in the second with the first of five homers in the game, blasting one of Drysdale's throws over the notorious left field screen that starts 251-feet from home plate.

When Berra homered with one aboard in the next inning that all but put the game in the hock shop.

Frank Robinson of Cincinnati might have been the game's hero had the National League won. The Reds' first baseman led off with a homer in the fifth off Early Wynn, getting two more singles for a three-for-three record.

But the Americans increased their lead 4-2 in the seventh when they scored an unearned run as three National League errors, with Nellie Fox driving in Tony Kubek to score.

Taht was the ball game but Rocky Colavito of the Indians frosted the Nationals cake with a leadoff homer in the eighth off Pittsburgh's Elroy Face.

Jim Gilliam of the Dodgers scored the third National League run with a homer in the seventh. But in the ninth with two men on base and two away he grounded out to end the game.

Monroe Hurler Pitches No-Hit Game Monday

A no-hit game by Hill, Monroe hurler, featured the final Decatur game of the Pony League season Monday night at Worthman field.

His own wildness kept Hill from registering a shutout as the Decatur Cardinals scored four runs but were defeated, 6-4.

Hill, incidentally, also had the only hits of the ball game, slugging out a pair of triple against Gay. A hit batsman and an error scored one in the first inning for Monroe. Two more scored in the third on a pair of errors and an infield out, one scored in the fifth on two errors, and the final pair in the sixth on a walk, Hill's second triple and an infield out.

The Cardinals tallied twice in the third on three walks, a hit batsman and an infield out, and two more in the sixth on the same combination.

The final county league game is scheduled Thursday, with Monroe playing at Berne at 8 p. m.

White Sox And Braves Launch Series On Road

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

The pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox and Milwaukee Braves, two red-hot clubs, now face make-or-break "road tests."

If the Sox and Braves can stay hot during road trips that open Tuesday night, they may be able to take a stranglehold on the two pennant races. The Sox have won six straight and 11 of the last 12 (not including one tie); the Braves have won five of the last six.

The Sox actually are in a better spot than the Braves for a pennant drive.

Already three games in front of second-place Cleveland, Chicago collides with Baltimore tonight in the opener of a 13-game trip that could boost their margin. If the Sox return home Aug. 18 with that lead boosted to five or six games, they would be mighty hard to stop as they seek Chicago's first flag in 40 years.

Manager Al Lopez wanted to open the trip with ace Early Wynn on the mound, but he worked in Monday's All-Star game so Barry Latman (4-4) gets the call against lefty Billy Hoelt (1-5).

Milwaukee still is in third place despite its spurt, one game behind San Francisco and a half-game behind Los Angeles.

But things will change abruptly if the defending National League champs stay hot, for their 13-game swing opens with three games in San Francisco, followed by two in Los Angeles. If the Braves come out of these five frays on top, they would be in a fine position to drive for their third straight pennant.

Milwaukee has left ace Warren Spahn (14-10) ready to battle lefty Mike McCormick in the Tuesday night opener.

Los Angeles also is a hot club with six wins in the last seven games and is set to open a home stand against Cincinnati.

In the American League, Cleveland also is opening a road trip that will touch in different order, the same places that the White Sox will visit. The Indians have Jim Perry (7-3) set to oppose Bill Fischer (8-6) of Washington in the opener.

In other Tuesday games, Kansas City is at Boston for a twin-night bill and Detroit at New York for a single night game in the AL while Philadelphia is at Chicago by daylight and Pittsburgh at St. Louis at night in the NL.

Only Light Rainfall Recorded In Decatur

Although no August rain fell in Decatur until early this morning, the St. Mary's river rose to 1.24 feet Monday morning, indicating that scattered showers have fallen in the surrounding area.

August's first rains, which fell early this morning, amounted to .13 inch, weather observer Louis Landrum reported this noon. The St. Mary's river stood at 1.18 feet, having receded from 1.24 feet Monday morning. It had been 1.03 July 31, and then began rising over the weekend, to 1.07 August 1 and 1.19 August 2, until the 1.24 feet August 3.

Little Rock Not To Open Private School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Little Rock's largest private, segregated high school will not be in operation this fall.

W. C. Brashears, principal of the T. J. Raney School said the decision was made Monday night at a meeting of the school's board of directors. He would not elaborate.

Brashears said a complete statement on the future status of the school would be issued later today by Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the Little Rock Private School Corp., which operates the school.

Brashears had announced Monday that 1,226 students had registered for fall classes at the school. He said today the students were being released to register at the city's three white public schools.

The T. J. Raney School was organized last fall to accommodate high school students when Gov. Orval E. Faubus prevented the opening of the city's four high schools to prevent integration of the three white schools.

Two Texas Teams In New Grid Loop

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Owners of the first two of six teams to make up the new professional football league said today there will be no "cut-throat competition" between the American Football League and the current National Football League.

Millionaire oilman K. S. (Bud) Adams, 36, said he will definitely field a team from Houston and that he will be the sole owner of the team. It is the second team to be entered.

Lamar Hunt, 26, who will field a team from Dallas and was the driving force behind the formation of the new league, was on hand when Adams announced his entry into the circuit.

They said that there would definitely be four more teams ready for the 1960 season, and that they would be announced within the next 30 days. They are expected to be from New York, Denver, Los Angeles and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Two additional teams will be added in 1961.

Hunt and Adams, both millionaires, said the new league has a verbal agreement with the National Football League to honor each other's contracts and that there will be an unlimited television policy.

"There isn't going to be any cut-throat competition," Hunt said. "There will be two separate player drafts," Hunt explained. "If a player is drafted by both leagues, he can take his choice."

Hunt said that the American League will be able to televise anywhere in NFL territory, but there is no definite television connection at present.

"It will be sold as a league," he said.

Both of the two Texas teams appeared to be on sound financial footing.
