

U.S. And Russia Head To New Clash

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States and Russia were headed for a new clash in the Security Council today, this time over the violence-stricken Congo.

Fresh from telling each other to keep "hands off" Cuba, the two principal powers of East and West were expected to trade verbal punches over meddling in the new African state.

The Soviet attack was expected to be particularly bitter because of the rebuff it received when the Security Council voted Tuesday to transfer Cuba's complaint against the United States to the Organization of American States. The vote was 9-0 with Russia and Poland abstaining.

Demand U.S. Withdrawal

The Kremlin started laying the groundwork for the Congo debate by delivering a stiff note to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Tuesday demanding that U.S. troops in the Congo be withdrawn immediately.

There are only about 50 U.S. soldiers and airmen in the Congo helping direct air and land traffic around Leopoldville and operate helicopter and light planes for spotter and rescue work.

They are under the U.N. command and so far as was known the Congolese government had not objected to their presence.

U.N. Postpones Meeting

The Soviet delegation was expected to represent itself as the champion of the shaky Congolese government, just as it supported the Fidel Castro regime in the Cuba debate.

The 11-nation council was to have met this afternoon to hear Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's report on the organization and dispatch of the U.N. force to the Congo.

But the meeting was put off until tonight to allow time for two Congolese cabinet ministers and Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny to get here.

Five Tons Of Frozen Turkeys Destroyed

COSHEN, Ind. (UPI) — About five tons of frozen turkeys were ruined Tuesday by a fire which swept a refrigerated compartment in a semi-trailer at Pine Manor, Inc., a processing plant here.

Another five tons had to be repacked before they could be shipped and five additional tons were undamaged.

LITTLE MOON OF MOORESTOWN—What is that space-age shape disturbing the bucolic serenity of this Moorestown, N.J., farm? Surely not a giant squash. No, it's an RCA prototype radome, which is a 15-story-high sphere enclosing the mechanisms which track missiles.
