

Speakman Planning To Return To Congo

Letter From Bishop

Aug. 12, 1960
Wembo, Nyamba

Dear folks,
I am in the midst of a survey trip of our Central Congo stations. Our medical secretary from New York, Dr. Harold Brewster, and I are accompanied by two of our doctors, two engineers and a ministerial missionary. This is our third stop in 3 days. We have been at Lodja and Katoko Kombe already.

Everywhere it has been the same, a great joy on the part of the people to have us come, a general meeting at the church with all the people of which I explained what has happened here in this country of ours. Folks have been very confused. Nothing of violence has happened here. They do not know what has taken place elsewhere. They can see no reason why the missionaries have left. The next, a question and answer and planning period with the leaders at each place. We make arrangements to have the district superintendent go on so as to have a cabinet meeting when we all get together. We also gather up the delegates to the Central conference to take them on with us all the way to Salisbury. We even pick up a scholarship student or two.

We all say how definitely we do want to work together here for the future of the church. As one pastor just said to me, "You cannot have rice to eat unless you have both rice and water for the cooking." And so he said, "missionaries and Africans are both needed to have the church. We want to eat rice," he concluded.

August 18
Salisbury
As I was writing the above we received word over our radio hook-up that the only way that we could be certain to get back to Salisbury in time for the Central conference was to go back on a chartered plane that had brought up a group of Presbyterian missionaries men for their conference. They had had their survey team earlier. We had to get back to Lodja before Sunday morning when the plane arrived for us. We had to split our team into four parts to complete our work and then put in a day. Saturday, that was some day, from 4 a.m. until midnight. And miles and miles of driving and hours of consultation, but we did all get to Lodja and we had visitations in Minga and Tunda as well and in about eight hours we were in Salisbury with everyone of the delegates for the Central Conference.

At our cabinet meeting, I appointed pastor Njanjolo Moise as administrative assistant and charged him to make necessary representations and decisions for me. Two of the district superintendents are Central conference delegates, but pastor Njanjolo was not, so he carries on there while we are here. We promised him and also the others at each of the stations that I would come back with the delegates to the Central conference and that we would bring missionaries with us to stay with them at the various stations.

Since arriving here our team has given a traveling report to all of the missionaries — three groups of them. We had them come together in those three centers and we have made 460 miles in a rented car all in less than forty hours and about fifteen of those were in consultations and conferences.

These were the impressions we shared with the missionaries: An amazing sense of the stewardship on the part of our people so that absolutely all property was in perfect order. A continuing situation in which absolutely no incidents of violence or disturbance has taken near our stations and as a result the people were really in ignorance or doubting as to what has been happening to our country. Because of this ignorance and even doubting of what was told to them there was much confusion as to why the missionaries had left. Then real comprehension and acceptance as I explained events that had been related to me personally through contacts, hearing or talking with the people involved. A great and sincere desire to have the missionaries to work with them as soon as possible, and yet there was still a failure to realize what was involved and what might be called for from them as Christian leaders. The on-going work especially with a new sense of the importance and centrality of the church. Yet even there all too often there was an apparent attitude of "help us have our schools and medical work and the rest does not matter so much."

Then we spoke to our missionaries here after our return of the explosive points that are still existing in the present situation. Economically, the country is paralyzed. Luluabourg is a dying town. Transportation has been completely broken down, there is no assurance, for example, of being able to get a new stock of gasoline for the next six months. In all of the centers countless numbers are out of work, all kinds of promises have been made before and after Independence, that all would be better, and now the promises cannot be kept. And therefore, discontent, and worse is sure to follow.

Harry R. Speakman, who with his family had been a missionary in the Congo until advised to leave, now plans to return for three months, leaving his wife and children in Southern Rhodesia until he can be ascertained that they would be safe in the Congo.

A return by his Methodist bishop to his station indicated that all of Speakman's property was safe and unharmed during the forced absence. The following letters were received by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Speakman, of St. Mary's township, parents of the missionary, from their son, and from his bishop.

Dear folks,
On Sunday we received word that Bishop Booth and the group had returned to Salisbury. On Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. they came to Nyadiri for a meeting with the Congo missionaries in this section. They had a meeting with the ones at Salisbury on Monday morning. On Tuesday they went to Untali for another meeting. On Wednesday all of the missionaries went to Salisbury for a meeting.

