Tigers Wallop
Yanks, Indians
Beat SenatorsBy MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

It never fails — fire the manager and suddenly the ball club gets at fired up, too.

Only trouble is that the flame generally dies out after a day or two, but at least the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians were happy to discover the spark was still there Wednesday night.

With their dismissed manager, Jimmy Dykes, watching from the stands and wondering why on earth they couldn't do the same thing for him, the suddenly-aroused Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak by crushing the first-place Yankees, 12-2.

It was pretty much the same story with the Indians.

First they all shook hands with ex-manager Joe Gordon and wished him luck in his new job with Detroit, then they went out and walloped Washington, 7-4, behind the six-hit pitching of Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Talking To Himself

The Tigers really had Dykes talking to himself. Before he got the axe with Detroit Wednesday — and swapped jobs with Gordon at Cleveland — the Tigers had scored a total of only six runs for him in their last three games. But with Coach Billy Hitchcock in charge Wednesday night, they made it all up to Dykes by pounding four Yankee pitchers for 13 hits.

Norm Cash drove in three runs with a homer and a single to pace the Tiger assault and Hank Aguirre, who pitched a perfect game for 5 1/3 innings but departed after his arm stiffened in the sixth, was credited with the win.

Grant took Washington as easily as he usually does. He had won 14 in a row from the Senators before they finally beat him for the first time on July 17. Ken Aspromonte drove in three runs with a homer and a double for the Indians, who scored three unearned runs on Billy Consolo's two errors in the seventh.

Orioles Beat Chicago

The Orioles ran their winning streak to five games with an 11-inning 6-0 decision over the White Sox and climbed to within two games of the league-leading Yankees, while a scheduled twin-bill between the Red Sox and A's was rained out.

In the National League, the spurring Cardinals won their sixth in a row and moved to within a half game of second place by beating the Braves, 13-8; the Dodgers downed the first-place Pirates, 3-1, in a game limited to seven innings by rain; the Phillies made it three straight over the Giants, 6-5, and the Cubs scored a 4-2 nightcap victory after the Reds won the opener, 7-3.

Gene Woodling's 11th inning triple, scoring Billy Klaus, gave the Orioles their victory over the White Sox after Baltimore tied the score with two runs in the ninth off Gerry Staley. Ted Klus-

Yellow Jackets

Receive Football
Togs Next Week

Bob Worthman, head football coach of the Decatur high school, today announced plans for issuing equipment to candidates for the Yellow Jacket squad for the 1960 season.

All lettermen are to report at Worthman field at 10 a. m. Monday to receive their equipment. All other juniors and seniors are to report at 1:30 p. m. Monday, and freshmen and sophomores will receive equipment at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

The initial practice session will be held Monday, Aug. 15, and two-day drills are planned until probably the opening of school after Labor Day.

zewski, Sherm Lollar and Gene Freese each hit homers. Rookie West Stock gained his second victory in four days.

Boyer Paces Cards

Ken Boyer was the big gun for the Cards in their triumph over the Braves. He led an 18-hit assault with three hits, including his 23rd homer, to offset homers by Ed Matthews, Del Crandall and Joe Adcock. Stan Musial also homered for the Cards. Bob Grim was the winner and Joey Jay the loser.

Southpaw Johnny Podres gained his ninth victory for the Dodgers with a five-hitter over the Pirates, who still lead the NL by three games despite the defeat. Wally Moon's two-run homer in the third was enough to send Bob Friend down to his eighth defeat against 11 victories.

Farrell Wins Again

Johnny Callison's pinch homer with one on in the ninth off Billy Loes gave the Phils their victory over the Giants who had gone ahead, 5-4, with a five-run rally in the eighth. Rookie Art Mahaffey had blanked the Giants until the eighth when he was routed. Dick Farrell then came in for his third straight successful relief effort against the Giants and earned his ninth win against two losses.

The Cubs won their nightcap with the Reds when Ernie Banks drove in two runs with his 20th homer and scored an insurance run after doubling in the eighth off loser Jay Hook. Dick Ellsworth was the winner with help from Don Elston.

