Since 1945, the American Cancer Society has devoted some $76,500,000 to cancer research. It is now contributing to the support of 1,300 topflight scientists in 145 hospitals, universities, and other institutions. Working with these key investigators are some 3,000 technicians or being trained for larger responsibilities. Every phase of cancer is under research attack. The American Cancer Society needs the support of all if it is to continue and expand this intensive research program. Give to the 1960 Cancer Crusade.

About every four minutes another American who has had cancer is saved. This has been brought about by early diagnosis and improved methods of treatment. Support the American Cancer Society's April Crusade for funds for research, education and service to cancer patients.

Boost Food Prices On State Toll Road

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Hamburgers and hotdogs will cost more in restaurants along the Indiana toll road this summer.

The Indiana Toll Road Commission held its monthly meeting Friday and approved a price boost for about 30 food items.

The price of a hamburger will increase from 35 to 40 cents and hotdogs also will go up a nickel. Increases ranged from 5 cents for the hamburgers and hotdogs to 25 cents for a club sandwich.

Interstate Hosts, Inc., restaurant concessionaires for the road, requested the price boost to meet increased operating costs.

The commission also approved, over Interstate's objections, a $14,057 annual increase in rental of the restaurant commissary near Elkhart. It said the rent increase would compensate for expansion of the facilities last year at a cost of $140,570.

Although food prices were increased, the commission indicated toll charges for vehicles would remain the same during 1960.

It adopted a report prepared by its traffic engineers, Wilbur Smith & Associates, New Haven, Conn., which said it would not be necessary to raise tolls since the road was meeting its operating requirements. The report said earnings in 1959 were $862,408 in excess of operating expenses and bond interest.

The Smith firm also was asked to study a request for construction of a new interchange at New Canfield, about midway between South Bend and Elkhart.

The request was submitted in the form of a petition by about 500 residents of St. Joseph and LaPorte Counties and Berrien County, Mich.

The commission said its agreement with bondholders prohibited it from constructing new interchanges unless they "are proved financially feasible."

The commission awarded contracts totaling $100,344 for the purchase of road maintenance machinery and trucks.

Seeks End To Filibuster On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. said today he hoped his Senate rules committee could agree Monday on Negro voting safeguards that might help end the record-breaking civil rights filibuster now past the 100-hour mark.

The Missouri Democrat, who attended the talkathon for the first time Friday after being out two weeks with a chest infection, called the rules group to a meeting Monday morning. He told reporters, "I hope we can come up with something."

The senators, weary by the around-the-clock session that began at noon Monday, looked forward to a respite Sunday from the endless Southern speeches and the periodic quorum calls which have interrupted attempts to sleep on office couches and Army cots.

The grind will be broken late this afternoon or tonight in order to follow the tradition of not meeting on Sunday. But the night-and-day sessions will resume Monday. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said, "We must resign ourselves to realize we are going to be here for some time."

Criticize Defense Policies
The usual early morning contingent of three or four sleep makers swelled to a dozen listeners when Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sidetracked the civil rights issue temporarily just after midnight to give a speech criticizing President Eisenhower's defense policies.

Republicans replied and a lively defense exchange went on for two and a half hours. But the debate reverted to civil rights eventually and Southerners continued their attempt to talk rights legislation to death. There was no sign of a break in the deadlock.

STORM

northern New Jersey reported 26 inches of snow. Schools closed in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

Temperatures dipped to their lowest reading of the year near Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Baltimore. Melting snow in Washington grounded out an electric feeder line and threw the first floor of the Capitol into darkness.

—The South: Probably hardest hit of all were Southern states unused to such wintry goings-on. Entire towns were isolated without electricity, telephones, heat, and, in some cases, food.
National Guard and Red Cross workers battled through heavy drifts and ice-slicked roads to reach the stricken communities.
—The Midwest: Temperatures fell below zero as far south as southern Missouri and the Weather Bureau predicted two more days

Ike Cancels Golf Date At Dorado Club

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
RAYMOND AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (UPI) — President Eisenhower, tired and complaining of hoarseness and a sore throat, canceled out his golf date at the Dorado Club near San Juan today to rest and relax at this U.S. Air Force base.

And, according to presidential press secretary James Hagerty, there was a "good possibility" that Eisenhower might put off his return to key Washington from Sunday to Monday.

Eisenhower's voice was noticeably hoarse when he addressed a meeting of the Caribbean Assembly Friday. He attributed it to his speech making during his South American tour. Members of his staff stressed that it was not the result of a cold.

The President, who stopped off here to rest up after his grueling 10-day whirlwind visit to four Latin American countries, originally had planned to return early today to the Dorado golf course for another round.

However, he switched plans soon after returning to this base Friday night.

Hagerty said only that Eisenhower had decided he would rather remain at Ramey for rest and relaxation than go to Dorado, 60 miles east of here by helicopter.

Ramey officials who talked with the President said he was complaining of a sore throat when he went to his quarters for dinner Friday night with his son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

John later met his wife Barbara, and their four children on their arrival by jet plane from Charleston, S.C., to spend the weekend with their father and grandfather.

—The Southwest: Air Force planes saved 50 Navajo Indian families from starving by dropping food near Window Rock, Ariz.

The families had been trapped by six-foot snows for more than a week. A spokesman for the tribe said the plight was "worse than at first was thought."

More snow flurries were predicted today for the Northeast, East and South of the Great Lakes, the northern Rockies and central plains and from the Texas panhandle into Oklahoma.

Preble Ordered To Serve Prison Term

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Marvin Preble, a minor figure in the Indiana highway scandals, Friday became the first of seven convicted in scandal trials to be put behind bars.

