Ten Churches

On Sunday this week, ministers in the Presbyterian, Brethren, Reformed, Christian, Methodist, E.U.B., and Baptist churches will ask that their members bring blankets the following Sunday, January 24, to help with project WRAP.

WRAP stands for World Refugee Action Program, and will provide warm blankets for 100,000 cold and hungry people who urgently need this expression of God's love.

But there will be no 100,000 blankets from Indiana unless the Christians of this community pitch in and help. Quilts and blankets, clean and ready for use, are needed urgently. In addition, 25¢ is needed with each blanket to help transport it to the needy person. If you have an extra blanket, bring it; if not, help supply money so that the blankets can be sent to those who need them through Christian agencies.

The motto of the drive is, "Share Blankets, Save Brothers!"

Buys Health Bond
Help Fight TB

Use Christmas Seals

The Carpenters Union has voted purchase of a $5 health bond, officials of the Christmas seal campaign in Adams county announced today. All proceeds from the annual sale are used in the fight on tuberculosis and to provide clinics and otherwise carry on the fight against the "white plague."

20 Years Ago
Today

Jan. 16, 1940—The United States senate has approved the nomination of Leo W. Kirsch as Decatur postmaster.

Elmer W. Baumgartner, cashier of the First Bank of Berne, has been elected president of the Berne Chamber of Commerce.

Expenditures from the Adams county dog fund to the 12 townships in the county for sheep and poultry killed by dogs during 1939 totaled $2,846.23.

Ward Acheson, 56, prominent restaurant owner of Willshire, O., died of complications following surgery for removal of his appendix.

More than 1,200 persons braved the cold weather to attend the Fred Bays meeting at the Decatur high school, opening the Democratic political campaign in the county.

Modern Etiquette
By ROBERTA LEE

Q. When one is a house guest, should one make the move to go to bed or does this suggestion always have to come from the hosts?

A. Usually the hostess suggests that perhaps the guest is tired and would like to go to bed. On the other hand, if the guest is really tired, she herself can properly admit this fact.

Q. If one has received an announcement of a marriage, but was not invited to either the wedding or reception, is one supposed to send a gift?

A. Not usually. It's up to you. Q. Is one supposed to tip the golf pro who has given one some special instructions?

A. No.

Q. At a wedding reception, in what positions should the wedding party stand in the receiving line?

A. The bride should stand at the right of the bridegroom, with her maid of honor at her right, the bridesmaids next. The best man and ushers do not stand in the line.

Q. What do you consider the best rule to follow in regard to a well-set dinner table?

A. That the well-set table bears the least number of pieces possible. The over-burdened table is in poor taste, as is also the table that is over-decorated.

Q. If a widow is to be remarried, and she has always worn her first wedding ring, would it be proper for her to wear both wedding rings?

A. Certainly not.

Clergymen Differ
Over Candidacy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The clergymen of one major Protestant denomination are sharply divided in their attitudes toward a Catholic presidential candidate, a poll disclosed today.

The denomination is the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. which has about 3,100,000 members mostly in northern and western states.

The views of its clergy were solicited by a magazine named "Monday Morning" which is published by the denomination and distributed free to all of its members.

Of the 10,947 ministers on the mailing lists, 1,047, or about 10 per cent, filled out and returned a questionnaire which appeared in the Nov. 16 edition. Since the questionnaire had to be clipped out, pasted to a postcard and mailed, a voluntary response of 10 per cent indicated a fairly strong interest.

Three Statements
The questionnaire consisted of three statements supposed to cover the range of possible Protestant attitudes toward a Catholic presidential candidate. Clergymen were asked to check whether they agreed, disagreed or were undecided about each statement.

The most "liberal" position was reflected by the statement: "The religious affiliation of a presidential candidate is irrelevant." Only 57 of the clergymen agreed with this, while 875 positively disagreed. Seventeen were undecided and the rest didn't respond to the statement.

High Response
The opposite extreme of view was represented by the statement: "A Protestant minister might support a Roman Catholic candidate if the candidate gave assurance he would uphold the principle and practice of separation of church and state."

Agreement was expressed by 469 ministers, and disagreement by 445. Seventy-seven said they were undecided.

The only avowed Catholic presidential aspirant, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is on record with assurances that he would uphold church-state separation. Neither Kennedy nor any other possible candidate was mentioned by name in the poll, however.

Soil Bank Program
Handling Is Scored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Comptroller General Joseph Campbell accused the Agriculture Department today of slipshod handling of the multi-million-dollar soil bank program.

Campbell, head of the general accounting office, congressional "watchdog" on federal spending, said in a report to Congress that nearly one-fourth of the land placed in the soil bank was not used regularly to grow crops.

The soil bank is designed to keep crop-producing acreage idle through a system of rental payments to farmers and cut down huge crop surpluses.

Campbell's soil bank report was one of three he delivered to Congress.

In the soil bank report, Campbell said a preliminary estimate by the Agriculture Department showed that last year 5,400,000 or 23 per cent of the 23 million acres the government rented "had been devoted to hay and pasture, had been idle or summer-fallowed, or had a history of crop failure."
