This Is It

Every two or three months, the cold war gets a little warmer, and talk of a possible war becomes more prevalent. While nobody wants a war or even wants to talk about it, we may as well face the facts. We are now in the deadliest war America has ever waged. It is also one that Americans do not know how to handle, because there is nothing to fight against—but everything to fight for.

To Americans, a war means shooting, fighting, winning, and going home to forget. To Communists, war means a continuous attack, by any means possible, to destroy the economic system whereby we all enjoy the things we have. This war is an economic war—and it's about time we realized it.

Our system is being threatened daily. Every week, new riots, new underminings are inspired by the communists, while America sits back and quotes Joe Palooka—tch, tch.

The free world steadily shrinks around us in an ever tightening collar that threatens to choke us to death with nary a shot being fired. The communists do not just point to themselves and say they are right, and expect everyone to believe it. They have a planned program to forward the things in which they believe. They don't wait for a situation to arise, and then do the best they can about compensating for it.

If we believe in the system under which we live, why don't we have a definite, planned, long-range program to further that system? We are told, as the neutral nations of the world steadily creep into the communist camp, that we do have such a program. If we do have it, it is not working.

There was no planning for Latin America. Four times, Cuba tried to negotiate a loan from the United States. Four times they were turned down. Why, then the puzzlement over their turn to Russia?

If there was a plan, why the desperate, last-minute appropriation for more money for Latin America? Because the latest meeting of the Organization of American States seems to have shown that a plan has been long needed and long neglected.

And what of Africa, the middle east, and the far east? The plan there, as elsewhere, has been last-minute hop-skitching by officials to tell other countries we are still their friends after many of them have decided that they don't care whether we are or not.

Perhaps it is time to give some consideration to the new frontiers that certainly exist.

Castro Accepts
Nikita Bid To
United Nations

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fidel Castro today accepted Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's invitation to the United Nations, virtually completing the Eastern roster for an anti-American "rump summit" at next week's U.N. General Assembly session.

For Khrushchev it was another step forward in his campaign to embarrass the United States by assembling its most hated enemies in the heart of New York City.

For the United States it was another major security headache in a city populated by hundreds of anti-Castro and anti-Communist refugees.

The Cuban government announced in Havana that Premier Castro would head the Cuban delegation to the General Assembly session opening next Tuesday. He will be accompanied by Foreign Minister Dr. Raul Roa, a chief spokesman in Castro's "hate America" campaign.

Khrushchev, heading across the North Atlantic today, already had gained acceptance from major neutralist nations as well as his pocket premiers behind the Iron Curtain.

His obvious intention was to convert the world forum into an anti-American platform. The administration was busily charting its plans to counter the unwanted summit.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter both were expected to address the General Assembly.

Kennedy's Brother
Speaks In Indiana

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind. (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy's brother made a speedy tour through two Southern Indiana congressional districts Monday seeking support for the Democratic presidential nominee.

Former Senate rackets committee investigator Robert F. Kennedy began the tour in the 8th District at Mount Vernon, stopped at Evansville, Boonville, Rockport, Jasper, English and Jeffersonville in a swing eastward.

In the evening he spoke at Madison and Lawrenceburg in the 9th District.

Kennedy touched on the religious issue in some of his talks. "Surely the American people have progressed beyond the days of Al Smith and the 1928 presidential campaign," he said. "My brother has told us repeatedly and I repeat for him his absolute devotion to the American principle of the separation of church and state."

Kennedy said the religious issue was raised in the primary campaign in West Virginia.

But by primary day it had given way to a sane appreciation of the real issues, and Jack won by an overwhelming majority. We expect the same development in the national campaign," Kennedy said.

Kennedy went to Ohio after his Indiana appearances.

Girl Along Highway
Is Killed By Auto

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies rushing along U. S. 20 to investigate a report that a girl in pajamas was standing along the highway in the early morning half-light got to the scene a minute too late.

When they reached the place where a motorist reported seeing the girl, they found Patricia Thomson, 19, South Bend, lying dead, struck by a car driven by Maxwell B. Masten, R. R. 2, Elkhart.