Cincinnati broke a six-game losing streak in the opener with the aid of home runs by rookie Gordon Coleman and Vada Pinson. Southpaw Jim O'Toole won his ninth game and Glenn Hobbie absorbed his 14th loss. He has won 10.

Creation Of Major League
Teams Tough

NEW YORK (UPI) — It could be 10 years before newly-created teams under baseball's expansion plan reach the major league quality of the old established clubs, according to Ralph Houk, highly-rated Yankee coach and possible successor to Casey Stengel.

The estimate was based on the assumption that the teams would be manned by using the major leagues' "disaster plan," or a plan like it. That plan calls for each big league team to make 10 players available to a pool with any three open to what would amount to an unrestricted draft at prices ranging from $50,000 to $100,000.

Tremendous Building Job

"The job to build from there would be tremendous," said Houk, who established himself at Denver as one of the best managers in the minor leagues. "The clubs would have to set up good scouting systems, would have to spend a huge amount of money and would have to have a lot of luck."

Houk pointed out that the newly formed teams would all resemble triple A clubs inasmuch as they would have "basic weaknesses at virtually every position."

"The type player made available in the draft plan would be a guy with some basic weakness," he explained. "Say he is an outfielder. Well, a big league outfielder has to hit, field, throw and run. The outfielders made available would be deficient in one of these. Multiply those weaknesses by the number of players on the club and you have a team with plenty of holes."

Orioles Prove Exception

Houk conceded, however, that Paul Richards' success with the Baltimore Orioles provided a ray of hope for quicker success.

"Richards speeded up his club's development because he came up with extraordinary pitching," said Houk. "Then to top it off he came up with a Ron Hansen and a Brooks Robinson. One of the new clubs could make it faster with that kind of luck."

Limerlost Club
Plans Shoot Sunday

The Limerlost archery and conservation club will hold an all-day, high 28, animal round shoot Sunday at the club range two miles west of Decatur on U. S. 224 and one-fourth mile south on the first road east of the Erie railroad crossing.

Trophies will be presented in the instinctive and free style classes. Lunch will be served at noon.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Dykes was more amused than amazed when he was "fired" by the Detroit Tigers and stepped right in as manager of the Cleveland Indians.

"Don't kid yourself about this being a trade," Dykes said affably over the ever-present cigar. "This was a case of two managers being fired and both getting picked right up."

All it means, as he "swaps" jobs with Joe Gordon, is that he takes on Gordon's pitching worries while Gordon takes on his hitting woes.

"Actually," grinned Dykes as he tackled a huge plate of ham and eggs, "It was one of my best days. I moved from sixth to fourth place."

He had, he said, long expected managerial assassination at Detroit.

Part of Racket

"It's part of the racket," he asserted. "You have to expect it sooner or later. And, you know, for reasons which I'll keep personal, my first inclination was to say 'no' to the Cleveland offer. Not because of Frank Lane, either."

Lane is the loquacious general manager of the Indians who pops off at the first sign or a resting ear and long has second-guessed Gordon.

"Sure, he's a talker," Dykes said, "and don't think I'm knocking him. But he can be as outspoken as he wants. It'll roll off me like water off a duck's back."

Why then did he go to Cleveland?

"Simple," said Dykes, "and I don't mean me. It's just that this game gets in your blood and you can't do anything about it. Me, I've just been around too long to shake it."

He tried. Because when he managed Baltimore in 1954 the inept antics of his gladiators drove him to the verge of lunacy and he swore to himself he'd never manage again.

Couldn't Score Runs

"It was the same there as it had been with Detroit," he explained. "We couldn't get any runs."

"There was one night we got the bases loaded with nobody out and I looked over at Muddy Ruel, who was coaching for me, and I bet him a dime we wouldn't score a run. He told me I was crazy. So what happens? The next man pops up, the next man strikes out and bango it's all over without a run. And after the game I stuck out my hand and made Ruel pay off the dime. Boy, was I crazy."

The 33-year-old Dykes swore, after that season, "that I'd never manage again."

