

DECATUR DAILY DEMOCRAT

ONLY DAILY NEWSPAPER IN ADAMS COUNTY

Decatur, Indiana, Thursday, Sept. 24, 1959.

Vol. LVII. No. 225.

Six Cents

IOWA FARMING GETS NIKITA'S NOD—Pausing in his whirlwind tour of Iowa's agricultural heartland during his visit to Coon Rapids farm of Roswell Garst, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev examines a stand of grain, then went on to view other crops and cattle which he praised heartily. He attended a tent-covered, pool-side buffet on the farm; sat next to two-time presidential aspirant Adlai Stevenson whom he advised "a politician should never become discouraged," and, patting a well-fed farmer's stomach, remarked: "Ah! this is America!" Next stop—Pittsburgh.

Nikita Visits In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Gov. David L. Lawrence, one of the top Democrats in the East, told Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev today that President Eisenhower speaks for a united country in the field of foreign relations.

"In America, politics stop at the water's edge," Lawrence said.

Khrushchev was a guest at the student union building at the University of Pittsburgh after a tour through one of the few steel mills in the nation not shut down by the 72-day strike.

The Communist leader chatted easily and shook hands with workers in the plants, dozens of whom left their machines to meet him. One man gave Khrushchev a cigar. Khrushchev promptly took off his wrist watch and handed it to the workman.

Foreign Affairs Unity

Lawrence's reminder that both major parties are behind the President in his dealing with Russia came in an address prepared for delivery at the lunch.

It was the second statement by a top Democrat today. Adlai Stevenson, who talked with Khrushchev at Coon Rapids, Iowa, Wednesday said in a Chicago statement he believed Khrushchev was serious in his sweeping disarmament proposals and was ready to negotiate on inspection and control.

Lawrence said that "in any grave crisis in our foreign relations, we are immediately as one with our President."

"In his negotiations with the statement of the world, President Eisenhower speaks for a united country.

Heavy Guard at Plant

Khrushchev drove around the steel city in an open cream-colored convertible. In the downtown area, people hung from office buildings and waved. There were some cheers.

There was an extremely heavy security guard at the Mesta Machine Co. plant, built by the late husband of Perle Mesta. About 91,000 steelworkers are on strike in the Pittsburgh area, but the Mesta plant is not organized by the union.

Mrs. Khrushchev went on a separate expedition for one of the first times during the tour today. She and her daughters toured the University of Pittsburgh.

Khrushchev arrived here at 11:05 p.m. Wednesday and was greeted by Mayor Thomas J. Gallagher, who presented him the key to the city.

Won't "Misuse" Key

Obviously pleased by the gesture, Khrushchev quipped that he was thankful "for the confidence you have shown me."

"I want to assure you," Khrushchev told a crowd of 500 persons at a U.S. Air Force base adjacent to Greater Pittsburgh Airport, "that I will not misuse the key. I will open only those doors shown me by the mayor. I will

INDIANA WEATHER

Partly cloudy to cloudy this afternoon and tonight, scattered showers north and central gradually ending. Sunset 6:39 p.m. Low tonight 58 to 66. Sunrise Friday 6:35 a.m. Mostly cloudy Friday, showers probably developing over most of north portion, partly cloudy south, warmer central. High 70 to 78 north; 78 to 87 south, low Friday night in the 60s. Outlook for Saturday: Partly cloudy, a little warmer north. High in 80s.

use it to open no other doors."

The presentation, first of its kind since Khrushchev arrived in his country, came as a surprise to the delegation accompanying him.

"It was a very nice gesture," Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, told Gallagher.

Perry McGill Dies Late This Morning

Perry S. McGill, 84, of 224 North Fourth street, retired farmer, died at 11 o'clock this morning at the South View rest home at Bluffton. He had been in failing health for the past year and seriously ill for one week.

He was born in Van Wert county, O., April 3, 1875, a son of James and Mollie McPeak-McGill, and had lived in Adams county most of his life.

Surviving are two sons, Murlin McGill, who made his home with his father; and Clive McGill of near Decatur; one brother, Gaylord McGill of Mishawaka, and one sister, Mrs. Myrtle Book of Van Wert.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Black funeral home, the Rev. Edward Pacha officiating. Burial will be in the Decatur cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Friday until time of the services.

Concedes State Time Situation Muddled

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Gov. General Assembly "to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis.

Handley said he asked the 1959

to either give the tools to enforce the present law or else repeal it. But they did not see fit to do either."

The governor said the situation "has become ridiculous."

"Cities have found loopholes to defy the law and nothing can be done about it," he said.

Handley said he did not object to efforts by several cities to have the Interstate Commerce Commission put portions of eastern Indiana in the Eastern time zone.

"Anything to diminish the confusion would be helpful," he said.

At the same time, Handley pointed out that all contract lettings, official meetings and government business would be performed on CST after Sunday.

On other subjects, Handley

said former State Rep. Philip Willkie was "out of line" when the son of the former GOP presidential nominee said high schools are becoming "baby-sitting emporiums." Handley said "I'm glad I'm not in school today because it is more difficult than ever."

—Said he would actively campaign for House Minority Leader Charles Halleck if the Rensselaer Republican wins the GOP vice presidential nomination next year.

"The people of Indiana have every right to be proud of Charlie," he said. "We have had our differences, but it's nothing serious."

—Promised to continue to support Lt. Governor Crawford F. Parker's campaign to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination such as Indianapolis