Challenges For Youth

One hears from various sources how the youth of today are "lazy" or "soft" because they don't appear to like to work. They will do the menial household chores assigned down through the years to children, but have no ambition when it comes to other tasks, and other jobs.

It could be that they have no interests in getting a job because, in many cases, there is no challenge to the job. All they can work for is money.

To those people who struggled through the depression as either children or adults, that may sound like a foolish statement, but stop and think. What challenge is there to earning a dollar today?

Granted, in the 30s, a young person that went out and earned a dollar had achieved an accomplishment. Today, there is no challenge in earning money, for the sake of money itself. There has to be either more to the job than just plain money, or the money has to be earned for something other than just the everyday trifles.

It might not be the "good old days," but in many ways, it is better. The youth of today know more than the youth of thirty years ago. They not only know more, but they have a broader background in their teens than most 20-30 year-olds had in eras past. Due to television and travel opportunities, the young people of today are pretty sharp.

On almost every level of every facet of our life, there are jobs that the youth can perform, and do an outstanding job. In churches, business, and civic life, the youngsters will accept a challenge, if a definite challenge is there.

Politics, church work and 4-H are a few of the fields where leaders have recognized the abilities of young people. Let's take the kids "out of the 30s" along with everything else, and give them a chance and a challenge.

Dwight Gallivan Is Rural Youth Speaker

Dwight Gallivan, Bluffton attorney, spoke to the Adams county rural youth group in their monthly meeting Thursday evening. Gallivan visited with the members about the period he served as an employee of the federal bureau of investigation in Washington, D. C. Gallivan explained the background and structure of the F. B. I. organization and also related a few of his experiences as an F. B. I. agent.

The rural youth club met at the Farm Bureau building in Monroe. A citizenship quiz mixer was led by Gloria Koenenman, and Leslie Plouffe, president, conducted the business meeting. Group singing was led by Jane Gerber and Shirley Habegger gave the devotions.

A report of the stand at the Berne fall festival was given by Jerry Sprunger and Carolyn Moore.

The announcement of the hayride, wiener bake, and party honoring the bowling team to be held Saturday night was made by Carolyn Moore.

The "Know Your Candidates" meeting was explained by Gloria Koenenman. The meeting will be held at the Adams Central gym, Monroe, and is being jointly sponsored by Adams county rural youth and Farm Bureau. Four political candidates will explain their party's platform concerning agriculture and other county office candidates will also be attending. The rural youth club members will lead group singing, the pledge of allegiance and serve on the refreshment committee.

A community service project of sponsoring a group of young girls at state school was discussed. The rural youth club would be responsible for having a party one Saturday a month and four rural youth members will serve on the recreation committee and party planning for Saturday, Sept. 24.

A program planning survey was conducted by Carolyn Moore, next year's president. The survey will be used by the 1961 officers in planning the coming year's program of activities.

Jerry Gerber was in charge of conducting a car safety check, as the special safety feature of the month.

Recreation was led by Carolyn Moore, and Carol Fox and Derryle Pharr were in charge of refreshments.

Damaged Trunk

To repair a hole broken in a trunk panel, cut a sheet-steel patch large enough for rivets to go into the sound material around the break. Smooth the edges of this steel patch, or bend them slightly in, and put the patch on the outside of the trunk panel. House paint or thick spar varnish between the panel and the patch will add greater strength to the joint and make it water-resistant.

Window Sills

After washing the window sills go over them with a cloth dipped in furniture wax. This will protect the wood from the dirt that comes through the windows, and the soil can be readily washed off at any time.

Blistered Paint

Excess moisture in wood, which is drawn to the surface by heat, either from the sun's rays or other sources, causes paint to blister. Always be sure, before starting to paint, that the wood is thoroughly dry.

White Frosting

When making plain white frosting for a cake, add about two tablespoons of cornstarch and use less sugar. This saves sugar, and the frosting will remain thicker and softer. It is especially good for fruit cakes.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. My husband insists on smoking his cigars at the social functions we attend, despite the fact that all the other guests who smoke are using cigarettes. Isn't this improper of him?

A. Not at all. There is nothing in the world wrong with a cigar at any affair where other people are smoking.

Q. After going steady with a boy for a year, we broke up. Am I supposed to return a wristwatch he gave me for my birthday?

A. Since this was not an engagement gift, you are not required to return the watch.

Q. May a formally engraved invitation be properly acknowledged on the typewriter?

A. No; answer formal invitations by hand, always.

Q. How can I be sure of observing the proper rules in conducting a formal club meeting?

A. You can consult "Roberts' Rules of Order," which is the standard text on parliamentary procedure. Other sources are the incorporation laws of your state, the laws of the parent organization

(if your local group is chartered by it), and the constitution, by-laws, and standing rules of your own club.
