Polio in Decatur

The other day while waiting in a doctor's office a young lady came in for treatment. The previous week her son had been sick with what appeared to be flu and an inflamed throat, but the doctor had told her that it could possibly be polio, or infantile paralysis.

And now the young lady had come in. She, too, had been sick. She was not an infant, she was around 30 years of age. She had the same symptoms at first. And then she started to lose the use of one of her arms.

Of course she was immediately rushed to a specialist at a large nearby hospital. Of course she will get the best care that can be given.

But here is a young lady, who should be at home with her husband and children, caring for them, feeding them, getting them ready for work or school. Instead, she will be in the hospital. It may be days — or weeks — or months — or years — or never — before she regains full use of her limbs.

Yet all of this could be easily prevented. Vaccine of several types is available, at a very reasonable cost, from every doctor in town.

But if you wait too late, until you are exposed, the actual drug cost for prevention is extremely high, almost prohibitive.

Have you put off getting your four polio shots, or booster shots? If you have, or if you have hesitated getting shots for yourself or your family, talk it over with your family physician. Let him advise as to when the best time is to take the shots.

Polio vaccination is more desirable today than immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, or any other disease. Why? Because changes are greater that you will get it. Like smallpox, sometimes polio hurts you, and sometimes it is a minor disease. But you cannot take chances with your own, or your family's health.

An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure, in the case of polio. And doctors can tell which vaccine is now safe.

Monroe Days Starts Tonight

The town of Monroe will be "all lit up" tonight, not in the traditional sense of the word, but because of the four-day fair that will start. The money raised in this worthy fair will be given to the three sponsoring agencies. The two fire departments will use theirs for a new truck and equipment. The Lions club sponsors several charities. So attending the fair will definitely help a worthy cause.
