

Find Family Of Five Dead Of Gas Fumes

GEORGETOWN, Ill. (UPI) — A young mother and father and their three small children were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Wednesday night in their home in this small central Illinois town.

Officials said all five apparently asphyxiated Monday night when deadly fumes from a gas heater were blocked by a plugged flue and seeped back into the four-room home.

The dead were identified as Ronald Reese Pearson, 29, a construction worker; his wife, Shirley, 26; two daughters, Bonnie Sue, 7, and Sherry, 2, and a son, Ronald Jr., 4.

It was the second such tragedy in Illinois in the last five days. A family of eight was found dead in their Thomson, Ill., home last Sunday. A faulty oil heater was blamed for their deaths.

Ask Rededication Of War Memorial

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An American Legion delegation asked Governor Handley Wednesday to take steps toward rededicating the Indiana World War Memorial in honor of veterans of World War II and the Korean War in addition to World War I veterans.

Handley told officers of Melvaine-Kothe Post 153 he thought it was "a very fine idea." He said he might suggest to the 1961 General Assembly that it formally designate the memorial as a tribute to veterans of both world wars and the Korean conflict. "It now appears, after nearly a half century of interminable delay, that the World War Memorial in the capital city of Indiana will finally be completed," the legionaires told the governor.

The Second Presbyterian Church has been razed and the First Baptist Church is due to come down sometime this year, thus giving the memorial full command of the plaza as originally intended, the delegation said.

The legionaires noted that Handley and the legislators would have a precedent for dedicating the memorial to cover veterans of three wars. The Soldiers' and Sailors' monument in downtown Indianapolis is a tribute to Civil War veterans but by the time it was completed, its dedication was enlarged to cover the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican War and the Spanish-American War.

Joseph Azbell Named As Chief Engineer

The promotion of Joseph F. Azbell, 207 Linberlost Trail, Decatur, to the position of chief engineer, effective immediately, has been announced by the Central Soya Company, Inc.

Azbell will be responsible for directing all activities of the company's engineering department, which is located at Decatur. He will coordinate engineering methods and procedures, and advise management on engineering problems. A 1938 mechanical engineering graduate of Purdue University, Azbell joined Central Soya in 1947, following eight years with the General Chemical company. He was maintenance superintendent of Central Soya's Decatur plant from 1947 to 1954, when he was promoted to assistant chief engineer, the position he held at the time of his promotion to chief engineer.
