To date, she went on to explain, the plant has processed more than 2,000 tons of tomatoes and that production is expected to cease here the week after next, if all goes well. Farmers are planning one more picking tour of the fields.

She concluded by saying that the farmers had been most cooperative this season and the labor situation was never less of a concern because of the assistance given by the local and state officials.

Crop Statistical Estimates

Estimates from the state-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue show that other crops figures will also fluctuate this year.

Sweet canning corn: 57-600 tons.
