Says Reds Ready To Send Man In Space

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of America's manned space flight program says Russia is ready to send a man into orbit around the earth and may pick U.S. Election Day for the shot.

George M. Low, an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, made the prediction Friday to editors and publishers attending United Press International's Washington conference.

He said the United States did not plan to put a man into orbit until sometime next year. But, he added, even if Russia got its man up first, the U.S. program must be continued if this country is to win space leadership in the future.

"I am firmly convinced that the Soviets now have the capability of achieving manned space flight," Low said. "I believe they are awaiting only an appropriate time to send their man, or men, into space."

He said "you can speculate" that the Soviet Union might attempt the feat to coincide with the forthcoming United Nations meeting; the third anniversary of Sputnik I on Oct. 4; the American Election Day on Nov. 8, or the anniversary of the Russian Revolution in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of route 3, Decatur won four horse pulling contests at a fair in Rufford, N.Y., during the past week. They won the only four contests they entered.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, with their horses weighing a combined total of 3,200 pounds, are planning to enter competition at the New York state fair next week.

Denver Broncos Win Pro League Opener

BOSTON (UPI) — You don't have to feel sorry for the Denver Broncos anymore. The poor Broncos, who dropped all five of their exhibition games, are leading the infant American Football League today.

The Broncos kicked off the AFL's first season here Friday night by shocking the heavily-favored Boston Patriots, 13-10. And though Denver Coach Frankie Filchook was quick to laud the stars of the game — quarterback Frank Tripucka, and halfbacks Al Carmichael and Gene Mingo — he credited his line with being the key to the upset.

"You can't take anything away from these three; they were great," he said. "But don't overlook our defense. That was the key."

The Broncos were outscored, 200 to 54 while losing all their pre-season games. Included in the defeats was a 43-6 trampling by the Patriots last month.

Coach Lou Saban of Boston offered no excuses. "It was a shocker I might have been expecting all along," he said. "We knocked them off so easily before, but they've since picked up a lot of experienced players from the Canadian League and their technique was vastly improved."

The rest of the league also debuts this week. Dallas plays at Los Angeles tonight, while Houston is at Oakland and Buffalo is at New York Sunday.

Flower Floater
You can float a bouquet of small flowers in a bowl by using a disk cut from the heavily waxed cardboard of a milk carton. The flowers are supported by inserting the individual stems in holes punched into the disk. Because it is so thoroughly saturated with wax, the disk will float almost indefinitely.

Tough Soap Bubbles
You can provide some good, tough soap bubbles for your children by dissolving an ounce of fine-fabric soap flakes in eight ounces of water, adding four ounces of glycerin, and mixing this thoroughly.
