Young Jackets Launch Season With Victory

The Decatur freshman-sophomore team opened its 1959 season Thursday night at Worthman field, defeating Bishop Luers, new Fort Wayne Catholic high school, 26-0.

The young Yellow Jackets scored seven points in the first half, six points in the third quarter and 13 in the final period.

The first touchdown was scored on a pass from Eichenauer to Johnson, the others on long runs, including one of 70 yards by Bolenbacher, one of 40 by Ahr and one good for 30 yards by Thieme.

Two of the conversion points were made on plunges.

The Yellow Jacket varsity will open its home season tonight, meeting the always rugged Auburn Red Devils at Worthman field at 8 o'clock.

Fans are reminded of the later starting time this season, with home games getting underway at 8 o'clock, instead of at 7:30, as has been the custom for several years.

The two junior high teams will play a preliminary game tonight, with the kickoff at 6:30 o'clock.

Taylor To Kick Off College Grid Season

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Taylor's Trojans kick off Indiana's 1959 college football campaign Saturday night at Bluffton, Ohio.

The Hoosier College Conference eleven seeks revenge for a 14-0 shutout suffered at the hands of the Ohioans last year.

Purdue will be the first of the "Big Three" to open the new season, at UCLA, in another night tilt Sept. 18, but Indiana and Notre Dame are idle until Sept. 26, when all of the state's 19 college teams will be in action.

Judge Asks Writ Dissolved In IHSAA Case

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Indiana High School Athletic Association was pictured Thursday as an organization seeking to deny individual rights and privileges guaranteed by the Constitution and Indiana laws.

The charge was made by Special Judge Lester Nixon of Lawrence Circuit Court in the latest round of a much-publicized high school athletic eligibility case.

Nixon filed a brief with the Indiana Supreme Court asking that it dissolve a temporary writ barring him from further action in a case involving two Seymour basketball players.

The legal battle between the IHSAA and Billy Joe and Frank Stevenson began last year when the IHSAA ruled that the lanky Negro youths were forever ineligible to play basketball for Seymour High School. The IHSAA made the ruling on the grounds that "undue influence" was used to move the Stevenson family from Joppa, Ill., to Seymour.

Attorneys for the Stevensons took the case to Jackson Circuit Court and it later was moved to Lawrence Circuit Court on a change of venue.

After months of legal maneuvering, attorneys for the IHSAA on Aug. 13 obtained a temporary restraining order from the Supreme Court ordering Nixon to refrain from further action in the case and to show cause why the temporary order should not be made permanent.

In his reply Thursday, Nixon said a school corporation "cannot delegate, cede away, contract away or disable itself from performing its public duties."

"Shields High School of Seymour, Indiana, cannot contract or delegate to others (the IHSAA) the right and duty to make rules and regulations, restrictions and limitations as to who of its pupils may or may not engage in any physical training or athletic activities carried on by that school," Nixon said in his blistering attack against the IHSAA.

The General Assembly granted the IHSAA "no power, authority or right" to govern the activities of any school, he said.

Nixon also took issue with the contention of attorneys for the IHSAA that the organization is voluntary and hence does not come under the jurisdiction of the courts.

Decisions of a voluntary association could not be binding on the Stevensons boys, he said. "He said 14-year-old Frank is compelled to attend Seymour's only high school because of his age. Sixteen-year-old Billy Joe 'has a right' to attend the school, Nixon said.

"The rights of these plaintiffs (the Stevensons) do not flow from the IHSAA, or its constitution, by-laws, rules or regulations," he said. "Their rights stem from the Constitution and statutes of Indiana to attend Shields High School with all its rights, privileges and benefits."

Nixon also stressed the fact that all 750 member schools of the IHSAA, as individuals, are involved in the court case, a contention denied by IHSAA attorneys.

The Indiana Supreme Court has ruled in a previous case that the naming of the association "in fact, means its members," he said.

Attorneys for the IHSAA said previously that if the high court issues a permanent writ against Nixon, the organization will have won the battle. If the high court denies a permanent writ and dissolves the temporary writ, the case would be returned to Nixon for final disposition.

