

One Hundred Years

The Adams county historical society last night heard three men speak on the history of scouting. The fourth man to speak pointed out that the first three had been active in scouting for a total of more than 100 years.

Bryce Thomas, principal of Lincoln school, started with scouting as a scout himself in 1913, just three years after the movement was founded in the United States. For many years he was scoutmaster of the Rotary troop. He is still active on the council level. He represents 47 years in scouting.

Lowell J. Smith, history teacher at Decatur high school, became active in scouting about 1931. At that time, Smith, who was raised on the farm and had no opportunity for such a thing as camping and scouting, barely knew what the word "scout" meant. He took over as scoutmaster for the Lions club troop, however, and soon learned.

At the same time Sylvester Everhart became active in scouting. He has served the council, district and section for many years on the commissioner staff, and has always been active in camping activities. He is in charge of the scout cabin, and the pop corn stand at Worthman field during the summer. He has attended every national jamboree, and will be heading west to Colorado this summer.

In 1936 there were five scouting units in Adams county with 95 scouts and 31 cubs, for a total of 126. Last year, 23 years later, there were 17 units, 169 scouts, 292 cub scouts, and 51 explorers, for a total of 512.

The goal of the Anthony Wayne council, which was formed in 1927 with Adams county as one of the charter counties, is to reach 10,000 boys this year, the Golden Year of Scouting.

Only one thing keeps boys out of scouts—the lack of trained and dedicated men to serve as scoutmasters, troop chairmen, institutional representatives, and on the committee.

If you are interested in boys, and seeing that they get all of the benefits of Boy Scout training, learning how to get along with others while having fun camping and hiking, why not call up Steve Everhart, and ask what you can do to learn more about scouting? Maybe you can have the great pleasure which comes from helping others in your leisure time.

The greatest reward in life is to know in your own mind that you have helped others to achieve a niche in life that fulfills the promise of their industry and intelligence. Oftentimes it is the lack of a chance to know how to get along with others that keeps a young man from reaching the pinnacle of success.

Scouting is one of the very best ways to get the most out of youth. It includes an outdoor program that is unexcelled, plus a program of advanced study in merit badge work that leads to expanding interests in life.

The three men, mentioned above, are only a few of the many dedicated persons who are active in scouting. There are many active men behind every troop of boys.

Michels Appointed As Senior Chemist

Alan P. Michels

The appointment of Alan P. Michels as senior development chemist in its development laboratory department at Decatur, has been announced by the Central Soya Company, Inc.

In his position, he will be responsible for process and product development problems connected with soybean processing operations and feed research.

Michels came to Central Soya from E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., where he was head of the laboratory of the company's hydrogen peroxide plant at Penn Yan, N. Y.

He is a graduate of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and received his M. S. degree in synthetic organic chemistry from the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., in 1949.

During World War II, Michels served five years as a pilot with the Air Force in the air transport command.

Reminds Aliens Of Address Deadline

J. D. Perfetto, officer in charge of the immigration and naturalization service, reminded aliens in Indiana today that January 31 is the deadline for filing address reports as required under provisions of the 1952 immigration and nationality act.

The immigration official urged aliens who have not yet filed their address reports to do so no later than January 31 to avoid possible penalties.

Failure to comply with the requirements can mean a fine, jail sentence or deportation for a willful violation.

Perfetto said the law requires that every alien except those having diplomatic status, representatives of certain international organizations and persons admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers must file the address report during January of each year at the nearest post office or immigration and naturalization service office.

Perfetto said an estimated 28,000 aliens in this state have filed address reports so far this January.

Perfetto said a total of 30,577 aliens filed address reports in Indiana last year. Reports for 1960 are expected to total 32,500.

Humphrey Favorite In Wisconsin Vote

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Internationa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy will wear heavy protective padding into his Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary contest against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy's padding is necessary to blunt the built-in Wisconsin advantages enjoyed by Humphrey. The padding consists of a smartly ballyhooed campaign to identify Kennedy as definitely the Wisconsin underdog.

The ballyhoo has set Kennedy up as a candidate of much courage. By deciding to enter the Wisconsin primary, Kennedy revealed himself to be a man who dared to take a long chance with his political future.

All of this was achieved in a matter of a fortnight or so by Kennedy's brother's Robert and Edward, who told newsmen here and there around the nation that brother John should stay out of Wisconsin because it would be an unfair contest. Robert and Edward made of Humphrey an almost invincible candidate in Wisconsin because he lives in neighboring Minnesota and over the years has become as well known in one state as in the other—a two-state favorite son.

Kennedy Will Gain

These advantages Humphrey undoubtedly does possess. The preliminary ballyhoo, however, probably has created a public state of mind which expects Kennedy to be licked in Wisconsin and which will credit him with a moral victory if he is not licked too badly.

If Humphrey loses, he probably is dead as a presidential candidate. Not so, Kennedy!

Kennedy's pre-convention drive for the presidency has too much steam for it to be derailed in Wisconsin unless the vote is utterly lop-sided in Humphrey's behalf. If Kennedy comes in a moderately good second to Humphrey, then Humphrey's standing will suffer because he failed to lick Kennedy in a big way. And Kennedy will gain as the man who ran well in an admittedly uphill sprint.

Whoever it may be who makes campaign strategy in the Kennedy for-president headquarters, he is a pretty smart fellow and deserves a raise.

The Wisconsin primary and certain political factors related to it probably are over-estimated this year as in previous presidential years. The facts are that the Wisconsin test sometimes has had a direct bearing on the nomination of a presidential candidate and sometimes it has had none.

Q. My cleaning woman, who is from the south, always addresses me as "Miss Joan," instead of "Mrs. Smith." Is this improper?

A. I think not. This is an old southern custom for house servants, and I think it has a certain charm about it.
