

New Books Available At Decatur Library

Some of the outstanding new books now available at the Decatur public library have been listed by Miss Bertha Heller, librarian.

There are books of interest to readers of all ages at the library, in addition to magazines and newspapers. The library opens at 12 noon and remains open until 8:30 p.m. every week day with the exception of national holidays.

Some of the books recently added include:

"The New Africa," by Ellen and Attilio Gatti. These authors have been on many expeditions to Africa and know the country first hand. This is the story of Africa's awakening, of new nations and federations formed almost overnight. Maps and photographs add to the interest of this book.

"Minerals and Rocks," by H. W. Ball. The purpose of this book is to present to the eye and mind of the reader the beauty and orderliness of the mineral world. The photographs have been prepared to emphasize the aesthetic qualities of minerals and rocks. Anyone interested in rocks will enjoy this book.

"Photography for Everyone," by Fritz Henle with H. M. Kinzer. Henle is one of America's leading photographers while Kinzer calls himself a casual amateur. This top ranking American Photographer really tells the nonprofessional photographer how to take good pictures with all kinds of cameras. Reproductions of 127 photographs are given with the text.

"Know Your Woods," by Albert Constantine, Jr. This is a book that can answer all your questions about wood—and the trees that produce it. You will learn where the tree grows, what the wood looks like, and what it is good for. You will learn the common, scientific and locality names for woods. This is a book for enjoyable reading.

"India Today," by Frank Morales. Independence was proclaimed in India, August 15, 1947. Twelve years is a small span in the life of a country that is 5000 years old.

This present book is written against the background of Indian social, religious and political history, but the focus is on India today. The author was born in Bombay, India, he earned his B.A. at Bombay University, his M.A. at Oxford, England. This book is a valuable contribution to the understanding of India today.

"The Magic of Thinking Big," by David J. Schwartz. The only way to accomplish big things in this world is to think in big terms. This author who was born and reared in Adams County, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Schwartz of Route 1, Berne, This is a valuable book for everyone to read. It is not the usual success book but gives you workable methods. Its ideas and techniques are original. Mr. Schwartz is an active faculty member of the George State College of Business Administration.

"The Edge of Tomorrow, Deliver us from Evil and The Night they burned the Mountain," by Thomas A. Dooley. These are the books everyone has been talking about, the last one is on the national best seller list. The books tell the experiences of a young American, a navy doctor in the border of Red China. Everyone should read these books.

"Johnny Osage," by Janice Holt Giles. Those who have the other book by Janice Holt Giles will be interested in this new book. Johnny is the son of Hannah Fowler of Kentucky. The author returns to the land of her childhood in Oklahoma where Johnny Fowler is known as Johnny Osage because of his close friendship with the Osage Indians.

"The Lincoln Lords," by Cameron Hawley. The readers who were interested in the Executive Suite and Cash McCall will enjoy this extraordinary novel.

"Passage of Arms," by Eric Ambler. This is a superb tale of suspense and intrigue in Malaya. The story of an American businessman and his wife on a world cruise.

"Gas City Woman Dies Of Injuries

MARION, Ind. (UPI) — Flossie Line, 73, Gas City, died at General Hospital here Wednesday of injuries received in a car collision the night before. She was injured when her car collided with another driven by Fred L. Selvey, 29, Linton, who was unhurt.

"Four-Year-Old Girl Is Killed By Cave-in

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — A pre-school age girl was killed and her brother was injured when a bank several children were digging in gave way and trapped them.

Sandra Ann Riley, 4, Clarksville, was completely buried by the cave-in. She was dead on arrival at Clark County Hospital, Jeffersonville.

Her brother, Thomas Jerome Riley, 6, was partially buried and was injured.

Hospital Seminar Is Held At Fort Wayne

Thurman I. Drew, administrator of Adams county memorial hospital, and Mrs. Margaret Beal of the hospital business office, attended the Blue Cross hospital seminar in Fort Wayne today.

The seminar, held at the Van Orman Hotel, was the seventh sponsored by Indiana Blue Cross. The program, according to Norman R. Jones, Blue Cross hospital affairs director, featured Elton Tekolste, newly appointed executive secretary of the Indiana hospital association, speaking on "The Fabulous Sixties and the Voluntary Health Movement."

