

Nixon's Daughters Arrive In Chicago

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon are looking forward to an airport reunion today with their two daughters from whom they have been apart for a month.

The girls, Tricia, 14, and Julie, 12, seem excited and bewildered to be suddenly catapulted into the limelight. They have lived sheltered lives and dislike the glare of publicity.

But they are learning to adapt fast — with some coaching. The two Nixon daughters, arrived in Chicago Sunday from California with their 75-year-old grandmother Mrs. Hannah M. Nixon.

Aide Briefs Girls

The first to greet them was Herbert L. Klein, the vice president's press secretary, who immediately began to brief them in low earnest tones.

Klein told them what to expect that they were going to be on TV and their parents would be watching. He also forewarned them that they would be surrounded by cameramen and reporters.

The girls were chaperoned overnight by Mrs. Nixon's secretary, Miss Gessie Newton. Their room adjoins their parents' luxury suite on the second floor of the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

They had spent a month in California, vacationing at a summer camp and staying at their grandmother's home in Whittier.

Fair-Skinned Blonde

Tricia is a pretty, fair-skinned blonde who wears her hair around her face and rather long. Her clothes are simple and definitely not those of a sophisticated teenager. Her only makeup is a touch of pink lipstick.

Like her sister, Julie is small for her age. She has light brown curly hair, pink cheeks and a single brace to straighten out her upper teeth.

Both girls go in for flat ballet slippers. This is their first convention and their first big adventure in the political spotlight.

Rockefeller Busy At Convention Site

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nelson Rockefeller swirled around Chicago Sunday as if borne on a draft.

The 52-year-old governor barely skirted a 60-second skirmish between "Petticoats for Rockefeller" and young ladies bearing the Nixon imprimatur.

He entered a vast Negro church as the choir reached the very crescendo of "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah," ten went on to a TV studio where he gave Barry Wolde-water his familiar simultaneous handshake and bicep squeeze.

Sunday night he and the tall, slender, Mrs. Rockefeller — who was at his side daylong — gave a reception for the New York delegates and prepared to throw a dance tonight for all the 2,662 national delegates and their guests.

His 90-extension switchboard at the Sheraton Towers flashed constantly and, should that prove insufficient, the hotel furnished his staff one-way radio receivers to get urgent messages inside the hotel. The delegation had 375 of the 450 bedrooms with 183 just for guests, families and friends.

Delegates received a tabloid sized newspaper named "Convention Call." It had the headline: "Airport crowd roars hello to Rockefeller" and above was the streamer: "Draft Rocky's support growing."

Through it all Rockefeller maintained that only a genuine draft could entice him and he had the simple if obvious definition of such a draft — one in which he had more than 666 votes needed to nominate him.

Report Woman Killed In Fall From Boat

LIEBER STATE PARK, Ind. (UPI) — Jane David, 59, Greencastle, died Saturday night when she fell from a boat on Cataract Lake here and doctors said she may have suffered a heart attack. State Police said she was sitting on the prow of a boat operated by Bernie Chastain, Greencastle, when she fell off and was scraped by the boat and propeller. She received severe cuts on her chest, right arm and right leg and was dead on arrival at Greencastle Hospital.

CHINA DOLL — Not much larger than a resident of fictional Lilliput, this tiny little girl is undergoing an examination at the University Hospital in Taipei, Formosa. She is 8 years old, but just 2 feet, 7 inches tall and weighs a mere 13 pounds. She was found in the city seeking alms to support her ailing mother. Dr. Hwang Pa-ye demonstrates that his hand is larger than the girl's head.

Eight Persons Die In Indiana Traffic

United Press International

At least eight persons, including two teen-agers on a forbidden joyride, were killed in weekend Indiana traffic accidents.

Six of the fatalities occurred within the first 24 hours of the 54-hour weekend.

The latest victims were James Duke, 15, and Rodney Britton, 14, Crawfordsville. They were killed early Sunday when their car went out of control on a Montgomery County road, bounced over a ditch, and smashed into a tree.

Sheriff Merle Remly said the car, owned by Rodney's father, John Britton, had been taken without permission.

