Three Are Dead In New Haven Wreck

United Press International

Six persons were killed in three accidents in the first few hours of the weekend in Indiana, a grim start on what could be a heavier toll than during the long Memorial Day holiday period.

Three died in a shattering crash at New Haven near Fort Wayne. Two were killed many miles away near Jeffersonville. One died in an accident south of Indianapolis.

Lewis Allen Fish, 19, and Fred Lewis Allen, 19, Tomkinsville, Ky., were killed early today when two cars crashed head-on in U.S. 31 in Clark County. Eight others were injured, one critically.

The second car contained four adults and three children, all believed to be from Gary. Authorities said the Gary car tried to pass two trucks at the south edge of the small town of Underwood, and swerved left to the berm to miss the Kentucky vehicle. But the Kentucky driver also swerved to the berm.

Killed in the New Haven accident were Bruce Wilbur Roth, 23, Fort Wayne; Loy F. Boston, 66, R.R. 1, New Haven, and Boston's wife, Josephine. All were killed outright.

State police said the accident happened along U. S. 24 in front of the Tanglewood housing addition at the city limits. They said Roth missed a curve and crashed head-on into the Boston car.

Both cars were demolished. The fourth victim of the weekend was Sgt. Orin Alfred Ravellette, 38, Terre Haute. He was killed when struck by a car driven by Richard F. Smith, 50, Cincinnati, as he directed traffic around an Army convoy along Ind. 135 east of Morgantown in Johnson County.

Ravellette, a mechanic stationed with the 358th Transportation Battalion, was a member of a convoy going to Camp Atterbury for firing practice. A jeep developed trouble and Ravellette volunteered to stay behind to repair the vehicle.

He was hit and killed as the convoy moved on.

Given Prison Term For Bank Robbery

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Chester E. Parrish, 33, Middletown, was sentenced Friday to a qualified term of 20 years in prison for holding up a branch bank at Modoc last March 1 and robbing it of $3,886.

Federal Judge William E. Stecker employed a seldom-used statute providing that the Bureau of Prisons may modify the term after study. Despite the fact Parrish is an ex-convict, Stecker apparently left the door open for a possibly shorter term, because Parrish used an unloaded gun which would not have fired even if it had been loaded.

In other Federal Court action, Chester Menk, 53, Oaktown, was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $1,000 on charges of dispensing barbiturates, and Harold T. Miller, Jr., 46, Indianapolis, was sentenced to four years for counterfeiting.

Menk had pleaded guilty. His brother Elmer, 54, pleaded not guilty and is awaiting trial.

Miller, former head of the Butler University print shop, pleaded guilty to a charge that he counterfeited $17,245 in currency. He said he did it just as an experiment and had no intention of passing the money. None of it was passed.

Describes Ordeal After Plane Crash

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — A tall fair-haired secretary, battered and unburned, today told of a six-day ordeal in the wilderness following a mountain plane crash which killed her boy friend.

Janet Robertson, 25, of San Francisco, staggered into a Sequoia National Park station near collapse Friday. She was suffering from bruises, cuts and possible rib fractures and was weak from near starvation. She had eaten little but snow.

She disappeared last Saturday when she and Jack Steel, a San Francisco salesman, took off in a private plane from a San Francisco peninsula airport for a week end in Las Vegas, Nev. They had stopped to refuel in Fresno, Calif.

That was the last heard from either of them until 10:30 a.m. Friday when she stumbled into the tiny Hockett Meadow ranger station which had been opened only the day before for the summer season.

She was fed and transferred by helicopter to the Sierra View District Hospital in this small town 30 miles from the site of the crash.

Miss Robertson recalled from her bed bits and pieces of the horror of the crash and her ensuing fight for life.

"I don't know how long I was out after the crash. We were still in the plane when I came to. Jack was moaning and he had a big gash on his forehead," she recalled.

"After awhile, Jack quit moaning. He didn't change position so I figured he must be dead."

She decided to stay with the plane, believing she would thus be found more quickly. It was a near fatal mistake for help lay within few miles in any direction.

She thinks it was on the third day she decided to set out.

New Drive In Latin America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. diplomatic officials and congressmen today viewed Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's announced plan to visit Cuba as the opening move in a new drive to spread Communist influence in Latin America.

A further indication of increased Communist interest in this hemisphere was the report from informed sources in Havana that Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai had "agreed in principle" to visit Cuba this year.

Some State Department sources felt Khrushchev was angling for invitations to more important Latin American countries and might not go through with the Cuban visit unless he got them. They pointed out that no date was set for the trip to Cuba.