Preble, 44, an Austin carpenter and former housemover, was ordered to start serving his 1-10 year prison term by Special Judge Norman E. Brennan.

The commitment ended Preble's two-year fight to avoid serving his sentence. He was convicted Feb. 27, 1958, on perjury charges and was free pending appeal ever since.

Preble's last delay came one week before he was ordered to prison when a hearing before Brennan was postponed because Brennan himself was in jail on contempt of court charges.

Earlier this week, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to delay Preble's commitment. His attorney, John Agnew, said he will appeal to a federal court Monday on grounds Preble's rights were violated during his trial.

Preble's perjury conviction stemmed from his receipt of $8,500 from the state to move a house along the Madison Ave. Expressway at Indianapolis. The house was not moved.

Preble also was convicted on charges he filed a false claim but his 2-14 year prison sentence on that charge was suspended.

Hundreds Of Negroes Call Mass Meeting

By United Press International
Hundreds of Negroes demanding abolition of all racial barriers in the South called today for a mass meeting of prayer and supplication at the birthplace of the Confederacy — Montgomery, Ala.

Leaders from all Negro colleges in South Carolina also called a meeting in the South Carolina capital today to map their own anti-segregation plans.

The Montgomery Improvement Association, a Negro group that led a successful boycott of segregated city buses in Alabama's capital five years ago, invited every Negro in Montgomery to be on hand at the state capitol grounds Sunday. It was there that Jefferson Davis became the president of the Confederate States of America 99 years ago.

"We cannot work in the capitol of the Confederacy, but we can pray there," the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president of the Montgomery Improvement Assn., said Friday night.

Halt Voting Drive
Abernathy announced the mass meeting of prayer shortly before half the student body of Alabama State College (Negro) voted to boycott the start of the spring quarter which begins Monday. They hinted again at efforts to integrate the University of Alabama and Auburn University and to begin a concerted drive to register as voters in Alabama.

Arrests of Negro demonstrators and a stiffer attitude on the part of city officials highlighted action elsewhere in the South.

Seventy-eight persons arrested previously for staging anti-segregation sit-ins at dime and department store lunch counters in Nashville, Tenn., were arrested again Friday on more serious charges than before.

Arrest Negro Minister
Another arrested was the Rev. James Lawson Jr., a Negro minister expelled from Vanderbilt University Divinity School because of his part in training Negroes for "passive resistance" campaigns against segregation.

Lawson and the other 8 were released under $500 bond each after being booked on charges of conspiracy to disrupt trade and commerce. This charge carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail or a $1,000 fine or both. They at first had been accused only of disorderly conduct.

At Sumter, S. C., 26 Negro students from Morris College were arrested for staging demonstration.

NOTES FROM AFTER THIRTY

CONSOLATION
While the Decatur cheer leaders couldn't lead the victory yells at the sectional this year, two of them got a little consolation from winning a steak dinner. Taya Erekson and Joyce Ellsworth took opposition to some remarks made in a friendly manner by one of the fans. One thing led to another, and now the fan has two steak dinners to buy.

IN THE SPRING, TRA LA
One of the first signs of spring in Decatur came at the same time as the double snowstorm. While shoveling off his front walk Thursday evening, Decatur Daily Democrat publisher Dick Heller, Jr., discovered what he thought was a gum wrapper. On examination it proved to be a golden crocus, the early spring flower noted for pushing its way through the snow. In shoveling off the foot of snow from the crocus area, five or six other early flowers were found.

SCHOOL DAYS
Dr. Marion McGehee, a visitor in Decatur last Tuesday, was pointing out some interesting school legislation. Probably, most school officials don't realize and follow this particular law. It's a law in Indiana that before a school bus driver is hired, he must be strong enough to handle two large horses. Another point that was brought up at the meeting was whether high school athletics are to the point that the "tail is wagging the dog." An interesting pair of announcements were made at the Thursday evening session of the sectional. The first announcement stated several schools that would be closed the next day because of the heavy snows. Later, it was announced that tickets for the Saturday sessions would be available the next morning at the principal's offices, at some of the same schools. Bow wow.

YUM YUM

Thursday evening our family journeyed through the snow to a local restaurant to give the wife a vacation from the kitchen on her birthday. All through the meal, the youngest son needed the proprietor to "bake Mommy a cake." As the meal ended, here came a cake out of the kitchen, complete with flaming candles. The candles were blown out, and the cake cut up and passed around, with the candles still on the children's pieces. The youngest son, instigator of the cake, must have felt obligated to do it justice. When the meal was over (the boys sat at the counter) an inspection of his dessert plate showed only a few cake crumbs and a candle wick.

tions at three all-white store lunch counters. Members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Sumter raised $2,600 so that each could go free under $100 bond.

Ex-Convict Seized For Modoc Robbery

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An Indiana ex-convict was arrested in Kentucky Friday on charges of robbing the Modoc branch of the Winchester People's Loan & Trust Co., of $3,776 last Tuesday.

Chester E. Parrish, 33, R.R. 2, Middletown, was arrested by Kentucky State Police when he visited his brother, Glenn Parrish, at Salt Lick, Ky.

Parrish was unarmed and offered no resistance, and authorities said he admitted staging the holdup with the help of Cletus Owens, 16, Middletown. Police said that $1,005 of the bank loot was recovered from Parrish.

The ex-convict was taken to the Rowen County Jail at Morehead, Ky., to await extradition to Indiana on charges of bank robbery. Parrish was paroled from Indiana State Prison last September after
