Jim Rathmann Wins Speedway In Record Time

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Rodger Ward let up on the throttle trying to get started from the pits, and thus gave up victory in the annual 500-mile Speedway race to a three-time runner-up, Jim Rathmann.

Rathmann, who finished second in 1962, 1967 and 1969, rolled home in record speed, 138.761 miles per hour, before more than 175,000 fans Monday, and his prize check tonight probably will exceed $110,000.

But if Ward, who won in 1959, had pushed just a trifle harder on the throttle when he made his first pit stop, the chances are Rathmann wouldn't be sitting at the victory banquet head table.

Ward's crew changed his tires and filled the fuel tank in 21 seconds. As they pushed him off to get back into the chase, Ward's motor died. It took another 38 seconds for the crew to push him back into position and start his engine.

13 Seconds Ahead
Rathmann was about 13 seconds in front at the finish line, but he and Ward had a seesaw duel for the last 150 miles. One would hold the lead three or four laps, then the other would scream in front at a 145-mile-per-hour pace.

And Rathmann's margin was less than a second when Ward had to let up with three laps to go, his fuel nearly gone and his tires badly worn from the excess speed he hit to make up the 38 seconds lost in the pits.

"I was afraid my gas wouldn't hold out," Ward said. A post-race check showed he was correct, but he was no worse off than Rathmann. The winner's crew chief, Chickie Hiroshima, told him he had enough fuel for "about one more turn of the track."

The race set speed records at all marking points except three. These were the first lap and at 110 and 120 laps. The pace fell below the record at the latter points only because the yellow caution flag, requiring slow speeds, was on twice for extended periods.

One Driver Hurt
The yellow light was on for 29 minutes and 7 seconds altogether, but only one driver was injured. Eddie Russo was hurt when his car hit the wall on the southeast turn.

Russo's condition was described as "critical" at Methodist Hospital. At first he was believed to have suffered only a concussion, but examination showed possibly ruptured spleen and kidney.

Death came not on the track but beside it when two spectators, William C. Craig, 37, Zionsville, Ind., and Fred H. Linder, 23, Indianapolis, were killed in the collapse of a homemade grandstand, brought into the track by a spectator on two trucks and erected inside the northeast turn.

The first seven finishers broke the old record speed of 135.857 set by Ward last year.

Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich., was third at 136.792 mph, and Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., fourth at 136.785, according to official standings announced at 8 a.m. today.

Others in the first 10 and their speeds were: Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., fifth, 136.750; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, sixth, 136.137; Lloyd Ruby, Houston, Tex., seventh, 135.983; Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif., eighth, 135.452; Bud Tingelstad, Dayton, Ohio, ninth, 133.717, and Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., 10th, 133.416.

Ward's speed was 138.631. Other finishers, their speeds and number of laps completed are announced officially by the United States Auto Club this morning:

Harley Wolfe Named Captain Of Jackets

Harley Wolfe, pitcher-outfielder for the Decatur Yellow Jackets, was named captain of the 1966-67 baseball team at a recent meeting of the team. Wolfe, who compiled a .316 batting average and won 6 and lost 2 while striking out 84 batters in 55 innings, won the honor by unanimous vote of his teammates. Wolfe, who was the team's only 300-hitter, graduated last week. Coach Bill McColl also announced the names of the lettermen at the meeting. A total of four seniors, four juniors, five sophomores, and one freshman were named letter winners, which means McColl will have a good returning nucleus for next year's team.

The Jackets finished the season with a record of 10 and 5 and a conference slate of 3 and 2. Lettermen: seniors, H. Wolfe, J. Reidenbach, D. Clark, J. Gay; juniors, K. Blocke, J. Rambo, J. Cowan, T. Grabill; sophomores, H. Walters, C. Marbach, Rudy Kleinknight, Ronnie Kleinknight, D. Ahr; freshman, B. Conrad.

Mantle Is Battered By Fans At Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI) — Battered, swollen-jawed Mickey Mantle, victim of one of the worst mob scenes in Yankee Stadium's history, insisted today he never hit any fan purposely and "anyone who said I did is a damn liar."
