Our Town

Borrowing a title from someone else, we can apply it to Decatur, for Decatur is our town.

We who live here, earn our sustenance here, and will, in all probability, be buried here, are responsible for the good and the bad in our town.

The forward-looking policies that are developed in Decatur are the result of either direct citizen action, or indirectly through our elected representatives. It follows, that the failure of any programs are also our burden to shoulder.

In a like manner, the success of our Community Fund drive, which will be kicked off with a breakfast for the contactors tomorrow morning, is also our responsibility. If it goes over the top in good fashion and in short time, it is because the citizens of this community are interested, concerned and willing to deal with the problems of others.

There are always complaints about certain agencies within the Fund, and there always will be. But instead of worrying about what a certain agency did or didn't do for one person, the Community Fund should be looked at as to what it does for the overall community. In that light, there can be no denying a solicitor.

Many of us have never had too much need for any of the agencies within the Community Fund. It would be wonderful if there were no crippled children, no destitute families, no disasters for these agencies to care for. Yet we can hide neither our head, our heart, or our pocketbook in the sand and deny that they exist.

It would also be wonderful if we each had the time and the talent to become more personally involved in the ministering that these agencies do. Again, we do not have the time nor the particular abilities to help in many cases. Yet we do have the money.

And that is what it takes. This year, the Community Fund budget has been set at $23,424. That is a lot of money. But if it keeps one child warm, makes one warped and useless leg straight and strong, provides an educational tour for one county service man overseas, gives the opportunities to one boy or one girl to learn the wonderful morals and training of the Scouts, restores mental facilities to one person, or keeps one youngster occupied with something useful instead of letting them be led astray, who is to say what return we get for our money?

If it was your child, or my child, the answer is obvious. And it could well be.

Rural Youths To Visit Local Bank

The First State Bank of Decatur will be visited by the Adams county rural youth club at the regular monthly meeting Thursday night. The club members will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the bank recreation room and then will be taken on a conducted tour of the bank by Herman Krueckeberg, who will also explain more about the banking business.

Meeting responsibilities include group singing, Carol Fox; devotions, Doris Hockemeyer; recreation, recreation leaders, and refreshments, Dolores Rodenbeck. During the business session conducted by Leslie Plouffe, president, the group will decide upon a community service project at Fort Wayne State School, discuss the district meeting to be held in October and other important business matters. Arrangements will also be announced for the special activity for the month, which is to be a theater party to see Can Can, and a dinner party.

All members and rural young people are urged and invited to attend this meeting.

Ironing Over Sequins

To iron sequin-studded blouses, turn the blouse inside out with the sequin side on a heavy turkish towel. This will prevent the sequins from cutting the ironing-board cover and will also keep the tiny decorations from being broken. Embroidered materials, ironed by this method, will have a smooth finish with a raised design which is very effective.

New Trouble Looms For Middle East

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Fresh trouble is looming in the Middle East. The surprise reconciliation last week between King Hussein of Jordan and Premier Abdul Karim Kassem of Iraq when Jordan recognized the Baghdad revolutionary government caught United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser napping. The alignment between Jordan and Iraq spells potential danger for Syria. Iraq never has abandoned its ambitious plans for an alignment with Syria and has reiterated them several times since the overthrow of King Faisal. Nasser's first reaction to the Amman-Baghdad move was significant. He rushed back to Cairo from the United Nations in New York and immediately denounced Hussein in violent terms. Diplomats believe Nasser now will tighten his grip on Syria, and this could mean real trouble.

Japanese Princess

They say Japanese Crown Princess Michiko is "worn out" from her hectic tour of the United States with Crown Prince Akihito. Imperial palace officials in Tokyo have ordered a "complete rest" for the pretty young princess before she and Akihito leave in November for state visits to Iran, India, Nepal and Ethiopia. The schedule the young couple will follow in those countries will be much less hectic than the one followed on the American tour.

French Outbursts

Outbursts are expected after this month when 3,000 West German troops got into eastern France to train in areas allotted by the government. Victims of the Nazi regime are expected to join with the Communists in violent anti-German demonstrations. But the French police are likely to crush any demonstrations swiftly before any real trouble starts.

Communist Harassment

Western diplomats fear that the Communists may take new measures to harass West Berlin traffic if West Germany carries out its threat to halt trade shipments to East Germany. The trade shipments are scheduled to be halted Dec. 31.