Now back to the meeting with Bishop Booth on Monday afternoon. He gave the report of the conditions and what they saw. They visited all of the mission stations (Methodist) in central Congo except Lomela and Kindu. They had sent a number of telegrams and letters stating that they were coming. Some of them got through for the district superintendents and a group of Congolese were there to meet them at the airport at Lodja. At Burlingame established radio contact with Salisbury and talked with them each day at a set time. We were happy to know that all of the mission property was in order. Only one thing happened. One of the state persons broke in at Lomela in order to use the radio. There had been an understanding with them before the missionaries left to do that if necessary. Some Africans thought they would do it too but they were stopped by those in charge.

The group spent a day at each station. At each station they had a meeting with all of the people in which the bishop brought a message and then told them of the events. Then they had quite a period of discussion in which problems were discussed. Also at each station they had another meeting with the leaders to discuss the problems of their work. The work has been carried forward in a marvelous way under the leadership of our African district superintendents.

Bishop Booth secured the keys for our house off the Congolese pastor and he went into our house. He said everything was in order. They found the boys on duty that we had left to guard our house.

After the reports of the visit to Congo the bishop discussed the future of our work in Congo. We have been given the following to choose from: (1) Families stay together and return to America until things are settled. (2) Families be assigned to another field of labor: (3) Fathers return to central Congo to our stations while mothers and children remain in Rhodesia to see if it would be possible for them to join their husbands within three months; (4) Fathers return to central Congo to our stations and mothers and children go back to America for at least nine months. We have chosen the third possibility as have several other families with the understanding that after three months if the wives and children can't join the husbands, the husbands will come out to visit their families. After three months we shall reconsider what we would like to do if it is impossible for the wives and children to return to the Congo.

On Wednesday we had an all day meeting in Salisbury in which we discussed the problems, gave our decisions, and discussed plans to carry on the work in Congo. Only the men are allowed to return at this time. It will be difficult leaving the wives and children behind but the work of the Lord must go on. We will endeavor to quickly train our Africans to take all possible additional places of leadership. There will be sixteen or eighteen men who will go in at the end of this month or the first of September. Please remember to pray for us daily.

Instead of writing one letter a week to us we would like for you to write two. Send one to Escherjean and the children at our present address (Myadiri Mission P.B. 636E Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia) and send one to me at our Congo address (M. M. C. C. Tunda par Kibombo Congo). I don't know if I'll be able to receive any mail in the Congo, but I would like for you to try. I just read this to my wife and she thought she would get two letters a week. She thought I was telling you to write to her twice a week. Tell those sisters and brothers of ours to write.

We received a letter today from the folks at Hollow Rock and surely did enjoy it. Delegates are arriving today for the Central Conference of the Methodist church. They are from all of the different conferences that we have work in Africa (Liberia, Congo, Angola, Rhodesia). The conference will last a week. Bishop Raines from Indiana will be one of the main speakers.

I certainly appreciate all of the birthday wishes. We trust all is well with you. May God richly bless you as you look into Him for help and strength.

Then politically there are very definitely possibilities of friction and even open conflict. First, on the local level, as the new officers are blamed or else become victims of jealousy of those who would like to be in their well paid positions; on the provincial level as threats of tribal splits grow and arrests of tribal leaders cause resentment on the part of the people; on the country wide level, as inter-provincial strife develops, as expressions of anti-white sentiments are broadcast; and even on the international level as Congo becomes a football of ideological differences. No one would presume these days to speak of what tomorrow might bring.

And then after these traveling reports, yesterday we all got together and spent the whole day with all of the missionaries trying to make decisions for the future. These are some of the decisions that have been made:

(1) That immediately after the Central conference we will charter a plane to take some seventeen of the men back to their stations. The Central Conference delegates will also go back with us at the same time. These men will have a period of work and study and counseling and then make arrangements for the annual conference to be called, perhaps the end of September or the first of October. Then after that there will be a re-appraisal made as to whether or not families and single women may return to the work or what should be the program.

(2) That the main emphasis shall be that which has been primary right along with us, but needs a renewed emphasis—that is the training for leadership by our African folks. Since we have been working a year behind on government educational subsidies receiving money after the year was over we do have enough balances to put together with the regular receipts and gifts from home so that we expect to be able to open all of the schools, except the one in home economics at Lodja. And we expect to be able to meet the budget as approved by the field committee last March. It is pointed out, however, that all of this should be through African treasurers and directors. We believe very definitely that we must proceed with a complete Africanization of the administrative responsibilities for the work.

