Adams County Gives

A total of $255 in gifts from business and industry during National Conservation Week for the local program will enable eight Adams county boys to attend the Oliver Lake conservation camp July 24-29.

Adams county, through the soil conservation district, county extension department, and county council, have taken part in the 16-county program conservation council, have taken part in the 16-county program during the past four years. A total of 256 boys, including several from Adams county, attended the annual summer program.

During the next few weeks boys from each area of the county, interested in soil conservation, wildlife, or forestry, will be chosen to attend. Those interested should contact any member of the Adams county conservation council. Boys from 12 to 15 years of age are eligible.

Located in the heart of the Indiana lake district in LaGrange county, Camp Limberlost is maintained by Purdue University.

A session in soils is taught in order to develop an appreciation of soil science. To determine how the different soils were derived, field studies are made of upland, terrace, alluvial and organic soils, soil texture is studied, internal drainage is observed, various properties of the soil are demonstrated, and the geology of the area is viewed and discussed. We must understand the problems of soil science to conserve our natural resources.

Wildlife, as important to the farmer as to the sportsman, is observed in its natural habitat through field trips.

Forestry, important economically as well as an erosion preventative, will be studied, and trees will be identified by the young naturalists.

As the population of the United States explodes, so to speak, so must our interest in conservation. We must keep our water clean and usable, purify the air, restore nature's balance of chemicals in the soil, and replenish the supply of timber.

This can be done only when the private owners of America's millions of farms understand the principles involved. A summer camp, with swimming and recreation, and outdoor study of a number of serious subjects made fun, is a wonderful way of training the mind and body.

So eight lucky boys will get the chance of really enjoying themselves at a week-long summer camp, and at the same time adding to their background stores of information which will make them valuable citizens in the future.

Suggestion Awards
To G.E. Employees

Sixteen suggestions at the General Electric Co. plant here resulted in a total of $272.50 in awards during March to employees. Raymond Blecke, of 504 Cass street, Decatur, topped the list with a $75 prize.

Blecke suggested a shield for an automatic screw machine, preventing repetitive operations in cases of bent shafts, broken tools and other rework. His idea assists the shafts to align themselves, and eject from the machine in a functional manner.

Virginia Conrad, an office employee, received $35 for an idea to duplicate information on daily matching orders for individual assemblers.

Edward Noonan, of 216 S. Eighth street, and John Beery, of 1127 Master Drive, each received $25 for colored locking clips for motor assemblers, and colored weekly production tickets on the shaft line, respectively.

Other award winners were: Evelyn Plasterer, $15; Anna Womack, $10; Mina Stevens, $10; Harold McDonald, $10; Robert Teeple, $10; Solomon Lord, $7.50; Wilbur Suman, $7.50; Robert Nyffeler, $5; and Milton Hoffman, $5.

De Gaulle Speaks To British Parliament

LONDON (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle told the combined houses of British Parliament today France would be "happy" to quit developing atomic bombs as soon as the other world powers destroyed their nuclear weapons.

"Peace can only be attained if the general fear of sudden annihilation is first removed," the visiting French leader told a rare joint session of the House of Lords and Commons. Usually only the Queen speaks to a joint parliamentary session.

By implication, de Gaulle rejected the attacks on West Germany made by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his recent tour of France.

"The peace France and Britain are striving to build should not widen divisions or poison wounds including those suffered by the Germans, who were yesterday our enemies but today are a vital part of the West and our common ally," he said.

A fanfare of trumpets greeted de Gaulle as he strode into the ancient Great Hall of Westminster adjoining the houses of Parliament.

Elks Plan Square
Dance On Saturday

The Decatur Elks lodge will hold its second monthly square dance from 10 p.m. until midnight Saturday. The previous dance was well received by members and the lodge's entertainment committee hopes that members and invited guests will attend in larger numbers this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Kreps will be present to assist any beginners in square dancing. Other entertainment from 9 to 10 o'clock, will precede the dance.

Safe Burglars Are Taken To Prisons

Adams county sheriff's deputy Robert Meyer escorted James M. Spears to the Indiana state prison at Michigan City this morning. Spears, 36, of Decatur was convicted of grand larceny with Christian H. Schwartz, 27, also of Decatur, in Adams circuit court and sentenced Tuesday. Schwartz was taken to the Indiana reformatory at Pendleton Wednesday by deputy Charles Arnold.

Defense attorney H. R. McClonahan explained today that the charge can not be appealed because the men entered a plea of guilty to the grand larceny charge. The men robbed a safe at the Blackstone Cafe in Decatur of $1,400 in January. They received sentences of 1-10 years and $50 fines and court costs on the count.

Olive Lifter

A kitchen fork with the tines bent upward nearly at right angles simplifies the removal of olives and pickles from a glass jar. Bend each tine at a point about one-half inch from the end of the fork, and make sure that all tines are bent to the same angle so that the points line up.