Britton told authorities he had forbidden his son to drive the car. Three other persons were killed in separate accidents Saturday and three died Friday.

Clarence Bostic, 31, R.R. 7, Huntington, was killed when a car in which he was riding missed a curve on a county road north of Huntington and rolled over.

Ruth Washington, 16, Richmond, died early Saturday when a car driven by her boy friend hit a culvert along U.S. 40 near Richmond. Police said the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Another one-car accident killed John Chadwick Todd Jr., 38, Niles Mich., Saturday when his car hit a tree along a county road north of South Bend. Authorities said Todd also fell asleep.

Earl W. Sparks, 19, Warsaw, died Friday night when a train hit his auto at a Warsaw grade crossing.

Carolyn A. Wright, 19, Swayzee, died Friday when she was thrown from a convertible which went out of control on a Kosciusko County road near Silver Lake.

Mrs. Mille V. Lamar, 85, of Spencer County, was killed when she was struck by an auto while attempting to cross Ind. 245 near her home Friday.

Two Ohio motorists were arrested in the county over the weekend for driving at an excessive rate of speed.

Larry G. Ort, 18, Defiance, O., was arrested Sunday at 5:48 p.m. on U.S. 224 east of Preble for reckless driving and unreasonable high speed. Ort was driving in excess of 90 miles an hour. He appeared in J. P. court Sunday evening at 6 o'clock and paid a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $27.75.

Stephen L. Price, 17, Deshler, O., was arrested on U.S. 27, 1 1/2 miles south of Decatur while driving 76 miles an hour. He was arrested Saturday at 3:50 p.m. and appeared in J.P. court at 4:10 p.m. and paid a total fine of $18.75.

Blackford County Rejects School Plan

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A decision by Blackford County to keep its present school corporation boundaries will not be accepted by the Indiana School Reorganization Commission.

Dr. John B. Kohlmeier, director of the commission, said today the 1959 School Reorganization Act sets up specific standards, many of which are not met by the present setup in Blackford County.

The county school reorganization committee met last week and voted 6-1 to suspend further meetings.

"The law specifically states that it is within this commission's authority to take action when a county fails to conform with the act," Kohlmeier said.

He indicated that the commission would study the matter and would propose its own plan if the county group makes no change in stand.

Kohlmeier said the Blackford County situation was the first of its kind. He also said the 1960 General Assembly would be asked to amend the law to speed up the reorganization process.

He said the case may be discussed at the next commission meeting on Sept. 11.

Geneva Station Is Damaged By Truck

A Stillpass Transit company transport truck, traveling toward Decatur, jackknifed at the south edge of Geneva Saturday at 8:15 a.m. The truck struck two pumps at the Walker service station and hit a light pole, causing about $1,000 damage.

Grover Cherry of Cincinnati, driver of the truck, said he was driving into Geneva and the road was slippery from the rain. As he crossed the bridge, the truck jackknifed and went out of control. It first struck the two pumps at the gas station, knocking them out of the ground and then hit a light pole, knocking down several wires and the transformer.

The transformer hit the top of the tank on the truck and punctured it, causing an estimated $250 damage.

Willard Walker, owner of the station, did not know how much it would cost to repair the damage, but the pumps were completely destroyed. He gave an estimate of $600.

No one was injured and there was no fire as the trailer of the truck was empty at the time of the accident.

Defense Plank Termed By Ike As Good One

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — President Eisenhower today took an official hands-off policy toward selection of a Republican vice presidential candidate but pronounced the GOP platform plank on defense a "pretty good" one.

In the face of published reports that the President had expressed a preference for United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as a running mate for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty pointed out that the convention, not the President, picks the party's candidates.

He insisted earlier he had not heard the President express any preference for the vice presidential spot. The President is known, however, to have great respect and affection for Lodge.

The President read the Platform Committee's defense plank Sunday, Hagerty said, and "He thinks it's pretty good."

On other planks approved so far by the GOP Platform Committee Hagerty said the President had not seen their texts, although he had been advised of their content.

