Wabash Valley Meet To Open Wednesday

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI)—Bloomfield's defending champions go into this week's Wabash Valley high school basketball tournament preliminaries as a good bet to repeat.

But word leaked out this could be the first time since 1944 for an Illinois quintet to emerge victorious.

A field of 110 will open firing at 13 centers Wednesday night, including half a dozen Illinois teams at Marshall, Ill. Hutsontville, Ill., champ in 1933, is the only unbeaten club with a 13-game string.

Guy Glover Jr., the Bloomfield coach, predicted that Hutsontville will be tough, along with such Hoosier hopefuls as Brazil, Covington, Plainfield and Rockville. Also not to be overlooked were Glenn, which handed Riley its first loss in 14 starts Saturday night, and once-beaten Otter Creek.

Bloomfield, beaten only by Carlisle, won its 14th game Saturday night at the expense of Mitchell, 82-59. The Cardinals are built around 6-4 Jack Spinks, a center who averages about 17 points a game.

Bloomfield spanked Brownsburg for its second title last year, 72-54. The Cardinals also won in 1938.

The Terre Haute "name" teams—Garfield, Gerstmeier and Wiley—are sitting out this two-week shoot, just as last year, but none of the three has been a standout this season.

Bloomfield opens its tourney bid against L & M at Switz City Thursday night. Other first-round tourneys will be played at Brownsburg, Van Buren, Clinton, Athens, Eminence, Marshall, Odon, Rockville, Spencer, Honey Creek, Sullivan and Vincennes.

Sixteen quarter-finalists will emerge from the 13 preliminary sessions and the four finalists will be determined Jan. 28-29 at Brazil, Clinton, Sullivan and Switz City.

The finals, as every year, will be held here, this time on Jan. 30.
