Queen Elizabeth To Have Third Child

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth expects a baby early next year, Buckingham Palace announced today.

The expected child will be the third for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Prince Charles, heir to the throne, is 10. Princess Anne will be 9 years old next week.

An official palace announcement today ended weeks of speculation that the 33-year-old British monarch was pregnant.

The rumors had started during her Canadian tour which ended last weekend and during which the Queen at one time had to cancel part of her official schedule.

Both the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh always have been anxious to have more children and it was understood they were "very happy" about having another.

The Queen's doctors have stressed that she is in good health. This is based on thorough examinations they carried out over a period of three straight days this week.

The doctors have determined that her illness during her Canadian tour had nothing to do with her pregnancy. It was just an ordinary stomach upset.

Lord Evans, the Queen's chief physician, flew to Germany today on vacation and said before leaving, "The Queen is in good health. There is certainly no need to worry about Her Majesty."

No more precise date has been set for the birth than "early next year."

The new child, if a boy, will take precedence over Princess Anne in line of succession to the throne.

Because of the pregnancy Elizabeth will be unable to carry out the tour of West Africa she and the duke had planned for the fall. She also cancelled for the time being the tour to the Orkney and Shetland islands off Scotland that she was about to undertake.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were married on Nov. 20, 1947. Prince Charles, now the Prince of Wales, was born the next year, Princess Anne in 1950. The British people were told at exactly 2 p.m. London time that their Queen was expecting another child. Immediately after the chiming of Big Ben rang out over the British Broadcasting Corp., an announcer broke the glad tidings.

The new baby will be the first in more than a century to be born to a reigning queen of England. The child will use the same cradle used by royal infants over the past 100 years. The present Queen's great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, ordered the cradle for her first-born.

Neither Prince Charles nor Princess Anne was born while Elizabeth was queen. The last child born to a reigning sovereign of England was Princess Beatrice, daughter of Queen Victoria, and that was on April 14, 1857. She died Oct. 26, 1944.

The last son born to a sovereign was Victoria's eighth child, Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, born April 7, 1853.

Lake County Reports 15th Case Of Polio

WHITING, Ind. (UPI)—Victor McCoy, 4, today was reported as Lake County's 15th polio case this year.

The child, also Whiting's first case in 1959, was dismissed from St. Catherine's Hospital at East Chicago Thursday after his illness was diagnosed as non-paralytic polio.

Doctors said Victor's case was very mild and his condition was good, presumably because he had four polio shots.

Baby Boys Born To Sisters Same Day At Local Hospital

The Adams county memorial hospital was the site of an unusual occurrence Tuesday when two local sisters each gave birth to bouncing baby boys. Hospital authorities report that this is a precedent in the short history of the institution.

Barbara Andrews and Gwen Mies, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Hilyard, of 624 W. Jefferson, presented their parents with 9 lb., 2 oz., and 6 lb., 15 1/2 oz. grandsons, respectively, in the history setting event.

The Mies boy was born earlier than the Andrews child, but the heavyweight of the family was the Andrews infant by more than two pounds. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mies, of 206 1/2 N. Second street, arrived into the world at 10:46 a. m. Tuesday, while the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Andrews did not enter his present surroundings until 7:13 p. m.

Both mothers and children are doing fine at latest report from hospital authorities.

Holes in the Wall
Deep, ugly-looking nail holes in your plaster wall can be filled if you will mix up a little talcum powder or cornstarch with a few drops of water, and force this mixture into the holes, smoothing it off with your fingers around the edges.

Cleaning Wicker
Clean your wicker furniture by scrubbing with a not-too-hard brush and lukewarm soapy water. To rinse it, put the furniture out on the lawn and turn the hose on it.

Milk
To prevent milk from scorching the dish or pan in which it is to be heated, rinse the utensil in cold water before the milk is poured into it.

Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a man asks a girl what kind of flowers she would prefer for her evening dress, should she make any suggestions, especially if the flowers she prefers are expensive?

A. It is always better in this case merely to tell him the color of her dress, and let him choose appropriate flowers. The florist can help him here.

Q. I am very fond of my daughter-in-law, who is soon to have her first baby. Would it be all right for me to give a stork shower for her?

A. Only if friends and relatives have suggested that you give a shower. Otherwise, I don't see how you can ask other persons to buy gifts for a member of your own family.

Q. What am I supposed to say when a sales clerk says "thank you," upon handing me by package and change?

A. You are not required to say anything, but it is nice to respond with a slight nod and perhaps a smile.