In his address, Tekolste posed the question: "Why must we believe that hospital costs are going to continue to rise 6 per cent per year from now on? If this happens in Indiana during 1960 it will cost patients in our hospital $1.5 million dollars more than in 1959."

Tekolste pointed out that "we face the challenge of trying to prevent this happening, while continuing to give the best care to patients and providing for new services."

Other topics discussed in the all-day session included hospital costs, new benefit patterns, and mutual goals shared by Indiana hospitals and Blue Cross.

Robert B. Parrott, executive vice president of the Central Soya Co., Inc., Fort Wayne, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo, N.D., in commencement ceremonies May 22.

A native of Fargo, he graduated from North Dakota Agricultural College with a B.S. degree in 1935. Employed by Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis following graduation, he was made an assistant vice president in 1948.

Parrott joined the Central Soya company in 1956 as vice president in charge of the grain and marine division. In 1959 he was elected executive vice president and a member of the company's board of directors.

A member of the Minneapolis grain exchange, Parrott also holds memberships in the Chicago and St. Louis boards of trade. He is a member of the national grain storage advisory council to the U.S. department of agriculture, Washington, D.C., a past president of the Minneapolis grain shippers association, and is listed in Marquis, "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

national grain storage advisory council to the U.S. department of agriculture, Washington, D.C., a past president of the Minneapolis grain shippers association, and is listed in Marquis, "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

Indiana University Extension Dean Dies

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Prof. Hugh W. Norman, 63, dean of the Indiana University Extension Division, died today.

Norman was dean since 1955 and with the division since 1919. He was chief administrator of extension centers in nine Indiana cities.

A native of Ireland, Norman received degrees at Indiana in 1921 and 1924.

Permits Granted By Zoning Board

At a recent meeting of the zoning board, permission was given to Joel Mendoza 909 N. 12th, to park his bus on his backyard. He uses his bus to live in when he is on the road. In the meeting two weeks ago, permission was given to Donald Deaton to enclose the porch on his house on Monroe street extended. Also permission was given to Dr. Devor to extend his trailer park.

MOOSE SQUARE DANCE

FRIDAY, MAY 20

LAST DANCE OF THE SEASON

SATURDAY NIGHT, MAY 21
FLOOR SHOW and DANCE

Parrott To Receive Honorary Degree

Robert B. Parrott, executive vice president of the Central Soya Co., Inc., Fort Wayne, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo, N.D., in commencement ceremonies May 22.

A native of Fargo, he graduated from North Dakota Agricultural College with a B.S. degree in 1935. Employed by Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis following graduation, he was made an assistant vice president in 1948.

Parrott joined the Central Soya company in 1956 as vice president in charge of the grain and marine division. In 1959 he was elected executive vice president and a member of the company's board of directors.

A member of the Minneapolis grain exchange, Parrott also holds memberships in the Chicago and St. Louis boards of trade. He is national grain storage advisory council to the U.S. department of agriculture, Washington, D.C., a past president of the Minneapolis grain shippers association, and is listed in Marquis, "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

Indiana University Extension Dean Dies

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Prof. Hugh W. Norman, 63, dean of the Indiana University Extension Division, died today.

Norman was dean since 1955 and with the division since 1919. He was chief administrator of extension centers in nine Indiana cities.

A native of Ireland, Norman received degrees at Indiana in 1921 and 1924.

Permits Granted By Zoning Board

At a recent meeting of the zoning board, permission was given to Joel Mendoza 909 N. 12th, to park his bus on his backyard. He uses his bus to live in when he is on the road. In the meeting two weeks ago, permission was given to Donald Deaton to enclose the porch on his house on Monroe street extended. Also permission was given to Dr. Devor to extend his trailer park.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Neil D. McCallum, 76, former secretary of the Indiana Republican State Committee, died Wednesday in his home.

McCallum was publisher and editor of the old Batesville Tribune, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, for many years and was secretary of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. for 14 years. He served on the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission from 1941 to 1949.

McCallum had been in for several years. He retired from business in 1956.

Neil D. McCallum

Dies At Batesville

</div