Six Traffic Deaths Reported In State

By United Press International

Indiana traffic accidents killed at least six persons during the weekend, at a below-average rate of one every nine hours.

Despite generally favorable weather which produced a heavy spurt of autumn traffic, the toll was held somewhat below the estimates for a 54-hour Friday night to Sunday night period.

Russell Dwayne Easter, 3, son of the William Easters of Marion, died Sunday afternoon about two hours after he jumped from the back of a parked station wagon and fell into the path of a car driven by William D. Kidwell, 35, Marion.

The accident happened on a Marion street. The boy suffered head injuries and died in Marion General hospital.

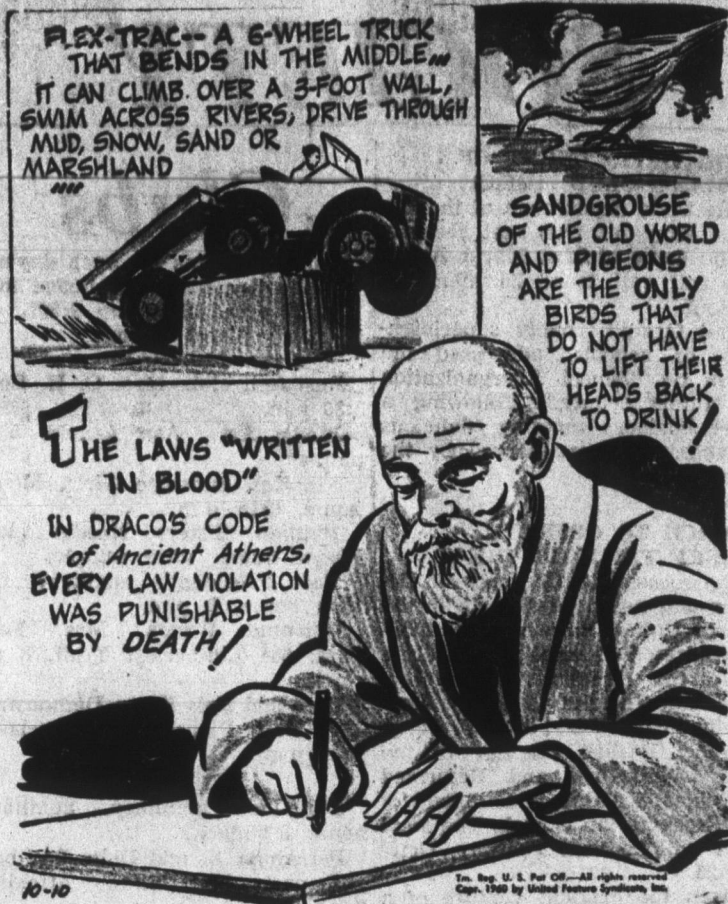

The latest death was that of Porter Muse, 31, Indianapolis, injured fatally when a Belt Line Railroad diesel engine hit his car at an Indianapolis crossing. Muse was dead on arrival at Marion county general hospital.

Other Sunday deaths: Robert W. Cole, 22, Colburn, was killed in a one-car accident a mile south of Americus in Tippecanoe county on Indiana 25. His car went out of control and skidded 380 feet before coming to a stop.

Paul W. Berge, 38, R. R. 2, Yorktown, was killed in a two-car crash on a Delaware county road. State police said the Berge car veered into the path of an auto driven by Donald M. Royal, 28, Daleville. Royal, his wife Mary, 26, and their three children, ranging in age from 3 to 8, were injured but not critically.

The Saturday deaths: Joseph Wickey Sr., 37, R. R. 1, Monroe, was killed when run over by a tractor and wagon driven by his son, Joseph Wickey, Jr., 14, at an Adams county intersection.

Thailand next January or February. He probably also will visit the Philippines, Burma and a number of other Asian nations afterwards.

tion. Wickey fell as the youth turned the tractor sharply. The wheels of the wagon—loaded with wood—passed over Wickey's chest and head.

Mrs. Alice Mae Lee, 17, Seymour housewife, was killed when a car driven by husband Harry, 20, ran off rain-swept U.S. 50 on a curve and smashed into a creek bed. Lee and two others in the car were injured. He was injured seriously.
