The World Council of Churches has a new president—Archbishop Iakovos of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America.

The Evangelical and Reformed church and the United Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. have launched their first interracial congregations in Philadelphia in pilot programs involving four churches that were once flourishing white congregations.

Alcoholics Anonymous have celebrated their 25th anniversary. A Wall Street broker named Bill W. decided to quit drinking 25 years ago, after a spiritual awakening. This led to the formation of A.A. which now has 250,000 members around the world.

King Hussein of Jordan has expressed his country's thanks for Church World Service aid to impoverished Bedouin tribes and Arab refugees. The youthful monarch noted that gifts of sheep are the thing most needed by the Bedouins, who still suffer from recent drought and crop failure.

Nearly 1,000 persons attended the second congress of Swiss Protestant universities held at Zurich under the theme "Christ and peace." Among them were many prominent personalities in various walks of life. Topics included the conflict between ideologies, the use of nuclear weapons, conscientious objection and the Christian responsibility toward undeveloped countries.

A historic manuscript Bible from fourteenth century Hungary will be placed on special exhibition in the Library of Congress opposite the Gutenberg Bible during 1960. The Bible is one of the finest medieval manuscripts in the United States. A number of monastic scribes shared in the writing of the Bible and at least three artists illustrated it. The Library of Congress has owned the Bible since 1937.

Some Tension, Please!
Don't get rid of all your tensions. You need some.
With all the talk going around about tension and hypertension, did you ever stop to think where the world would be without it?
What would run your watch? What would support your trousers or your nylon? How could the indispensable push-button operate?
Tensions may be bad or good, detrimental or beneficial, depending upon our reaction to them and the use to which we put them.
There needs to be a constant struggle between what we are and what we should be; our status and our aspirations. No life can long exist without the pull toward improvement. One key to healthy, mature living is "creative dissatisfaction."
This is what motivated the Wrights to give us the airplane, Fulton the steamboat, Whitney the cotton gin.
Every life, to realize its intended potential, must respond to that upward-tug which God has planted within.
—Arkansas Baptist

I had a friend tell me the other day that they enjoyed little quips more than most anything else they read. He said that he and his wife would read them and then discuss them and beautiful pictures of truth would unfold before them. So for those of you that feel the same way, this is for you. "Consider the postage stamp, my son. It secures success through its ability to stick to one thing till it gets there." (Josh Billings). "Pessimism is only the name that men of weak nerves give to wisdom." (Bernard De Voto). "The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher." (T. H. Huxley). "The most completely lost of all days is the one on which we have not laughed." This then for everyone—See you in Church on Sunday! God Bless you.