He said the President had no comment on these.

The President was out on the Newport Country Club golf course under brilliant blue skies early today, playing in a threesome to speed up the game so he could return to his Ft. Adams quarters to watch the opening of the first session of the GOP convention on television.

At 1:40 p.m. he was to inspect the nuclear missile submarine, Patrick Henry, at anchor here, and meet later with the National Security Council, whose members were being flown up from Washington. He also was putting finishing touches on the convention speech he will deliver at Chicago Tuesday night.

Armed Man On Wine Binge Is Captured

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An armed truck driver on a wine binge was captured by police Saturday night after he threatened to kill his family and a family of strangers and fired at a fellow worker and policeman without hitting them.

Edward Johnson, 49, Indianapolis, was nabbed when he left his house to go out to his car and get another drink of wine. He was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and shooting inside the city limits.

Police said Johnson's mother, daughter and a friend reported that he had threatened to kill them and they fled from his home. Officers said Johnson then took a pistol and drove his car two miles to the garage of the wrecking ened a husband and wife and their children riding in a car "because they didn't get out of my way," police quoted Johnson as saying.

At the garage, he fired at fellow truck driver Adrian Mitchner, 42, Indianapolis, who said he heard the bullet whiz by his ear.

Johnson then returned to his empty home and locked himself in. Seven policemen surrounded the building and Johnson fired at one of them.

An hour after police received the first report on Johnson, he got thirsty and left his home for the wine bottle in his car. He was

Indianapolis Man Is Found Shot To Death

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — A young Indianapolis man with a $1 bill in his hand was found shot to death along a city street Saturday. The victim was identified as Winston Halberton, 25. Police said he died of a single bullet wound in the stomach, and quoted witnesses as saying they had seen Halberton in a nearby alley with three other men and that one of the men pulled a pistol and shot Halberton, apparently in a dispute over money.

Thousands Are Idle In Steel Industry

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The men who man the steel mills striding through the valleys of this great steelmaking area are bucking serious unemployment for the third time in as many years.

"Typical of the thousands of men idled by the skidding summer fortunes of the steel companies was Al Coffman, who was furloughed last month when the furnace he helped tend was banked because no one wanted to buy the metal pouring from its taphole."

"The recession got me in 1958," the burly, shirt-sleeved furnace hand recited as he lounged on a bench in Mellon Square—the heart of Pittsburgh's glittering refurbished golden triangle district.

"Last year I sat out the strike. Now I'm out of work again. The steel industry this year seems to be leading the parade down the ladder."

President Eisenhower recently put his finger on steel as the sore spot in the nation's employment situation. The density of the problem comes into focus when Al's plight is multiplied by 140,000, the number of workers the United Steelworkers estimated were idle as of July 1 in the steel making and fabricating industries.

In addition to those without jobs, USW statisticians estimated another 200,000 workers in basic steel and 150,000 more in the fabricating industry were working less than 40 hours a week. The union's total membership is about 1,250,000.

Al looked up at the stainless steel walls of the U. S. Steel building towering 41 stories above the square and gestured:

"I wonder when the headquarters boys up there are going to call me back so that I'll be getting good pay checks like I was instead of get-by payments from unemployment compensation and SUB."

Predictions of the experts would give Al little comfort. Iron Age, the metal working magazine regarded as the Bible of the steel industry, last week foresaw steel operations remaining at a low rate into autumn.

The U.S. Department of Commerce forecast "some recovery" by autumn and predicted that over-all production for the year would surpass strike-battered 1959 and recession-ridden 1958.

But Marvin Miller, USW researcher said an appreciable boost in the steel operating rate would be necessary to make a sizeable dent in the ranks of the unemployed.

Compounding the unemployment in the mills themselves, industries and businesses which look to steel for economic support have been forced to layoff workers.

Thousands of coal miners have been furloughed and mine closings are continuing. U.S. Steel has announced it will shut down a big West Virginia mine Aug. 1 because the coal is not needed at its mills. Railroad workers also are idle because of the loss of steel hauling.

