Tricky Dicky

The announcement by Drew Pearson Friday that union president David McDonald, head of the 600,000-man steelworkers, is now committed to Nixon for president in gratitude for the Veep's part in getting through the 39-cent steelworkers raise, comes as no surprise to those who have watched Nixon's career.

A ruthless, grasping, politician, he defeated Mrs. Helen Gahagen Douglas for U.S. Senator by circulating faked pictures of her with a picture of Communist Earl Browder faded in, to make it appear that they were in intimate conversation. (The same trick used in Maryland to defeat Millard Tydings.)

McDonald apparently is more interested in keeping his job by gaining wage increases for his union than he is in seeing a president elected who has the interest of his country, not personal greed, at heart. Before believing the Madison-street advertising boys who are out to build up Nixon's reputation, take a close look at the man, and see if he adds up to the kind that you want in office.

Week Of Prayer

(Editor's note: The Decatur ministerial association urges daily prayer by Decatur residents during this Week of Prayer. Today's suggested text.)

WHAT TO PRAY FOR

We pray as a child goes to a loving parent. Our whole living, all we think and do, is a subject for our prayers. Nothing that is important to us is too trivial to pray about.

Familiar subject for Christians' prayers are given below, in an order which thinking may naturally take. No habitual order could suit all occasions. Prayer must be free to go where the thought of God lead it. But such an outline when consciously followed helps make a prayer full and keeps one's mind from wandering.

Consciousness of God. We must know to whom we speak; prayer must start with as vivid a sense of God as we can have. We speak to Him by a name that suits our need—"loving Father" or "almighty God." Then we think of Who He is and what He does. We think of God as Jesus Christ revealed Him, because Jesus made God seem very near and definite. He showed the infinite and mysterious Being to be a Father whom we can know and love and talk to.

Confession. In the light of this thought of God, we see ourselves as shabby, unkind, unworthy, evil. We review what we have done and thought and missed. Our confession should not be formal—"I have sinned," but definite—"I was bad tempered this morning."

Revival. Shame over what we are leads to the thought that, by God's help, we can be better. We are not left in discouragement. First, we must truly hate our evil and be willing to try to right the wrong that it has done. Then, as we pray, we can feel the mysterious influence of Christ repairing us—giving us back clean minds and strong wills and delight in goodness.

Thanksgiving. Such kindness reminds us of all that God's love gives us. We think of some of the blessings that make life good for us. With an answering love we pour out our thanks to Him.

Petition. We think then of other things we need. We ask God for definite things (daily bread, health, safety); for qualities (comfort, peace of mind, self-control); for guidance in a problem we may be facing.

Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Where do you think the best man at a wedding should keep the ring which he later turns over to the bridegroom at the proper time in the ceremony?

A. To avoid fumbling for the ring, he should not keep it in a pocket. The best place for the ring, I think, is squeezed onto one of his fingers.

Q. Is a soup bowl ever placed on the table without a plate or saucer under it?

A. No, not anymore than you would place a coffee cup on the table without its saucer. A saucer should always be placed under a soup, cereal, or dessert bowl.

Q. Is it proper to wear bracelets and rings over one's evening gloves?

A. Bracelets may properly be worn over the gloves—but never the rings. Leave your rings inside the gloves, where they belong.

Q. My high school sorority is giving a dance. Do we girls pay for everything, including corsages and entertainment?

A. Each girl buys the tickets for herself and her escort and, of course, pays her share to the sorority for whatever food and entertainment is provided. Your escorts, however, buy your corsages and provide the transportation.

Q. The soloist and organist who will sing and play at my wedding are very close friends of our family, and are not asking a fee. Should I give them some sort of gift instead?

A. This would be an appreciative thing for you to do.

Q. Does a man, when signing a hotel register, preface his name with "Mr."?

A. No. A woman, however, prefixes either "Miss" or "Mrs." in order that the hotel personnel may know how to address her.

Bob Conrad Is First TV Beefcake Hero

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comes now television's first beefcake hero—an actor whose muscles bulge flagrantly every week in the detective series "Hawaiian Eye."

As co-star of the whodunit, Bob Conrad, 24, spends almost as much time parading around in a swim suit as he does fully clothed.

If you stop and think about it, how many real-life private eyes lol around in swim shorts? Like where would they hide their revolvers? And how many bad guys hang around swimming pools in Honolulu? Or for that matter, how many detectives know how to swim?

These questions assailed Bob out at Warner Brothers Studios, but any thoughts of mutiny were dispelled when the bosses showed him the fan mail.

Conrad's letters were filled with praise for his biceps—mostly from teen-age girls who flip their pony tails for the guy.

What does Bob think of being TV's first male beathing beauty? "It beats being a dock worker," he said.

"That's how I got started with the muscles, working on the docks in Chicago when I was 16 years old for $1.86 an hour. When we weren't pushing freight around we'd arm wrestle to build up our strength. Physical strength became an important thing on the docks."

When Bob invaded Hollywood more than a year ago he got flabby—gaining 15 pounds and adding four inches to his waistline.

"I put a stop to that by boxing 10 rounds every other day. On alternate days I do 400 consecutive situps and work out on the parallel bars," he said. "Now my weight is down to 157 and my waist is 29."

Table Tennis Balls
Dented table tennis or pingpong balls can be renovated if you pour some boiling water over them. The heat of the water expands the air inside the balls and the dents disappear.

Baking Bread
When baking bread, if the oven is too hot and the loaves brown on top before the bread is baked, place a pan of boiling water on the top grate. The steam will keep the bread from scorching while the heat thoroughly bakes the rest of the loaf.

Paint Removal
To loosen old paint on hinges, screws, or similar metal objects, soak them in household ammonia or an hour or so.

New Paint Brush
When you buy a new paint brush, soak the bristles in linseed oil overnight. This makes it easier to clean the bristles later on. Before using the brush, the linseed oil should be squeezed out and the bristles cleaned in turpentine or mineral spirits.

Very important, obviously. But not so important to us that we sacrifice serving every family's need by just offering quality priced funerals. No. We believe in providing a wide scale of prices so that every family can come to us, be served by us, and come out of bereavement financially intact.