The opinion of most congressmen who made statements on the visit was summed up by Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and an expert on Latin America.

Aiken said the visit, announced by the Soviet Tass News Agency Friday, was a "clear attempt" by Khrushchev to gain a foothold for Soviet influence in the Americas, on the United States' doorstep.

The lawmaker said Khrushchev also would try to "further identify" Cuban Prime Minister, Fi-

It was only three miles to the ranger station, but it might as well have been three hundred. The impact of the crash had broken her jaw in two places and fractured her ribs. In addition, doctors today were to examine her for a possible spinal fracture or sprain.

The young woman's eyes were bloodshot, her face badly sunburned, scratched and her chin gashed. Her face was drawn and she was underweight, but doctors agreed she was on the road to recovery.

Replace Floor At Decatur High Gym

Bids on two types of gym floors for the Decatur high school gym will be taken at 8 p. m. June 24 at Decatur high school, the Decatur school board announced today.

The 20-year-old gym floor, which has no sub-floor and has developed dead spots and waves during the past two decades, will be replaced.

The architect's specifications call for bids on two types: a new floor over the present floor, in which the present floor would act as a sub-floor; and removal of the present floor to the cement base, an installation of cushion mastic over the cement, which would then be covered by short lengths of two pieces of wood banded together so that each would contain its own sub-floor. This is the type of construction used in the Adams Central gym.

Bradley & Bradley are the architects for the school project. The cost is estimated to be approximately $5,000.

Fort Wayne Doctor Guilty Of Evasion

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UPI) — Dr. Roy R. McCoy, Fort Wayne, was found guilty of income tax evasion by a Federal Court jury here Friday night. The physician was accused of evading $68,213 in federal taxes between 1952 and 1955. Judge Robert A. Grant said he would pass sentence after a pre-sentence investigation.

Larick denied a former FDA official's charge that the agency often gave in to pressure from the drug industry when approving the safety and labeling of new medicines.

But Larick said he expected the investigation to result in tougher standards for FDA-approved drugs.

Fleming announced the investigation Friday. He said he acted as a direct result of the charges by the former FDA official, Dr. Barbara Moulton. She said "hundreds suffer daily and many die" because the agency fails to police new drugs adequately.

Larick said that in deciding whether to allow a manufacturer to place a new drug on the market the FDA weighed the drug's possible harmful effects against its benefits.

Conceding that some FDA-approved drugs may have hurt or killed a few persons, Larick said "penicillin kills people occasionally but it helps millions and millions."

Doubt Early End To Strike In Theaters

NEW YORK (UPI) — Broadway theaters took a long intermission today to allow a weekend "cooling off" period for negotiators in the bitter contract dispute that has darkened marquees.

The intermission at 22 shows may last a week and possibly until the fall according to spokesmen for Actors Equity and the League of New York Theaters. Both sides said hopes for an early settlement of the dispute over actors' pensions and salaries were "very dim."

Representatives of the actors' union and the producers met unsuccessfully Friday with city mediators. Another meeting was scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday, but in the face of a suggestion by league counsel Burton A. Zorn that negotiations be "broken off completely."

City labor commissioner Harold A. Felix said he regretted the lack of progress and added that no good could come of weekend meetings because "emotions are still high and tensions pronounced."

"If tempers cool," he said, "both sides will have a chance to reappraise and reassess, and then there will be a better chance for movement."

The league closed all 22 plays and musicals on Broadway Thursday night after Equity stopped performance of the comedy hit, "The Tenth Man." Wednesday night the cast to the "Tenth Man" called the cast to a union meeting. The shows did not go on Friday night and will remain closed tonight. It was the first blackout since 1919 when Equity won the right to represent actors.

Denies Pressure By Drug Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the Food and Drug Administration conceded today that some medicines approved by his agency might have harmed or killed a few patients. But he said they were cleared because of the many persons they benefited.

FDA Administrator George P. Larick made the statement to United Press International after Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming ordered a special investigation of charges that the agency had failed to protect the public in approving new drugs.

Larick denied a former FDA official's charge that the agency often gave in to pressure from the drug industry when approving the safety and labeling of new medicines.

But Larick said he expected the investigation to result in tougher standards for FDA-approved drugs.

Japanese March On American Embassy

TOKYO (UPI) — Thousands of demonstrators marched on the American embassy here today, shouting demands for the renunciation of the U.S.-Japanese security treaty and the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit this month.

It was one of the largest anti-American demonstrations here in a long time, but it was peaceful. Police indicated they expected no violence. About 700 police formed a cordon in front of the huge iron gates of the embassy.