Both sides have indicated a willingness to appeal any decision all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Roy Emerson Hopes To Upset Olmedo

FOREST HILLS (UPI) — Roy Emerson, the "forgotten Australian," is gunning for an upset today against Wimbledon champion Alex Olmedo of Peru in the quarter-finals of the U.S. singles tennis championship.

Olmedo, big Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, Neale Fraser and Rod Laver of Australia, are favored to hammer their way into the semi-finals but if there's any monkey-wrench tossing Emerson figures he's the man to do it.

"If all depends on how Olmedo plays," said the 22-year-old Emerson, who ranks second to Fraser in his country but was passed over in favor of third-ranked Laver in Davis Cup singles play.

"Unless Olmedo has one of those inspired days, I think I can beat him. Anyway, I'm keen for the try."

The peculiar Peruvian, however, is building up to the mental peak that carried him to the heights in 1958 Davis Cup competition, in the Australian championships and again at Wimbledon. Alex is a big favorite to face Fraser in Sunday's final.

MacKay, America's chief hope among the three U.S. survivors, meets Bernard (Tut) Bartenz of San Antonio, Tex., in another quarter-final and one Yank automatically will be eliminated. Laver plays the third American, Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn.

Fraser, a slashing lefty who licked both Olmedo and MacKay in the Davis Cup challenge round and won the doubles with Emerson plays Pan-American champ Luis Ayala of Chile in the other quarterfinal.

Many Question Marks On I.U. Football Team

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana's 1959 football team is a series of if's. Coach Phil Dickens said today, but he figures it should be better than last year's eleven despite its final record.

"It's a lot of 'if' somebody comes through here, or if somebody comes through there," he said. "We'll know better what we'll do."

A year ago, he said, after spring practice he expected his team to win one game. It won five, tied one and lost three. This year he expected to win "two games, maybe three."

"I don't know which ones," he added, "but maybe we can luck out somewhere. We're in about the same boat we were last year, and lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, or miracles happen two years in a row."

Has Young Squad

Two thirds of his squad are sophomores, so inexperience will be a problem, but most of their rookies who will see action will be in the backfield and will add speed, always a problem previously.

In the line he'll have lettermen most of the way, except for an all sophomore cast at center, but only one interior lineman, tackle Bob Corrigan, was a starter last year. At ends both Ted Auereman and Earl Faison are back.

Dickens was pleased with his blocking backs, Wil Scott, Eddel Fritz and Tom Burgess, rating them good blockers with less than average speed, and his fullbacks, Vic Jones, and sophomores Don Cromer and Frank Anderson.

"I feel our fullbacks are a little faster, so we can move them to left halfback when we switch to the T," he said. "Only one of them was fast last year, Jones."

Adds Winged T

This change enabled Dickens to add the winged T to his single wing attack, and he anticipated running about 25 per cent of his plays from that formation.

At wingback Randy Williams and Richie Bradford, both lettermen, were running I-2, and at tailback it was Ted Smith with sophomores John Henry Jackson and Willie Hunter behind him. He planned to platoon Smith, as much as possible, to put one of the sophomores into action on defense.

"I sure hope the ball bounces right," he said. "We're going to need it more than we did last year because there won't be any element of surprise left for us."

Bears And Giants To Tangle Tonight

United Press International

The New York Giants, one of the National Football League's most defensive-minded teams, run into the high-scoring Chicago Bears tonight in a nationally-televized exhibition game.

The Bears scored 106 points in their last two pre-season games while the Giants have not permitted a touchdown in their last two exhibitions.

Tonight's contest will be televised by CBS, starting at 11:15 p.m. e.d.t.

Coach Red Hickey of San Francisco Thursday drilled his team in defensive tactics for Saturday night's game against the Rams at Los Angeles. The Forty-Niner coach concentrated particularly on stopping the Rams' Jon Arnett, who specializes in punt returns.

The Philadelphia Eagles acquired veteran guard Stan Campbell from the Detroit Lions in exchange for a 1960 draft choice. Campbell, a 230-pounder from Iowa State, played on the Detroit championship teams of 1952 and 1957.