Masten told the deputies he was en route to work in Mishawaka when he saw the girl in the middle of the road. He said he braked and swerved but the girl ran the same way the car swerved.

The accident happened near Miss Thomson's home.

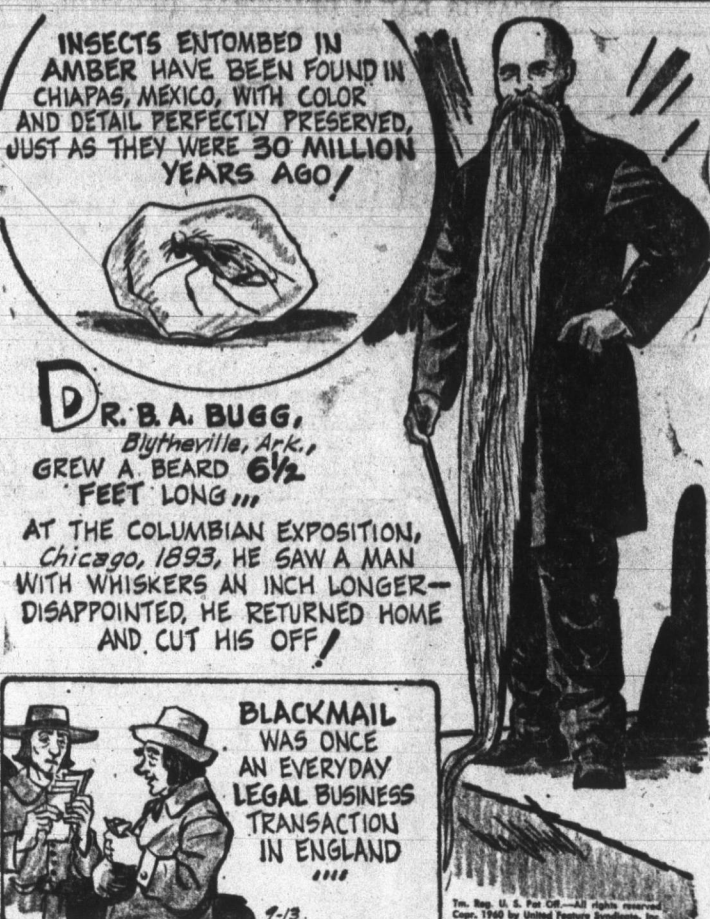

It was St. Joseph County's 37th traffic fatality of 1960, compared with 20 a year ago.

Ike Leads Tribute
To John Pershing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A solemn-faced President Eisenhower today placed a wreath on a simple white headstone marking the grave of General of the Armies John J. Pershing on the 100th anniversary of the birth of the famous "Blackjack."

Eisenhower, who led American forces in Europe during World War II as Pershing did in World War I, bowed his head in prayer in memory of the immortal soldier.

The brief and simple ceremonies were part of a "Centennial for a Soldier" which also included a huge parade of troops, veterans and patriotic groups along Constitution Avenue.

In Laclede, Mo., the boyhood home of the only American ever to hold the rank of general of the armies was dedicated as a national shrine.

At the grave in Arlington Cemetery, the President was accompanied by F. Warren Pershing, the general's son and only family survivor of a 1915 San Francisco fire in which the general's wife and three daughters perished.

A bugler sounded taps while America's military chiefs and representatives of each of the armed services paid homage to "Blackjack."

Pershing's headstone gleamed white under a bright September sun. It is on a grassy slope that commands a view of the nation's capital across the Potomac River. Several of Pershing's wartime comrades attended the observance.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, 80, issued a statement eulogizing Pershing as a general who inspired "a foreign recognition of our military might which has properly placed us fully equal to the best of the human race."

Pershing died in 1948 at the age of 87 after a life that spanned more than half the history of the United States and included what must be unique—66 years on the Army's active list.

Kennedy And Nixon
Campaign In West

By United Press International
The jet-age presidential campaigners zipped through the West today appealing for votes with two quite different pitches.

Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, assured predominantly Protestant Texas that he never would submit to pressure from the Vatican. He was hopeful but not confident that he had stilled the religious issue.

Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon moved into the Pacific Northwest asking voters to endorse his "peace without surrender" theme and the "national maturity" of the Eisenhower administration.

Kennedy told the Greater Houston, Tex., Ministerial Association Monday night that he would resign the presidency before he would violate his conscience or the national interest on any issue, including birth control, divorce, gambling and other matters on which the Catholic Church holds strong views.

Under sometimes critical questioning, the Democratic nominee said he would tell his church it was acting improperly if it ever tried to exert pressure he considered wrong.

The session was televised across Texas where the pulpit opposition of some Protestant minister has made Kennedy fearful of losing the state's 24 electoral votes. But the candidate forecast, "I know Texas is going Democratic."

In Washington, Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson called on Nixon to repudiate by name "Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and his Protestant associates who oppose Kennedy on religious grounds. Jackson said Nixon had "no honorable alternative."

Peale was spokesman for about 150 Protestant clergymen and laymen who declared last week that a Roman Catholic president would be under heavy pressure to align U.S. policies with those of the Vatican.

Nixon's holds reported the vice president's 15 hours of cross-country campaigning Monday—first day of a 15-state tour caused no pain or damage to the candidate's recently infected left knee.

The GOP nominee took off from Friendship Airport near Baltimore with the good wishes of President Eisenhower. Nixon promised to conduct a high level campaign and to build on the record of the Eisenhower administration. He made stops at Indianapolis and Houston before halting for the night in San Francisco.

In San Francisco, Nixon dedicated the 15,000-ton, 230-bed goodwill hospital ship S.S. Hope. He said he hoped there soon would be "an entire American white fleet of mercy vessels."

The vice president's schedule today called for campaigning in Portland, Ore., Vancouver, Wash., and Boise, Idaho.

Kennedy arranged to hit Austin, Fort Worth, Dallas, Arlington and Grand Prairie, Tex., accompanied by his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan.

The GOP vice presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge, told

Ohio Republican Convention delegates in Columbus Monday night that Nixon was the best man for the White House because he had "rice experience... penetrating, resilient intelligence... deep devotion to American ideals."

Girl Is Acquitted
Of Slaying Mother

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A Marion County Criminal Court jury deliberated for about three hours Monday night and found an Indianapolis teen-ager not guilty of her mother's slaying, but the girl may face a second murder charge.

The jury of eight women and four men decided that Gloria Jean Burge, 16, was of unsound mind at the time of the slaying of her mother, Mrs. Nellie Burge McNabney, 42, last May 1.

The high school junior also had been indicted on first degree murder charges in connection with the death of her stepfather, Fred McNabney, 63. The McNabneys were found dead in their home with hammer and knife wounds.

The girl was arrested almost two days later when she was found driving aimlessly about in the family car.

However, Miss Burge still is subject to trial for her stepfather's death, and Marion County Prosecutor Phillip L. Bayt indicated he would press for this second trial.

DeDefense attorney Duge Butler, J.R. said however that he doubted that a second trial for the teen-ager would ever be held. He predicted that she would be free by the end of the week.

Gloria was returned to the women's section of the Marion County Jail after her acquittal, pending a decision on the remaining indictment.

Auburn Police Chief
Absolved Of Blame

AUBURN, Ind. (UPI)—An official verdict of justifiable homicide was returned Monday in the gun death of Jerry Karasek, 16, Coldwater Lake, Mich.

Karasek was shot Saturday by Auburn Police Chief Clifford H. West when the youth defied efforts to arrest him for investigation of a noisy party and repeatedly tried to run down the chief with a stolen car.

Dr. R. P. Reynolds, Dekalb County coroner, returned the verdict.

Karasek was one of six youths, three of them girls, whom officers arrested on complaint of a neighbor that a "wild party" was in progress in an Auburn home. The others surrendered without a fight, but Karasek fled shouting "You'll never take me alive," police said.