There was no attempt to attack the police or the embassy. The demonstrators numbered more than 30,000. They streamed past the embassy compound and marched towards Shimbashi railway station several blocks away for another demonstration. The crowd included unionists, actors, mothers, office workers and other groups.

There were only a few of the fanatic leftist students who Friday night engaged in bloody clashes with police in which more than 200 persons were injured.

The extreme leftist Zengakuren student organization, which incited Friday night's outbreak, said today one of its members had died of injuries received in a brawl with police. The student, whose name was not given, was the first reported fatality of the recent wave of rioting.

Police were unable to confirm the report. The demonstrators shouted such phrases as "Don't come like," "We are against Eisenhower's visit," "U.S. armed force get out of Japan," and "We don't want Americans in Japan."

One huge placard read, "Ike likes only golf and war." A group of Japanese Christians marched past the embassy gates singing hymns and carrying a huge portrait of Christ. They shouted, "We don't want Ike."

Leesburg, and Cecil Utterback, Trafalgar. Junior counselors will be Thomas Hines, Thomas Petry, Steve Clark and William Robertson. Bloomington, and Ronald Barnett, Mooresville, Walter Gray, Bloomington University, will be athletic director for Boys' State.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — A week of intensive training in practical politics will be provided for the 900 outstanding high school juniors chosen to attend this year's Hoosier Boys' State at Indiana University June 11.

The boys attending the session will be assigned to mythical parties and cities. Selection of pre-ministerial committee members will open the political activity. County chairmen and vice-chairmen and delegates to the June 14 conventions will be selected June 12. Primary elections are slated for June 14 and the general election the following day.

University president Herman E. Wells will address the boys-staters at a general meeting shortly after their arrival on the campus. Governor Handley will present the Graham Award to the outstanding citizen of Boys' State at a special review June 17.

The staff supervising Boys' State will be headed by B. W. Breedlove, Indianapolis attorney. Otto Hughes, principal of Bloomington University High School, will be dean of counselors and Forrest Carmichael, business director of Carmichael city schools, associate dean.

The regular staff will consist of government and administrators in the state's public schools. Serving as assistant deans this year will be J.J. Bailey, Anderson; Edward Cuddy, Indianapolis; Ben Ervin and Roger L. Greenawald, Muncie; Grayson J. Mahin, Rushville; William H. Spradley, Salem; J.B. Stephens, Noblesville, and John Ray and Fred V. Mills, Bloomington.

Counselors will be Jack Cousins, Philip Gearheart, Don Luft, William Prange and Paul Schilling, Bloomington; Lewis E. Buhler, Robert W. Hancock, Neal D. Jay and Ralph Royster, Muncie; Peter Russo and Frank Woschitz, Anderson; James W. Parks and Vivian Simmons, North Manchester; John W. McCoy and Ronald E. Roach, Indianapolis; George S. Kenzler and William Gettings, Lafayette; A.E. Breeden, Stinesville; William Duncan, Bedford; William Holstine, Salem; Eugene Jones, Washington; Myron C. Knauff, Hebron; Lee Perry, Martinsville; J.E. Pitts, French Lick; Charles L. Robbins, Rushville; Robert E. Routt, Jamestown; Paul E. Schurttler, Ellettsville; Bryan A. Shaddick, East Gary; Melvin B. Taylor, Kouts; Paul G. Taylor, Greenwood; Edward W. Trexler.

Commencement Exercises Held Last Evening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker of Canada called today for "an end to nuclear testing and progress toward general disarmament" under international control.

The two leaders issued a joint statement on their White House conference after a 21-hour visit to Washington.

The statement said they agreed to be taken to maintain the security of the free world and "reaffirmed their determination to continue to work for peace with justice."

The statement said disarmament and a nuclear test ban were given "particular attention" in the conference.

Acknowledging that problems have existed between the United States and Canada, the President and prime minister said the manner in which they were solved has made U.S.-Canadian relations "a model for the relationship between neighbors."

The statement was couched in general terms and did not reveal what specific plans may have been put in motion in the fields of arms control, defense and defense, continental defense and broader consultation on Western policies.

Diefenbaker left Washington by plane for Winnipeg shortly before the communique was made public at the White House.

Officials said that during their 65-minute private talk Friday, Diefenbaker and Eisenhower discussed the U.S. Bomarc-B anti-aircraft missile program. Canada was to include the missile in her defense system, but the U.S. House of Representatives has voted to scrap the Bomarc-B.

The Senate was expected to heed the administration's request to restore the program. It was not learned what assurances, if any, the President gave Diefenbaker on the subject.

Hailstones Fall On Midwest, Atlantic