Indiana weekend water accidents killed at least six persons as thousands of Hoosiers flocked to lakes and streams to escape the heat and humidity.

Five adults and a teen-age boy were the victims.

Lawrence Myers, 37, LaPorte drowned at municipal beach at Stone Lake in LaPorte Sunday night as he and two companions waded in shallow water. None of the three could swim. Myers stepped off a ledge into deep water. He came up once and cried out but Leonard Thompson and Jake Flodick, his companions, were unable to help him.

Robert Sellers, 17, R. R. 1, Morocco, drowned Sunday while swimming in a pond near his home. Edwin Robinson, Morocco, owner of the pond, told police the land was posted and the youth did not have permission to swim in it.

Three other persons drowned Saturday and one Friday.

Cleveland Voyles, 44, Muncie, died in Irish Lake in Kosciusko County while swimming with his wife, Helen, 43, and three friends.

Earlier Saturday, Kenneth Redman, 25, and Mrs. Mildred Tinsley, 40, Terre Haute, drowned while on an early morning party at a gravel pit near Terre Haute.

Robert Charles Johnson, 24, Blismark, N. D., drowned in a small lake near Hope in Bartholomew County Friday night while swimming with several friends.

Plans Survey Of Motels In County

Motels in Adams and nine other Northeastern Indiana counties are being visited this summer by a University of Arizona research specialist as a part of a nationwide study of America's motel industry.

J. W. Rigby, graduate assistant of business administration at the University of Arizona, will conduct the survey in these states. Other UA interviewers, including professors, research specialists, and graduate assistants are visiting motels in 100 counties in 41 states this summer.

The study is supported by a $40,000 grant to the University of Arizona bureau of business and public research by the small business administration, an independent agency established by Congress to give aid to small business. Cooperating in the project are the leading motel publications and associations throughout the nation.

Counties Visited
Indiana—Adams, Allen, DeKalb, Huntington, Kosciusko, LaGrange, Nobles, Steuben, Wells and Whitley;

Kentucky—Anderson, Bourbon, Clark, Fayette, Franklin, Harrison, Metairie, Montgomery, Mercer, Nicholas, Owen, Powell, Scott, Wolfe, and Woodford;

Ohio—Defiance, Franklin, Paulding, and Van Wert;

Pennsylvania—Erie, Lachawanna, Pike, Susquehanna, and Wayne.

Purpose Explained
Purpose of the study is to determine, measure and evaluate those factors responsible for the entry, profitable operation, and survival or failure in the highly competitive travel market. Particular attention will be given the methods used by smaller motels in meeting competition by larger motel organizations.

All aspects of motel operation will be examined, including location, impact of freeways, occupancy rates, auxiliary services, advertising, personnel policies, financing, accounting techniques, architectural layout, and the background of motel operators. Motel guests will be invited to tell their reasons for stopping at particular motels.

Results of the study are expected to help motel operators determine what combination of factors point to successful motel operations in their region and throughout the nation. The survey will also be of special interest to banks, realtors, and others concerned with the motel industry.

This is the first time the small business administration has selected a state agency to conduct a nationwide study. The UA bureau of business and public research is uniquely qualified for the project, having achieved a national reputation for its studies of tourism during recent years. It will publish results of the survey in 1961.

Indiana Farmer Is Killed By Tractor

Sect Starts Fourth Week In Shelters

BENSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Members of a small religious sect who believe the U.S. will be struck by a nuclear attack started their fourth week today hidden in bomb shelters.

Some 120 members of the Full Gospel Assembly burrowed into underground shelters July 4 and braced themselves to survive lethal radiation they believe will be released in the feared attack.

Man Wounded Fatally In Theft Argument

CONNERSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Arthur Lambert, 47, Connorsville, was shot and wounded fatally Saturday night during what police said was an argument with a neighbor over the theft of a pistol. Authorities held Henry Henderson, a neighbor of Lambert's, for investigation.

Officers said Lambert and Henderson challenged each other and Henderson ran to his back door, grabbed a shotgun and fired at Lambert from about 20 feet. The blast struck Lambert in the chest.