"Gabe Paul got me back at Cincinnati," he recalled. "When Birdie Tebbetts left, he asked me to take over. I asked him for how long and he said only for three days." That was okay but the next thing he says is he's letting me take the club the rest of the season. We run pretty good so there I am with the bug again."

Too Old Fashioned

Dykes took over from Bill Norman at Detroit in May of 1959 and now moves on to Cleveland for the balance of this season. That well could be it, too.

For there are those who contend he is too old fashioned as a pilot, the inference being that he is too prone to manage by the book and lacks fire and dash. And these are ingredients which the fiery Lane demands.

Thus it may be a short wedding but for Dykes it should be a placid one no matter what happens. After 43 years in organized baseball, the inimitable Dykes long ago learned to roll with the punches.

Near Half Million Grant To Indiana U.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana University said today that the U. S. Public Health Service has provided a $471,492 grant to help finance expansion of health research facilities.

The federal government is to provide $344,886 to supplement a state appropriation of $2.2 million for 1959-61 construction of an eight-story addition to the chemistry building.

A second federal grant of $126,606 is to be used to remodel Myers Hall, which houses the anatomy and physiology department.

Begin Qualifying
Rounds Saturday
In Men's Tourney

Luke Majorki, pro-manager of the Decatur Golf course, today announced plans for the men's 1960 medal tourney, with qualifying to start Saturday.

Changes in tourney regulations have been made this year.

Previously, a 72-hole tourney was held, with the first 36 holes used as the qualifying round and also counting on the total score. This year, however, all entries will play their 36-hole qualifying rounds prior to the start of the tourney. This year, the tourney will be for 54 holes and the qualifying scores will not count. Purpose of the 36-hole qualifying rounds is to determine in which flight each golfer will play.

Entrants may start their qualifications Saturday, and have until Aug. 25 to qualify, but none will be accepted after the Aug. 25 date.

Tourney Aug. 28

The regular 54-hole medal tourney will begin Sunday, Aug. 28, with 18 holes to be played. The final 36 holes will be played Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10 and 11. The number of flights will depend on the number of entries. It is hoped to have a large turnout since this tourney enables every caliber of golfer to win trophies and merchandise.

Listed below are the rules which will govern all qualifying rounds:

- 1-Register, entry fee $2.
 - 2-Each player must declare himself prior to each qualifying round.
 - 3-Each player must have a stamped score card.
 - 4-No score will be accepted if not on official score card.
 - 5-All cards must be turned in as soon as round is completed.
 - 6-As each player declares himself, he will have to start either nine or 18 holes.
 - 7-Entries may qualify nine holes at a time, with league rounds being acceptable provided they are on official score card.
 - 8-Each player must be playing in at least a threesome, but not necessarily with tourney entries.
- Rules for playing the qualifying rounds will be posted on the bulletin board at the pro shop. Qualifying cards will be available in the pro shop beginning Saturday.

State Distribution
To Cities, Towns

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Checks totaling more than $15 million were sent out to Indiana counties and cities and towns today as their share of fuel and liquor taxes collected during the quarter ending June 30.

Alcoholic gallage collections for the quarter totaled $1,836,485.

Half of that total, or $918,242, was distributed to cities and towns by the State Auditor's office and half reverted back to the state. Distribution during the previous quarter totaled $776,617 and during the same quarter last year, $917,924.

Motor vehicle fees and fuel taxes totaled $32,424,659 for the quarter. Expenses, including more than $2 million for the Indiana State Police, cut the total net to $30,224,599. During the same quarter last year the figures were $30,690,989 and $28,532,942, respectively.

Of the total available for distribution, $16,019,038 went to the State Highway Department; $9,671,872 to counties and $4,533,690 to cities and towns. The money is allocated to the three governmental units on a formula set up by the Legislature.

Motor vehicle and alcoholic tax distribution to cities and towns, with the motor vehicle figure first, included:

Decatur $11,684 — $2,366; Bluffton $9,763 — $1,977; Auburn $9,447 — $1,193; Columbia City $7,625 — $1,544; Fort Wayne $232,807 — $47,770.