(3) Some of the families and single workers are to be assigned temporary tasks in Rhodesia. Five of the mothers with their children are returning to the States so that the children can have a regular full year of schooling. The rest of the families are staying here in Rhodesia hoping that in October the decision may be that they can re-enter Congo. Plans are being made for the education of their children. Some of the single workers are undertaking literary projects, another is getting needed laboratory technology training.

And now we go to the sessions of the Central conference with all that may be done there as to African leadership for the church in the years ahead. Following the conference, I shall go with the men as they return to the Congo and we make our arrangements for the annual conference there.

Sincerely yours,
Newell S. Booth

Cuban Leader Hurls Abuse At Secy. Herter

HAVANA (UPI)—Foreign Minister Raul Roa hauled insults and abuse Thursday night at Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other "traitors" who criticized Cuba and communism at last week's San Jose conference. Roa's ugly-worded harangue came in a short-sleeved appearance on a TV panel show. It was the latest event in a week of daily denunciations of the San Jose declaration, to be climaxed tonight by a mass meeting addressed by Premier Fidel Castro.

Castro called on all Cubans to rally in Havana as a manifestation of national solidarity and opposition to the anti-Communist declaration endorsed by 19 of the hemisphere's foreign ministers in Costa Rica.

Roa praised Russia's rocket-rattlers as the true defenders of the inter-American principles which he said were "injured, soiled and trampled underfoot" at the Costa Rican meeting. He was relatively mild in his attacks on the United States, calling the U.S. government a "satellite of American monopolies."

Roa had harsher names for Cuba's Latin American critics—namely Costa Rican ex-President Jose Figueres, to whom he applied an unprintable epithet, and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, whom he described as "a viscous concretion of all the human excretions in the field of politics."

He said U.S. newsmen covering the conference—specifically the correspondents of UPI, AP and Time-Life—represented "a bunch of bandits."

In a passing reference to the alleged plot to shoot down the plane bringing him home from the conference, Roa managed to implicate half a dozen of Castro's customary targets in the conspiracy.

CHARLES W. WESTERMAN, left, president of Young Democrats of Allen county, and Matthew E. Welsh, Democrat gubernatorial candidate, are shown discussing plans for the forthcoming testimonial dinner to be held in Fort Wayne.

Charles W. Westerman, president of the Allen County Young Democrats, has announced plans for a testimonial dinner honoring Alexander Campbell Saturday, September 10, at the Fort Wayne Armory.

Westerman, general chairman, said "the affair will be held to honor Campbell on his election as national committeeman from Indiana. Special tribute will be paid the new national committeeman for his outstanding work in organizational work in Allen county."

The affair will also serve as a "springboard" for the 1960 campaign. Campbell served as Allen county Democratic chairman 26 years ago. He has held the post as assistant attorney-general of the United States under president Truman. In 1960, again being the Allen county chairman, his slogan has been the "Courthouse in '58, City Hall in '59, State and White House in '60." Having won two victories, Allen county is now in the process of a giant polling and registration drive.

Elsewhere, Lake Charles, La., reported 1.19 inches of rain during six hours early today. More than one-half inch fell at Phillipsburg, Pa., Greensboro, N.C., and Macon, Ga. Winds were measured at 70 miles an hour at Youngstown, Ohio.

Temperatures were mainly in the 50s along the Pacific Coast and northern Great Lakes. Readings in the 60s and 70s prevailed over the rest of the country. Extremes early today in the 48 continental United States were 85 at Miles City, Mont., and 45 at Fraser, Colo.

no other production difficulties were expected.

Chrysler Corp. said the strike was hampering operations at its Twinsburg, Ohio stamping plant but alternate transportation for parts made at the plant were being arranged.

In Chicago a spokesman for the Railroad Retirement Board said it would rule within two weeks whether the 20,000 maintenance workers will get jobless pay. He said the average worker would draw about $45 a week for 25 weeks.

In addition to the 20,000 maintenance men on strike, the railroad furloughed 52,000 employees for the duration of the strike. A comparatively small force of 2,000 was kept on the payroll.

The employees furloughed as a result of the strike are eligible for unemployment compensation.

In the event of a long strike, layoffs are expected in other industries that lean heavily or are completely dependent upon the Pennsylvania for shipment of raw materials or finished products.

The Delmarva peninsula between the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, principally an agricultural community completely dependent upon the PRR, said it would not "begin hurting" for at least two weeks.
